

A MERE GRAIN OF SAND

*When is Ray Brown not Ray Brown?
When he is St. Paul*

This conundrum sums up the momentous central claim of this extraordinary book – that St. Paul is personally working through Britain's leading spiritual healer, Ray Brown, to provide modern evidence that all humanity survives physical death.

Ray Brown is a trance medium and for up to seven hours each working day he allows his body to be occupied by a remarkable 'spiritual surgeon' who in nearly fifty years has undisputedly healed thousands of people who conventional medicine could not help in Britain, Africa, Europe and Asia.

That surgeon says he is Paul of Tarsus, who 2,000 years ago helped found the Christian religion. Employing advanced medical science techniques, he says he has returned not only to heal and ease suffering but to teach a non-Christian spirituality and answer positively that age-old question: do we really survive physical death?

This dramatically intertwined story of Ray, his wife Gillian and Paul could easily grace a Hollywood blockbuster. While training to be a trance medium, Ray's own life was a white-knuckle roller coaster ride through childhood traumas, several near-fatal accidents, two turbulent marriages and a desperate, botched suicide attempt. Only Gillian's arrival, contrived by Paul, brought a vital stability to his healing mission. Despite the great magnitude of the book's claimed revelations, the essential humility of its central figure is reflected in its title.

'I am just Paul,' he says. 'A servant of God, a mere grain of sand in a vast desert.'

Todeschi, 2007-06 Science caught up with the psychic readings of Edgar Cayce when it proved that all of materiality consisting of atoms and therefore protons neutrons and electrons is energy in motion Everything is a vibration Even the body's five senses operate through the use of vibrations The Cayce readings suggested that vibrations were also associated with healing consciousness and even locations In fact the Cayce information presents the premise that all of life in every dimension is actually just different manifestations of the One Force the Force that moved all of Creation into being Therefore all vibration is ultimately that One Force manifesting in the material world in a variety of ways Todeschi's latest title explores how everything from consciousness to the material is connected to vibration and how we continue to create and shape our world through the vibrations all around us Vibrations are essentially spirit in motion and our thoughts and actions affect our life and the way we are living
