Lost Found In Translation Contemporar:

Lost and Found in Translation Martha J. Cutter, 2006-05-18 Starting with Salman Rushdie's assertion that even though something is always lost in translation something can always be gained Martha Cutter examines the trope of translation in twenty English language novels and autobiographies by contemporary ethnic American writers She argues that these works advocate a politics of language diversity a literary and social agenda that validates the multiplicity of ethnic cultures and tongues in the United States Cutter studies works by Asian American Native American African American and Mexican American authors She argues that translation between cultures languages and dialects creates a new language that in its diversity constitutes the true heritage of the United States Through the metaphor of translation Cutter demonstrates writers such as Maxine Hong Kingston Sherman Alexie Toni Morrison and Richard Rodriguez establish a place within American society for the many languages spoken by multiethnic and multicultural individuals Cutter concludes with an analysis of contemporary debates over language policy such as English only legislation the recognition of Ebonics and the growing acceptance of bilingualism The focus on translation by so many multiethnic writers she contends offers hope in our postmodern culture for a new condition in which creatively fused languages renovate the communications of the dominant society and create new kinds of identity for multicultural individuals

Oedipus at Colonus and King Lear: Classical and Early Modern Intersections Silvia Bigliuzzi, 2019-12-29 The story of King Lear seems to fill in the blank space separating the end of Oedipus Tyrannus and the beginning of Oedipus at Colonus In both Oedipus at Colonus and the latter part of King Lear we are presented with an old man who was once a King and following his expulsion from his kingdom on account of a crime or of an error is turned into a nothing This happens in the time of the division of the kingdom which is also the time of the genesis of intraspecific conflict and consequently of the end of the dynasty This collection of essays offers a range of perspectives on the many common concerns of these two plays from the relation between fathers and sons daughters to madness and wisdom from sinning and suffering to being and non being in human and divine time It also offers an overarching critical frame that interrogates questions of source and reception probing into the possible exchangeability of perspectives in a game of mirrors that challenges ideas of origin

Writing Off the Hyphen Jose L. Torres-Padilla, Carmen Haydee Rivera, 2011-12-01 The sixteen essays in Writing Off the Hyphen approach the literature of the Puerto Rican diaspora from current theoretical positions with provocative and insightful results The authors analyze how the diasporic experience of Puerto Ricans is played out in the context of class race gender and sexuality and how other themes emerging from postcolonialism and postmodernism come into play Their critical work also demonstrates an understanding of how the process of migration and the relations between Puerto Rico and the United States complicate notions of cultural and national identity as writers confront their bilingual bicultural and transnational realities The collection has considerable breadth and depth It covers earlier undertheorized writers such as Luisa Capetillo Pedro Juan Labarthe Bernardo Vega Pura Belpr Arturo Schomburg and Graciany Miranda Archilla Prominent writers such as Rosario Ferr and Judith Ortiz Cofer are discussed alongside often neglected writers such as Honolulu based Rodney Morales and gay writer Manuel Ramos Otero The essays cover all the genres and demonstrate that current theoretical ideas and approaches create exciting opportunities and possibilities for the study of Puerto Rican diasporic literature
