Meredith A Change Of Masks:

Gothic and the Comic Turn A. Horner, S. Zlosnik, 2004-11-30 Although Gothic writing is now seen as significant for an understanding of modernity it is still largely characterized as a literature of fear and anxiety Gothic and the Comic Turn argues that partly through its desire to be taken seriously Gothic criticism has neglected the comic doppelganger that has always inhabited the Gothic mode and which in certain texts emerges as dominant Tracing an historical trajectory from the late Romantic period through to the present day this book examines how varieties of comic parody and appropriation have interrogated the complexities of modern subjectivity

Sisters in Time Susan Morgan, 1989-08-24 Asking why the 19th century British novel features heroines and how and why it features feminine heroism Susan Morgan traces the relationship between fictional depictions of gender and Victorian ideas of history and progress Morgan approaches gender in selected 19th century British novels as an imaginative category accessible to authors and characters of either sex Arguing that conventional definitions of heroism offer a fixed and history denying perspective on life the book traces a literary tradition that represents social progress as a process of feminization The capacities for flexibility mercy and self doubt conventionally devalued as feminine can make it possible for characters to enter history She shows that Austen and Scott offer revolutionary definitions of feminine heroism and the tradition is elaborated and transformed by Gaskell Eliot Meredith and James partly through one of his last heroines the aging hero of The Ambassadors Throughout the study Morgan considers how gender functions both in individual novels and more extensively as a means of tracing larger patterns and interests especially those concerned with the redemptive possibilities of a temporal and historical perspective

Comic Faith Robert M. Polhemus, 1982-10 Polhemus sketches several distinctions between nineteenth and twentieth century novelists and concludes that what most characterizes the nineteenth century from the perspective of the twentieth is the tendency in its comic fiction to criticize and to undermine the dogma and institutions of religion and to put faith instead of the existence of the comic perspective Comic Faith is a virtuoso performance of impressive stature I suspect the book will be influential for many years to come John Halperin Modern Fiction Studies

Feminist Realism at the Fin de Siècle Molly Youngkin, 2007 Molly Youngkin takes on a major literary problem of the turn of the century Was the transition from the Victorian novel to the modern novel enabled by antirealist or realist narrative strategies To answer this question Youngkin analyzes book reviews that appeared in two prominent feminist periodicals circulated during the late Victorian era Shafts and The Woman's Herald Through reviews of the works of important male and female authors of the decade Thomas Hardy Sarah Grand George Gissing Mona Caird George Meredith M. nie Dowie George Moore and Henrietta Stannard these periodicals developed a feminist realist aesthetic that drew on three aspects of woman's agency consciousness spoken word and action and emphasized corresponding narrative strategies internal perspective dialogue and description of characters actions Still these periodicals privileged consciousness over spoken word and action and by doing so encouraged authors to push the boundaries of traditional realism and anticipate the modernist aesthetic By acknowledging the role of the woman's press in the development of the novel this book revises our understanding of the transition from Victorianism to modernism which often is characterized as antirealist Late Victorian authors working within the realist tradition also contributed to this transition particularly through their engagement with feminist realism Youngkin deftly illustrates this transition and in so doing proves that it cannot be attributed to antirealist narrative strategies alone Molly Youngkin takes on a major literary problem of the turn of the century Was the transition from the Victorian novel to the modern novel enabled by antirealist or realist narrative strategies To answer this question Youngkin analyzes book reviews that appeared in two prominent feminist periodicals circulated during the late Victorian era Shafts and The Woman's Herald Through reviews of the works of important male and female authors of the decade Thomas Hardy Sarah Grand George Gissing Mona Caird George Meredith M. nie Dowie George Moore and Henrietta Stannard these periodicals developed a feminist realist aesthetic that drew on three aspects of woman's agency consciousness spoken word and action and emphasized corresponding narrative strategies internal perspective dialogue and description of characters actions Still these periodicals privileged consciousness over spoken word and action and by doing so encouraged authors to push the boundaries of traditional realism and anticipate the modernist aesthetic By acknowledging the role of the woman's press in the development of the novel this book revises our understanding of the transition from Victorianism to modernism which often is characterized as antirealist Late Victorian authors working within the realist tradition also contributed to this transition particularly through their engagement with feminist realism Youngkin deftly illustrates this transition and in so doing proves that it cannot be attributed to antirealist narrative strategies alone

Dictionary of Real People and Places in Fiction M.C. Rintoul, 2014-03-05 Fascinating and comprehensive in scope the Dictionary of Real People and Places in Fiction is a valuable source for both students and teachers of literature and for those interested in locating the facts behind the fiction they read In a single scholarly volume it provides intriguing insight into the real identity of people and places in the novels of over 300 American and British authors published in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries

The Victorian Novel Harold Bloom, 2004 Victorian England produces some the the greatest novelists in Western history including Charles Dickens Thomas Hardy and George Eliot Critical analysis focuses on the development of the Victorian novel through the second half of the 19th century

Karl Pearson Theodore M. Porter, 2010-01-02 Karl Pearson founder of modern statistics came to this field by way of passionate early studies of philosophy and cultural history as well as ether physics and graphical geometry His faith in science grew out of a deeply moral quest reflected also in his socialism and his efforts to find a new basis for relations between men and women This biography recounts Pearson's extraordinary intellectual adventure and sheds new light on the inner life of science Theodore Porter's intensely personal portrait of Pearson extends from religious crisis and sexual tensions to metaphysical and even mathematical anxieties Pearson sought to reconcile reason with enthusiasm and to achieve the impersonal perspective of science without sacrificing complex individuality Even as he longed to experience nature directly and intimately he identified science with renunciation and positivistic detachment Porter finds a turning point in Pearson's career where his humanistic interests gave way to statistical ones in his Grammar of Science 1892 in which he attempted to establish scientific method as the moral educational basis for a refashioned culture In this original and engaging book a leading historian of modern science investigates the interior experience of one man's scientific life while placing it in a rich tapestry of social political and intellectual movements

The Experimental Impulse in George Meredith's Fiction

Richard C. Stevenson, 2004 This book argues that George Meredith as a writer of Victorian fiction is most critical for us today because of the ways in which he wrote against convention The focus is on seven novels An Essay on Comedy The Ordeal of Richard Feverel The Adventures of Harry Richmond The Egoist One of Our Conquerors Lord Ormont and His Aminta and The Amazing Marriage which clearly illuminate the experimental and transgressive impulse in Meredith as seen in his treatment of controversial contemporary themes in his departures from conventions of genre and in his innovations with narrative technique and the representation of consciousness canonical writers we now associate with the first wave of modernism in the English novel James and then Woolf Forster Lawrence Conrad Ford and Joyce to varying degrees all saw Meredith as an influence to be reckoned with in their own novelistic experimentation an influence this book proposes essential to understanding the modernist translation of nineteenth century realism into new formal thematic and psychological realms twentieth century British novel at the University of Oregon

A Companion to the Victorian Novel William Baker, Kenneth

Womack, 2002-01-30 Victorian novels remain enormously popular today some continue to be made into films while authors such as Charles Dickens and George Eliot are firmly established in the canon and taught at all levels These works have also attracted a great deal of critical attention with much current scholarship examining the novel in relation to its historical political and cultural contexts This reference book is an introductory guide to the Victorian novel its background and its legacy Each chapter is written by an expert contributor and offers a fresh account of past current and new directions in scholarship The volume is divided into several broad sections with chapters in each section treating more specialized topics The first section looks at the emergence of the Victorian novel and its literary precursors with particular emphasis on the growth of serialization and the development of the novel of syndication The second explores significant social and cultural facets of nineteenth century British literature while the third discusses the principal features of different genres such as ghost stories the Gothic detective fiction the social problem novel and contemporary film adaptations Individual authors are examined in the fourth section while the fifth overviews various critical approaches and their application to nineteenth century fiction

Still Life Elisha Cohn, 2015-11-02 Still Life Suspended Development in the Victorian Novel rethinks the nineteenth century aesthetics of agency through the Victorian novel's fascination with states of reverie trance and sleep These states challenge contemporary scientific and philosophical accounts of the perfectibility of the self which privileged reflective self awareness In dialogue with the field of literature and science studies and affect studies this book shows how Victorian writers used narrative form to respond to the analytical practices and knowledge production of those other disciplines Drawing upon canonical texts by Charlotte Bront George Eliot George Meredith and Thomas Hardy Still Life contends that depictions of non purposive perceptual experience suspend the processes of self cultivation Bildung central to Victorian aesthetics science psychology and political theory as well as most critical accounts of the novel form Departing from the values of individual cultivation and moral revelation associated with the genre these writers offer an affective framework for understanding the subtly non instrumental powers of narrative Victorian novels ostensibly working within the parameters of the Bildungsroman are suspended by moments of still life a decentered lyricism associated with states of diminished consciousness They use this style to narrate what should be unnarratable experiences not dependent on reflective consciousness which express a distinctive ambivalence toward dominant developmental frameworks of individual self culture

The Victorian Novel Louis James, 2008-04-15 This inspiring survey challenges conventional ways of viewing the Victorian novel Provides time maps and overviews of historical and social contexts Considers the relationship between the Victorian novel and historical religious and bibliographic writing Features short biographies of over forty Victorian authors including Wilkie Collins Charles Dickens George Eliot and Robert Louis Stevenson Offers close readings of over 30 key texts among them Charlotte Bront's Jane Eyre 1847 and Bram Stoker's Dracula 1897 as well as key presences such as John Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress Pt 1 1676 Pt 2 1684 Also covers topics such as colonialism scientific speculation the psychic and the supernatural and working class reading

The Mind of the Child Sally Shuttleworth, 2010-07-08 What is the difference between a lie and a fantasy when the subject is a child Moving between literary and scientific texts Sally Shuttleworth explores a range of fascinating issues that emerge when the inner world of the child becomes for the first time the explicit focus of literary and medical attention Starting in the 1840s which saw the publication of explorations of child development by Bront and Dickens as well as some of the first psychiatric studies of childhood this groundbreaking book progresses through post Darwinian considerations of the child's relations to the animal kingdom to chart the rise of the Child Study Movement of the 1890s Based on in depth interdisciplinary research The Mind of the Child offers detailed readings of novels by Dickens Meredith James Hardy and others as well as the first overview of the early histories of child psychology and psychiatry Initial chapters cover issues such as fears and night terrors imaginary lands and the precocious child while later ones look at ideas of child sexuality and adolescence and the relationship between child and monkey Experiments on babies the first baby shows and domestic monkey keeping also feature Many of our current concerns with reference to childhood are shown to have their parallels in the Victorian age from the pressures of school examinations or the problems of adolescence through to the disturbing issue of child suicide Childhood from this period took on new importance as holding the key to the adult mind

The New Woman Sally Ledger, 1997 By comparing fictional representations with real New Women in late

Victorian Britain Sally Ledger makes a major contribution to an understanding of the Woman Question at the end of the century Chapters on imperialism socialism sexual decadence and metropolitan life situate the revolting daughters of the Victorian age in a broader cultural context than previous studies Decadent Verse Caroline Blyth,2011-07-01 This volume is both an essential resource for undergraduates and graduates studying Victorian and Decadent literature and an instructive work for enthusiastic readers of verse The wide span of the 1872 1900 epoch enables readers to appreciate in great depth the literary developments that led to the fin de siècle unlike most studies of this period which focus solely on the 1890s with no relation to cultural and historical developments in the previous two important decades Literature, Science, Psychoanalysis, 1830-1970 Helen Small,Trudi Tate,2003 The interactions between literature and science and between literature and psychoanalysis have been among the most thriving areas for interdisciplinary study in recent years Work in these open fields has taught us to recognize the interdependence of different cultures of knowledge and experience revealing the multiple ways in which science literature and psychoanalysis have been mutually enabling and defining as well as corrective and contestatory of each other Inspired by Gillian Beer's path breaking work on literature and science this volume presents fourteen new essays by leading American and British writers They focus on the evolutionary sciences in the nineteenth century the early years of psychoanalysis from Freud to Ella Freeman Sharpe and the modern development of the physical sciences Drawing on recent debates within the history of science psychoanalytic literary criticism intellectual history and gender studies the volume makes a major contribution to our understanding of the formation of knowledge Among its recurrent themes are curiosity and epistemology growth maturity and coming of age as structuring metaphors several essays focus especially on childhood taxonomy sleep and dreaming and elusive knowledge the physiology of truth and the gender politics of scientific theory and practice The essays also reflect Beer's extensive influence as a literary critic with close readings of works by Charlotte Brontë Alfred Lord Tennyson George Eliot Thomas Hardy Henry James Oscar Wilde H G Wells Edith Ayrton Zangwill Charlotte Haldane Virginia Woolf George Orwell and Karin Boye Representing Female Artistic Labour, 1848-1890 Patricia Zakreski,2016-12-05 Patricia Zakreski's interdisciplinary study draws on fiction prose painting and the periodical press to expand and redefine our understanding of women's relationship to paid work during the Victorian period While the idea of separate spheres has largely gone uncontested by feminist critics studying female labour during the nineteenth century Zakreski challenges this distinction by showing that the divisions between public and private were in fact surprisingly flexible with homes described as workplaces and workplaces as homes By combining art with forms of industrial or mass production in representations of the respectable woman worker writers projected a form of paid creative work that was not violated or profaned by the public world of the market in which it was traded Looking specifically at sewing art writing and acting Zakreski shows how these professions increasingly came to be defined as artistic and thus as suitable professions for middle class women and argues that the supposedly degrading activity of paid work could be transformed into a refining experience for women Rather than consigning working women to the margins of patriarchal culture then her study shows how representations of creative women by authors such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning Dinah Craik Charles Dickens Anthony Trollope and Charlotte Yonge participated in and shaped new forms of mainstream culture Illinois Studies in Language and Literature University of Illinois (Urbana-Champaign campus),1972 English Fiction of the Victorian Period Michael Wheeler,2014-01-14 Professor Wheeler s widely acclaimed survey of the nineteenth century fiction covers both the major writers and their works and encompasses the genres and minor fiction of the period This excellent introduction and reference source has been revised for this second edition to include new material on lesser known writers and a comprehensively updated bibliography Women in Transit through Literary Liminal Spaces T. Gifford,2013-09-26 This edited book provides a unique opportunity for international scholars to contribute to the exploration of liminality in the field of Anglo American literature written by or about women between the Victorian period and the Second World War
