Dorothea Lange Linda Gordon, 2010-09-21 Dorothea Lange's photographs define how we remember the Depression generation now an evocative biography defines her creative struggles and enduring legacy We all know Dorothea Lange's iconic photos the Migrant Mother holding her child the gaunt men forlornly waiting in breadlines but few know the arc of her extraordinary life In this sweeping account renowned historian Linda Gordon charts Lange's journey from polio ridden child to wife and mother to San Francisco portrait photographer to chronicler of the Great Depression and World War II Gordon uses Lange's life to anchor a moving social history of twentieth century America re-creating the bohemian world of San Francisco the Dust Bowl and the Japanese American internment camps She explores Lange's growing radicalization as she embraced the democratic power of the camera and she examines Lange's entire body of work reproducing more than one hundred images many of them previously unseen and some of them formerly suppressed Lange reminds us that beauty can be found in unlikely places and that to respond to injustice we must first simply learn how to see it      Camera Constructs Andrew Higgott, Timothy

Wray, 2016-12-05 Photography and architecture have a uniquely powerful resonance architectural form provides the camera with the subject for some of its most compelling imagery while photography profoundly influences how architecture is represented imagined and produced Camera Constructs is the first book to reflect critically on the varied interactions of the different practices by which photographers artists architects theorists and historians engage with the relationship of the camera to architecture the city and the evolution of Modernism The title thus on the one hand opposes the medium of photography and the materiality of construction but on the other can be read as saying that the camera invariably constructs what it depicts the photograph is not a simple representation of an external reality but constructs its own meanings and reconstructs its subjects Twenty three essays by a wide range of historians and theorists are grouped under the themes of Modernism and the Published Photograph Architecture and the City Re imagined Interpretative Constructs and Photography in Design Practices They are preceded by an Introduction that comprehensively outlines the subject and elaborates on the diverse historical and theoretical contexts of the authors approaches Camera Constructs provides a rich and highly original analysis of the relationship of photography to built form from the early modern period to the present day      New Deal Art in Arizona Betsy Fahlman, 2009-11-15 Arizona's art history is emblematic of the story of the modern West and few periods in that history were more significant than the era of the New Deal From Dorothea Lange and Ansel Adams to painters and muralists including Native American Gerald Nailor the artists working in Arizona under New Deal programs were a notable group whose art served a distinctly public purpose Their photography paintings and sculptures remain significant exemplars of federal art patronage and offer telling lessons positioned at the intersection of community history and culture Art is a powerful instrument of historical record and cultural construction and many of the issues captured by the Farm Security Administration photographers remain significant issues today migratory labor the economic volatility of the mining industry tourism and water usage Art tells important stories too including the work of Japanese American photographer Toyo Miyatake in Arizona's internment camps murals by Native American artist Gerald Nailor for the Navajo Nation Council Chamber in Window Rock and African American themes at Fort Huachuca Illustrated with 100 black and white photographs and covering a wide range of both media and themes this fascinating and accessible volume reclaims a richly textured story of Arizona history with potent lessons for today      Primary Research and Writing Lynee Lewis Gaillet, Michelle F.

Women, Art and the New Deal Katherine H. Adams, Michael L. Keene, 2015-12-23 In 1935 the United States Congress began employing large numbers of American artists through the Works Progress Administration fiction writers photographers poster artists dramatists painters sculptors muralists wood carvers composers and choreographers as well as journalists historians and researchers Secretary of Commerce and supervisor of the WPA Harry Hopkins hailed it a renaissance of the arts if we can call it a rebirth when it has no precedent in our history Women were eminently involved creating a wide variety of art and craft interweaving their own stories with those of other women whose lives might not otherwise have received attention This book surveys the thousands of women artists who worked for the U S government the historical and social worlds they described and the collaborative depiction of womanhood they created at a pivotal moment in American history

North Carolina Women Michele Gillespie, Sally G. McMillen, 2015-07-01 By the twentieth century North Carolina s progressive streak had strengthened thanks in large part to a growing number of women who engaged in and influenced state and national policies and politics These women included Gertrude Weil who fought tirelessly for the Nineteenth Amendment which extended suffrage to women and founded the state chapter of the League of Women Voters once the amendment was ratified in 1920 Gladys Avery Tillett an ardent Democrat and supporter of Roosevelt s New Deal became a major presence in her party at both the state and national levels Guion Griffis Johnson turned to volunteer work in the postwar years becoming one of the state s most prominent female civic leaders Through her excellent education keen legal mind and family prominence Susie Sharp in 1949 became the first woman judge in North Carolina and in 1974 the first woman in the nation to be elected and serve as chief justice of a state supreme court Throughout her life the Reverend Dr Anna Pauline Pauli Murray charted a religious literary and political path to racial reconciliation on both a national stage and in North Carolina This is the second of two volumes that together explore the diverse and changing patterns of North Carolina women s lives The essays in this volume cover the period beginning with women born in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries but who made their greatest contributions to the social political cultural legal and economic life of the state during the late progressive era through the late twentieth century

Small Wonder Jonathan Zimmerman, 2009-07-14 This engaging book examines the history of the one room school and how successive generations of Americans have remembered and just as often misremembered this powerful national icon

The Grass Shall Grow Mick Gidley, 2020-02-01 The Grass Shall Grow is a succinct introduction to the work and world of Helen M Post 1907-79 who took thousands of photographs of Native Americans Although Post has been largely forgotten and even in her heyday never achieved the fame of her sister Farm Security Administration photographer Marion Post Wolcott Helen Post was a talented photographer who worked on Indian reservations throughout the West and captured images that are both striking and informative Post produced the pictures for the novelist Oliver La Farge s nonfiction book As Long As the Grass Shall Grow 1940 among other publications and her output constitutes a powerful representation of Native American life at that time Mick Gidley recounts Post s career from her coming of age in the turbulent 1930s to her training in Vienna and her work for the U S Indian Service tracking the arc of her professional reputation He treats her interactions with public figures including La Farge and editor Edwin Rosskam and describes her relationships with Native Americans whether noted craftspeople such as the Sioux quilter Nellie Star Boy Menard tribal leaders such as Crow superintendent Robert Yellowtail or ordinary individuals like the people she photographed at work in the fields or laboring for federal projects at school or in the hospital cooking or dancing The images reproduced here are analyzed both for their own sake and in order to understand their connection to broader national concerns including the 1934 Indian Reorganization Act The thoroughly researched and accessibly written text represents a serious reappraisal of a neglected artist     Hope in Hard Times Mary Murphy, 2003

Arthur Rothstein Russell Lee John Vachon and Marion Post Wolcott became some of the United States best known photographers through their pictures of Depression era America Their assignment as one of their associates described it was to have a long look at the whole vast complicated rural U S landscape with all that was built on it and all those who built and wrecked and worked in it and bore kids and dragged them up and played games and paraded and picnicked and suffered and died and were buried in it In Montana the four photographers traveled to forty of the state s fifty six counties creating a rich record of the many facets of the Depression and recovery rural and urban agricultural and industrial work and play hard times and the promise of a brighter future The photographers captured the dignity of Montanans as they struggled to scratch out livings from dried up fields nurture families in the shadows of Butte head frames and foster communities on the vast expanses of the northern plains Hope in Hard Times features over 140 Farm Security Administration photographs to illustrate the story of the Great Depression in Montana and the experiences of the photographers who documented it Today these striking images from cities like Butte to small towns like Terry present an unforgettable portrait of a little studied period in the history of Montana Selected from the Farm Security Administration Collection at the Library of Congress in Washington D C the photographs in Hope in Hard Times offer viewers an unparalleled look at life in Montana in the years preceding the United States entry into World War II
