Frederick R. Gehlbach, 2009-06 The eastern screech owl widespread over the eastern half of North America and noticeably tolerant of human activity is one of America's most familiar birds. Residing naturally in wooded environs with tree cavities, this owl lives well in suburbia and can be found nesting in mailboxes, porches, columns, and purple martin houses. Based on a twenty-five year study, biologist Frederick R. Gehlbach tells the life story of the eastern screech owl, focusing on case studies of suburban and rural study plots in Central Texas. This is the first thorough study of major life history, behavioral, and ecological features of the species. Indeed, it is the first concurrent comparative study of an urban and a rural population of any New World animal. Told in a personal voice, the story of these birds will interest all who have not lost touch with their ancestral world. However, Gehlbach has also included quantitative data and analysis of interest to ecologists, wildlife biologists, and ornithologists. Photographs, including color shots of the gray and rufous phases, figures, and tables provide further detail. Gehlbach's investigations have been those of not only an academic ecologist but a suburbanite curious about his natural surroundings. The result is a model of research on species population dynamics and adaptation, yielding an emerging picture of what the eastern screech owl needs for successful coexistence with human neighbors. The Publishers Weekly, 2000

Experimental Removal of Barred Owls to Benefit Threatened Northern Spotted Owls, 2012 Canadian Book Review Annual, 1999 Murder at the Winter Games (#18) Roy MacGregor, 2004-03-16 The Screech Owls have come to Salt Lake City for the Peewee Winter Games with the championship game to be played on the same ice surface where the Canadian men and women won Olympic hockey gold. Nish has plans to run his own competition, the Gross Out Olympics, featuring everything from taping players to dressing room walls with duct tape to the Snot Shot, seeing how far they can fire a jellybean using only their noses. He also has a team contest to see who can figure out the Great Nish Secret and guess what the nuttiest Screech Owl of all has buried at centre ice for good luck. But that secret pales once the Owls find out something strange, something terrifying is going on in the tunnels deep beneath the magnificent hills surrounding the Olympic site.

Night Magic Leigh Ann Henion, 2024-09-24 From a New York Times bestselling nature writer comes a celebration of what goes on outside in the dark, from blooming moon gardens to nocturnal salamanders, from glowing foxfire and synchronous fireflies that blink in unison like an orchestra of light. In this glorious celebration of the night, New York Times bestselling nature writer Leigh Ann Henion invites us to leave our well-lit homes, step outside, and embrace the dark as a profoundly beautiful part of the world we inhabit. Because no matter where we live, we are surrounded by animals that rise with the moon and bloom that reveal themselves as light fades. Henion explores her home region of Appalachia, where she attends a synchronous firefly event in Tennessee, a bat outing in Alabama, and a moth festival in Ohio. In North Carolina, she finds forests alight with bioluminescent mushrooms, neighborhood trees full of screech owls, and valleys teeming with migratory salamanders. Along the way, Henion encounters naturalists, biologists, primitive skills experts, and others who've dedicated their lives to cultivating relationships with darkness. Every page of this lyrical book feels like an opportunity to ask, How did I not know about this before For example we learn that it can take hours not minutes for human eyes to reach full night vision capacity And that there are thousands of firefly species on earth many with flash patterns as unique as fingerprints In an age of increasing artificial light Night Magic focuses on the amazing biodiversity that still surrounds us after sunset We do not need to stargaze into the distant cosmos or dive into the depths of oceans to find awe in the dark There are dazzling wonders in our own backyards And readers of World of Wonders Entangled Life and The Hidden Life of Trees will discover joy in Night Magic
