

How do we see things?

An object that gives out light is described as luminous.
How does light from a luminous object such as a light bulb reach the eye?

Light travels in a straight line directly into the eye.

An object that does not give out light is non-luminous.
How does your eye see a non-luminous object such as a comb?

Light hits the comb and some of it is reflected into the eye.

Raw: Architectural Engagements with Nature Solveig Bøe, Hege Charlotte Faber, 2016-04-08 Through cross disciplinary explorations of and engagements with nature as a forming part of architecture this volume sheds light on the concepts of both nature and architecture Nature is examined in a raw intermediary state where it is noticeable as nature despite but at the same time through man's effort at creating form This is done by approaching nature from the perspective of architecture understood not only as concrete buildings but as a fundamental human way both of being in and relating to the world Man finds and forms places where life may take place Consequently architecture may be understood as ranging from the simple mark on the ground and primitive enclosure to the contemporary megalopolis Nature inheres in many aesthetic forms of expression In architecture however nature emerges with a particular power and clarity which makes architecture a raw kind of art Even though other forms of art as well as aesthetic phenomena outside the arts are addressed the analogy to architecture will be evident and important Thus by using the concept of raw as a focal point this book provides new approaches to architecture in a broad sense as well as other aesthetic and artistic practices and will be of interest to readers from different fields of the arts and humanities spanning from philosophy and theology to history of art architecture and music

Seamus Heaney Richard Rankin Russell, 2016-09-13 The first detailed introduction to the entirety of Seamus Heaney's work This study will enable readers to gain clearer understanding of the life and major works of Seamus Heaney It considers literary influences on Heaney ranging from English poets such as Wordsworth Hughes and Auden to Irish poets such as Kavanagh and Yeats to world poets such as Virgil and Dante It shows how Heaney was closely attuned to poetry's impact on daily life and current events even as he articulated a convincing apologia for poetry's own life and integrity. Discussing Heaney's deep immersion in Irish Catholicism, this book demonstrates how faith influenced his belief system, poetry and politics. Finally, it also considers how deeply Heaney's artistic endeavours were intertwined with politics in Northern Ireland, especially through his embrace of constitutional nationalism but rejection of physical force republicanism.

Key Features Includes sections on biography, historical, cultural and political contexts, poetry and other genres, as well as a concluding section on primary works and secondary criticism. Pays special attention to the marriage of form and content in the poetry and how they work together to express subtle shades of meaning. Offers close readings of Heaney's canonical poems throughout his career, including the early seminal poems such as Digging, the abog poems and his many elegies such as Casualty, Station Island and Clearances. Draws on drafts of the poems and prose at the Heaney archives at Emory University and the National Library of Ireland.

The Portal of Beauty Bruno Forte, 2008-10-29 A famous Italian theologian's eloquent reflections on beauty and God. Beauty is an event; it happens when the Whole, the All, offers itself to us in the fragment when the Infinite makes itself little. This is how Bruno Forte describes the long-held Christian tradition that sees God as the source of all beauty. In The Portal of Beauty, Forte examines the deep, though not always obvious, contribution of theological thought from the minds of such luminaries as Augustine, Aquinas, Kierkegaard, Dostoevsky, Balthasar and Evdokimov to our understanding and experience of beauty. The Portal of Beauty is an erudite, moving and deeply felt study by the most famous Italian theologian in Italy on the nature of beauty and how it can lead us to a greater understanding of and communion with the divine.

This Outcast Generation and Luminous Moss Taijun Takeda, 2013-01-08 The two novelettes by contemporary Japanese writer Taijun Takeda that are contained in this book were chosen for their overall excellence to be included in our current Library of Japanese Literature series. Both stories are relatively modern, one dealing with an incident of cannibalism in Hokkaido during World War II and the other about the Japanese who lived in Shanghai following the defeat. This Outcast Generation, according to the translators, is basically an existentialist novel and it reminds of Camus, but it is of course Japanese in essence. The story tells of the life of a man who, as a member of a defeated nation living in a foreign country, feels no responsibility to anyone but himself and this only in relation to food and water. Eventually, the hero is given the chance to initiate a change in his aimless life and he acts for mankind or for love in committing what is meant to be a Dostoyevskian axe-type murder. Translator Goldstein calls Luminous Moss a real tour de force. I know nothing like it in any literature, though of course the problem of cannibalism has been treated by others.
