Screen, Culture, Psyche John Izod, 2016-02-04 Screen Culture Psyche illuminates recent developments in Jungian modes of media analysis and illustrates how psychoanalytic theories have been adapted to allow for the interpretation of films and television programmes employing Post Jungian methods in the deep reading of a whole range of films Readings of this kind can demonstrate the way that some films bear the psychological projections not only of their makers but of their audience and

assess the manner in which films engage the writer's own psyche Seeking to go beyond existing theories John Izod explores the question of whether Jungian screen analysis can work for ordinary filmgoers can what functions for the scholar be said to be true for people without a background in Jung's ideas Through detailed readings of a number of films and programmes John Izod builds on the work previously done by Jungian film analysts and moves on to contemplate the level of audience engagement Offering deep readings of films directed by Kubrick and Bernardo Bertolucci as well as satirical comedy documentaries and twenty first century Westerns the book explores the extent to which they manage to make the psychological impact on spectators that films of a similar kind have done on Jungian writers The author concludes that the screen texts with the best likelihood of impacting the culture of the audience through their collective psychological force fall at opposite ends of the size and budget range highly personal documentaries and the most affecting of mainstream genre movies This innovative text will be essential reading for psychoanalysts and therapists as well as students and scholars of film with an interest in understanding how screen products work psychologically to engage the viewer The Reenactment in Contemporary Screen Culture Megan Carrigy, 2021-06-03 During the first decades of the 21st century a critical re assessment of the reenactment as a form of historical representation has taken place in the disciplines of history art history and performance studies Engagement with the reenactment in film and media studies has come almost entirely from the field of documentary studies and has focused almost exclusively on non fiction even though reenactments are being employed across fiction and non fiction film and television genres Working with an eclectic collection of case studies from Milk Monster Boys Don't Cry and The Battle of Orgreave to CSI and the video of police assaulting Rodney King this book examines the relationship between the status of theatricality in the reenactment and the ways in which its relationships to reference are performed Carrigy shows that while the practice of reenactment predates technically reproducible media and continues to exist in both live and mediated forms it has been thoroughly transformed through its incorporation within forms of technical media Exploring Screen Culture via Apple's Mobile Devices Charles Soukup, 2016-12-13 Exploring Screen Culture via Apple's Mobile Devices Life through the Looking Glass explores the role of mobile technologies in everyday life via the extended case study of Apple's mobile operating system iOS for the iPhone iPad and iPod Via a detailed application including numerous extended examples of the experiences associated with Apple's iOS devices Charles Soukup examines contemporary screen culture and how individuals navigate it via mobile technologies Mobile devices provide a lifeline that sifts through limits and simplifies the complexities of rapid vast circulating information in postmodern culture Particularly simple game like applications with clear rules and numerical outcomes exceptionally focus frame and filter an overwhelming media saturated culture Rather than merely outlining the problems associated with a world dominated by digital screens Exploring Screen Culture via Apple's Mobile Devices offers a means for understanding screen culture as well as viable solutions to the challenges facing contemporary social life Advertising and the Transformation of Screen Cultures Bo Florin, Patrick

Vonderau, Yvonne Zimmermann, 2025-10-01 Advertising has played a central role in shaping the history of modern media. While often identified with American consumerism and the rise of the Information Society, motion picture advertising has been part of European visual culture since the late nineteenth century. With the global spread of ad agencies, moving image advertisements became a privileged cultural form to make people experience the qualities and uses of branded commodities, to articulate visions of a good life and to incite social relationships. Abandoning a conventional delineation of fields by medium, country or period, this book suggests a lateral view. It charts the audiovisual history of advertising by focussing on objects, products and services, screens, exhibition, programming, physical media, practices, production, marketing and intermediaries, ad agencies. In this way, the book develops new historical, methodological and theoretical perspectives.

Transnational Screen Culture in Scandinavia Pei-Sze Chow, 2021-09-28 This book explores a range of lesser known documentaries and short films from the transnational resund region released in the period 2000-2009, focusing on how this Scandinavian region's urban and maritime spaces, iconic architecture and peripheral communities across Malmö and Copenhagen have been imagined and critiqued through film. This is the first book to widen the critical gaze beyond popular representations to examine a significant body of peripheral films produced in and about the metropolitan resund region. Emerging at a time of spatial transformation and geopolitical change, these films weave alternative narratives that confront the official rhetoric of transnational regionalism. Offering the concept of regioscape as a way to investigate the intimate relationship between artistic representation, screen policy, space and the region building project, this book presents new readings of films by contemporary Swedish and Danish filmmakers such as Fredrik Gertten, Kolbjørn Guwallius, Daniel Dencik and Max Kestner.

Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada Sigurjón Baldur Hafsteinsson, Marian Bredin, 2010 Indigenous media challenges the power of the state, erodes communication monopolies and illuminates government threats to Indigenous cultural, social, economic and political sovereignty. Its effectiveness in these areas, however, is hampered by government control of broadcast frequencies, licensing and legal limitations over content and ownership. Indigenous Screen Cultures in Canada explores key questions surrounding the power and suppression of Indigenous narrative and representation in contemporary Indigenous media. Focussing primarily on the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network, the authors also examine Indigenous language broadcasting in radio, television and film. Aboriginal journalism practices, audience creation within and beyond Indigenous communities, the roles of program scheduling and content acquisition policies in the decolonization process, the roles of digital video technologies and co-production agreements in Indigenous filmmaking and the emergence of Aboriginal cyber communities.
