Metropolitan Anxieties Mark Boyle,2017-03-02 In a lecture entitled Scotland's shame delivered at the Edinburgh Festival in August 1999 Scotland's leading musical composer James MacMillan sought in an explosive way to expose the continuing pervasiveness of anti Irish and anti Catholic sectarianism and bigotry in contemporary Scotland A decade of heated public debate has followed Drawing upon post colonial critiques of the provincial nature of metropolitan theory this book approaches the Scotland's shame debate as in many ways itself a classic metrocentric cultural struggle over the true and essential telos of a once colonised population It argues that the most interesting question the debate has provoked a question which thus far has failed to generate a worthy answer is is the Irish Catholic encounter with Scotland intelligible and if so what is the nature of this intelligibility The purpose of this book is to harness the complex and rich theory of colonialism which French philosopher political activist and novelist Jean Paul Sartre developed and struggled over to venture a qualified and partial interpretation of the Irish Catholic experience of Scotland Nevertheless in so doing the book takes seriously the charge of metrocentricism as it bears on the search for the meaning of the Irish Catholic adventure in Scotland and refuses to permit any simplistic interpretation of this adventure Presenting findings from a new oral history archive consisting of 67 interviews with members of the Irish Catholic community in Scotland attention is given to the themes of national identity estrangement and belonging diasporic imaginings of Ireland anti imperial activism agitation and advocacy culture faith and family and poverty work education and equality

Periodizing Secularization Clive D. Field,2019-10-31 Moving beyond the now somewhat tired debates about secularization as paradigm theory or master narrative Periodizing Secularization focuses upon the empirical evidence for secularization viewed in its descriptive sense as the waning social influence of religion in Britain Particular emphasis is attached to the two key performance indicators of religious allegiance and churchgoing each subsuming several sub indicators between 1880 and 1945 including the first substantive account of secularization during the fin de siècle. A wide range of primary sources is deployed many of them relatively or entirely unknown and with due regard to their methodological and interpretative challenges. On the back of them a cross cutting statistical measure of active church adherence is devised which clearly shows how secularization has been a reality and a gradual not revolutionary process. The most likely causes of secularization were an incremental demise of a Sabbatarian culture coupled with the associated emergence of new leisure opportunities and transport links and of religious socialization in the church at home and in the school. The analysis is also extended backwards to include a summary of developments during the eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries and laterally to incorporate a preliminary evaluation of a six dimensional model of diffusive religion demonstrating that these alternative performance indicators have hitherto failed to prove that secularization has not occurred. The book is designed as a prequel to the author's previous volumes on the chronology of British secularization: Britain's Last Religious Revival 2015 and Secularization in the Long 1960s 2017. Together they offer a holistic picture of religious transformation in Britain during the key secularizing century of 1880-1980.

The Oxford History of British and Irish Catholicism, Volume V Alana Harris, 2023-09-01. The fifth volume of The Oxford History of British and Irish Catholicism covering the period from the Great War through the Second World War and the Second Vatican Council surveys the transformed ecclesial landscape between the papacies of Benedict XV and Pope Francis. It explores the efforts of bishops, priests and people in Ireland and Scotland, Wales and England to respond to modern challenges and reintegrate the experiences and expertise of the laity into the ministry of the Church. Alongside the twentieth century's designation as an era of technological innovation, war, peace, globalization, decolonization and liberation, this period has also been designated the People's Century. Viewed through the lens of the Catholic church in Britain and Ireland, these same dynamics are explored within thematic synoptic chapters by leading scholars. As a century characterized by the rise or better renewal of the apostolate of the laity, this edited

Scottish Gods Bruce Steve Bruce,2018-09-17 Steve Bruce here presents a highly readable account of the changing nature and place of religion in Scotland in an increasingly irreligious society In 1900 Scotland was a largely Presbyterian country and the Christian churches were a major social force Now less than 10 per cent of Scots attend church As religion has declined it has become more varied Catholicism has grown as have Charismatic Christian fellowships Buddhist and Hindu themes have easternised our religious vocabulary a significant Muslim population has become established and a notable number of Scots now pursue personal spiritual interests in forms which would once have been dismissed as pagan Both this decline and the diversification deserve explanation The Protestant Catholic divide has faded but Scots have new controversies over the proper public place of religion in the light of growing secularization and diversification The growth of individual liberty and increasing cultural diversity combine to weaken all shared beliefs by changing religion from a social matter into a private personal concern All religious groups are faced with the choice of either accommodating that trend and losing their distinctiveness or resisting it and making membership too costly for most potential adherents This radical remapping of Scotland s religious character is a fascinating summary of a remarkable career of research and analysis by one of Scotland s leading social historians Topics include Lewis Orkney and Shetland compared the integration of the Irish the growth and decline of the Catholic Church Scotland Orange and Protestant the Post War Kirk factionalism in the conservative Presbyterian churches the failure of the charismatic movement in Scotland Samye Ling and Buddhism Findhorn and New Age spirituality Scots Muslims and arguments over the ordination of women and gay rights
