Carroll, 2007-11-12 Michael P Carroll argues that the academic study of religion in the United States continues to be shaped by a Protestant imagination that has warped our perception of the American religious experience and its written history and analysis In this provocative study Carroll explores a number of historiographical puzzles that emerge from the American Catholic story as it has been understood through the Protestant tradition Reexamining the experience of Catholicism among Irish immigrants Italian Americans Acadians and Cajuns and Hispanics Carroll debunks the myths that have informed much of this history Shedding new light on lived religion in America Carroll moves an entire academic field in new exciting directions and challenges his fellow scholars to open their minds and eyes to develop fresh interpretations of American religious history Spaces that Tell Stories Donna R. Braden, 2019-07-12 Historical environments delight visitors because of their ability to make them feel transported to another time and place These environments found in both museum exhibitions and historic structures are usually rich with objects that hint at deeper stories and context But these spaces often lack rigor in terms of historical and interpretive methodology along with a thoughtful and purposeful integration of storytelling principles Spaces That Tell Stories Creating Historical Environments offers a fresh look at historical environments providing a roadmap for applying this rigor and integrating these principles into the creation of such environments It begins by delving into the power of these environments for museum visitors drawing upon multiple cross disciplinary fields An in depth how to methodology follows which begins with the steps of framing the project by aligning it with institutional goals defining audiences involving visitor studies and inviting community engagement It continues through the steps of researching creating interpreting refining and evaluating the impact of the environment The author s methodology is applicable to environments in both historic structures and museum exhibits from different eras places and topics It is also scalable to museums varying sizes and budgets To give a sense of how the methodology laid out in this book translates into real world practice detailed case studies appear throughout along with practical tips checklists charts descriptive photographs and source lists An extensive bibliography follows Spaces That Tell Stories Creating Historical Environments is a unique contribution to the museum field It is a must read for museum professionals installing or upgrading historic environments while the methodology and case studies also offer practical strategies for other museum professionals working with collections exhibitions and interpretation and how these are integrated thoughtful insights into museum practice for students and a helpful toolkit for local historians Genealogical & Local History Books in Print Marian
