Communities Emily Walker Heady, 2016-03-03 Because Victorian authors rarely discuss conversion experiences separately from the modes in which they are narrated Emily Walker Heady argues that the conversion narrative became in effect a form of literary criticism Literary conventions in turn served the reciprocal function as a means of discussing the nature of what Heady calls the heart change Heady reads canonical authors such as John Henry Newman Charles Dickens Charlotte Bront George Eliot and Oscar Wilde through a dual lens of literary history and post liberal theology As Heady shows these authors question the ability of realism to contain the emotionally freighted and often jarring plot lines that characterize conversion In so doing they explore the limits of narrative form while also shedding light on the ways in which conversion narratives address and often disrupt the reading communities in which they occur SpecLab Johanna Drucker, 2009-08-01 Nearly a decade ago Johanna Drucker cofounded the University of Virginia's SpecLab a digital humanities laboratory dedicated to risky projects with serious aims In SpecLab she explores the implications of these radical efforts to use critical practices and aesthetic principles against the authority of technology based on analytic models of knowledge Inspired by the imaginative frontiers of graphic arts and experimental literature and the technical possibilities of computation and information management the projects Drucker engages range from Subjective Meteorology to Artists Books Online to the as yet unrealized Patacritical Demon an interactive tool for exposing the structures that underlie our interpretations of text Illuminating the kind of future such experiments could enable SpecLab functions as more than a set of case studies at the intersection of computers and humanistic inquiry It also exemplifies Drucker's contention that humanists must play a role in designing models of knowledge for the digital age models that will determine how our culture will function in years to come with an inexplicable memory loss Synthesizing the fields of psychiatry and the dynamics of the disorder with its influential representation in American fiction the study researches how psychiatry and fiction mutually shaped a mysterious syndrome and how this reciprocal process created a genre fiction of its own that persists until today in a very distinct self referential mode

Contemporary Trauma Narratives Jean-Michel Ganteau, Susana Onega, 2014-06-27 This book provides a comprehensive compilation of essays on the relationship between formal experimentation and ethics in a number of generically hybrid or liminal narratives dealing with individual and collective traumas running the spectrum from the testimonial novel and the fictional autobiography to the fake memoir written by a variety of famous more neglected contemporary British Irish US Canadian and German writers Building on the psychological insights and theorizing of the fathers of trauma studies Janet Freud Ferenczi and of contemporary trauma critics and theorists the articles examine the narrative strategies structural experimentations and hybridizations of forms paying special attention to the way in which the texts fight the unrepresentability of trauma by performing rather than representing it The ethicality or unethicity involved in this endeavor is assessed from the combined perspectives of the non foundational non cognitive discursive ethics of alterity inspired by Emmanuel Levinas and the ethics of vulnerability This approach makes Contemporary Trauma Narratives an excellent resource for scholars of contemporary literature trauma studies and literary theory
