Langran, Janine DeWitt, 2020-11-04 This book explores how educators can realize the potential of critical place based pedagogy The authors model leverages the power of technology through strategies such as mobile mapping so that students can read the world and share spatial narratives The same complexity that makes spaces outside the classroom ideal for authentic purposeful learning creates challenges for educators who must minimize students taking wrong turns or reaching dead ends Instructional design process is key and the authors offer exemplars of this from multiple disciplines Whether students are exploring a local community or a natural environment place based inquires must include recognition of privilege and the social dynamics that reinforce inequalities Concluding with a discussion of the changing social context the authors highlight how contemporary events add a sense of urgency to the call for a critical place based pedagogy one that is more inclusive for all students World Mapping Today Bob Parry,Chris Perkins,2011-12-22 No detailed description available for World Mapping Today Mapping Rivers Sunita Apte,2011-01-15 Introduces maps and teaches essential mapping skills including how to create use and interpret maps of rivers Cities of God David Gange,Michael Ledger-Lomas,2013-10-17 This book shows how in unearthing biblical cities archaeology transformed nineteenth century thinking on the truth of Christianity and its role in modern cities World City Network Peter Taylor,Ben Derudder,2015-08-17 With the advent of multinational corporations the traditional urban service function has gone global In order to provide services to globalizing corporate clients the offices of major financial and business service firms across the world have generated networks of work It is the myriad of flows between office towers in different metropolitan centres that has produced a world city network Taylor and Derudder s unique and illuminating book provides both an update and a substantial revision of the first edition that was published in 2004 It provides a comprehensive and systematic description and analysis of the world city network as the skeleton upon which contemporary globalization has been built Through an analysis of the intra company flows of 175 leading global service firms across 526 cities in 2012 this book assesses cities in terms of their overall network connectivity the regional configurations they form and their changing position in the period 2000 12 Results are used to reflect on cities and city state relations in the context of the global ecological and economic crisis Written by two of the foremost authorities on the subject this book provides a much needed mapping of the connecting relationships between world cities and will be a valuable resource for students of urban studies geography sociology and planning Reconnecting the City Francesco Bandarin,Ron van Oers,2014-12-15 Historic Urban Landscape is a new approach to urban heritage management promoted by UNESCO and currently one of the most debated issues in the international preservation community However few conservation practitioners have a clear understanding of what it entails and more importantly what it can achieve Examples drawn from urban heritage sites worldwide from Timbuktu to Liverpool Richly illustrated with colour photographs Addresses key issues and best practice for urban conservation Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2003

III, 2025-08-18 Beyond Health Capacity Spatial Practices in Inclusive Design sheds light on the systemic challenges communities with limited access to medical support and health maintenance have endured. It emphasizes how approaching medical interventions through non-traditional health facilities can positively impact health's social and environmental impact. Health capacity is an emerging consideration for optimizing a building design to meet health criteria based on physical, virtual, historical, or social space. These emerging practices can be focused on by interrogating the role of planning, construction, and urban design in addressing public health needs alongside considering access and social justice as an agency in design. This book reflects on past and present efforts interrogating the practical application of inclusive design practices in resolving the spatial challenges of health reform. By focusing on examples experienced during the pandemic and after, each chapter offers an overview documenting these experiences as approaches to these new competencies, reimagining urbanism around health and proposing new criteria for the future of healthcare. This book is essential for students and practitioners working in architecture, community planning, urban design, landscape architecture, and public health.
