David Lewis, Dennis Rodgers, Michael Woolcock, 2022-05-26 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY 3.0 IGO International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations The notion of development influences and is influenced by all aspects of human life Social science is but one representational option among many for conveying the myriad ways in which development is conceived encountered experienced justified courted and or resisted by different groups at particular times and places As international development has become more quantitative and economics centred there is an enduring sense that what is measured and thus valued and prioritized may have become too narrow that the powers of prediction claimed by some areas of economics and management may have overreached and that the human dimension is in danger of being lost Reflecting this concern New Mediums Better Messages contributes to new conversations between science social science and the humanities around the roles of different kinds of knowledge stories and data play in relation to global development It brings together a team of multidisciplinary contributors to explore popular representations of development including music blogs and fiction Media, Religion and Conflict Heather Savigny, Dr Lee Marsden, 2013-03-28 International relations as a discipline has largely ignored the role of religion in shaping international events The growth of Islamist militancy the increasing influence of the Christian Right on US foreign policy and George Bush's war on terror changed this for good Now more than ever we need to analyze this change and consider how religion and the way it is represented affects international politics Lee Marsden and Heather Savigny uniquely bring together some of the leading figures in the fields of politics and media international relations and security and international relations and religion including freelance journalist and newspaper columnist Nick Cohen the international authority on politics and religion Professor Jeffrey Haynes and Professor Justin Lewis who has a number of BBC commissions under his belt The volume offers a series of case studies reflecting on how the media covers religion as conflict within and between states It challenges readers to critically examine how media reportage and commentary influences perceptions and responses to religion and security Propaganda, Power and Persuasion David Welch, 2013-11-27 As Philip Taylor has written The challenge of the modern information age is to ensure that no single propaganda source gains monopoly over the information and images that shape our thoughts If this happens the war propagandists will be back in business again Propaganda came of age in the Twentieth Century The development of mass and multi media offered a fertile ground for propaganda while global conflict provided the impetus needed for its growth Propaganda has however become a portmanteau word which can be interpreted in a number of different ways What are the characteristic features of propaganda and how can it be defined The distinguished contributors to this book trace the development of techniques of opinion management from the First World War to the current conflict in Afghanistan They reveal how state leaders and spin doctors operating at the behest of the state sought to shape popular attitudes at home and overseas endeavouring to harness new media with the objective of winning hearts and minds The book provides compelling evidence of how the study and practice of propaganda today is shaped by its history On the Short Waves, 1923-1945 Jerome S. Berg, 2007-04-11 As radio developed in the early 1920s the focus for most people was the AM band and stations such as KDKA the first broadcast station There was however another broadcast method that was popular among many early enthusiasts shortwave radio As is true today the transmission of news and entertainment programs over shortwave frequencies permitted reception over great distances For many in America and beyond shortwave was an exciting aspect of the new medium Some still tune the shortwave bands to enjoy the programming Others pursue broadcasts for the thrill of the hunt This book fully covers shortwave broadcasting from its beginning through World War II A technical history examining the medium's development and use tells the story of a listener community that spanned the globe Included are overviews of the primary shortwave stations operating worldwide in the 1930s along with clubs and competitions publications and prizes A rich collection of illustrations includes many QSLs the cards that stations sent to acknowledge receipt of their transmissions and that are much prized by long distance collectors

War and Film in America Marilyn J. Matelski, Nancy Lynch Street, 2017-10-27 America s chief exports are war and entertainment combined they are the war films viewed all over the world The film industry is a partner of the government American film shapes the ways in which both Americans and others view war The authors herein explore differing film perspectives across five decades The essays written especially for this volume explore topics such as frontier justice Cold War fervor government sponsored terrorism the back to Nam films films as a venue for propaganda and war s far reaching effects on personal values family relationships and general civility The movies used in these analyses vary from conventional battle epics like Bridge on the River Kwai and The Green Berets to motion pictures with a war motif either as part of the story The Way We Were or as a historical setting The Graduate Some of the films are satirical Dr Strangelove some are propagandistic The Alamo Big Jim McLain Other films include Black Hawk Down True Lies The Deer Hunter Patriot Games and Let There Be Light Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Unfinished History Philip L. Wickeri, 2016-09-30 This is the first collection of essays to discuss the impact of the Cold War 1945 1990 on Christianity in East Asia In historical overviews case studies and theological reflections scholars from Asia Europe and North America explore the variety of ways in which the Cold War has shaped the churches involvement in society politics and culture The Cold War continues to have an impact the Korean peninsula in Greater China and throughout the region Churches are challenged to address the issues of the past that affect Christian life today Die in diesem Band gesammelten Aufsätze setzen sich erstmals aus unterschiedlichen Perspektiven mit den Auswirkungen des Kalten Krieges 1945-1990 auf das Christentum in Ostasien auseinander. In geschichtlichen Beispielen und theologischen Erörterungen erkunden Wissenschaftler aus Asien, Europa und Nordamerika die vielfältigen Wege, in denen das Engagement der Kirchen in Gesellschaft, Politik und Kultur beeinflusst hat. Der Kalte Krieg wirkt auf der Koreanischen Halbinsel, China und vielen anderen Ländern der Region noch stets nach. Die Kirchen sind herausgefordert, sich diesem geschichtlichen Erbe zu stellen, das Auswirkungen bis in das christliche Leben heute hat.

The First Domino Johanna Cushing Granville, 2004. A Fascinating Analysis Based on Newly Declassified Documents from the Former USSR and Communist Bloc. On October 23-24 and November 3-4, 1956, the Soviet Union invaded Hungary to reassert strict communist rule. The First Domino: International Decision Making during the Hungarian Crisis of 1956 is the first analytical monograph in English drawing on new archival collections from East Bloc countries to reinterpret decision making during this Cold War crisis. Johanna Granville selects four key patterns of misperception as laid out by Columbia University political scientist Robert Jervis and shows how these patterns prevailed in the military crackdown and in other countries' reactions to it. Granville perceptively examines the statements and actions of Soviet Presidium members, the Hungarian leadership, U.S. policy makers and even Yugoslav and Polish leaders. According to Granville, Soviet first secretary Nikita Khrushchev zigzagged ineptly between policy options with apparently little or no analysis of costs and risks, permitting Moscow's Eastern European satellites at times to subtly manipulate the Kremlin's decision making. Granville's discussions of Polish policy, Yugoslav actions and the arduous process of normalization after the uprising show that the Soviets were preoccupied with stemming what many of them construed as a Western encouraged attempt to undermine Eastern Europe's communist regimes. Granville concludes that the United States bears some responsibility for the events of 1956 as ill-advised U.S. covert actions may have convinced the Soviet leaders that the United States was attempting to weaken Soviet hegemony over Eastern Europe, although the Eisenhower administration actually intended only to sow confusion and dissatisfaction. This masterful study leads to the conclusion that the Hungarian Crisis in 1956 was most likely sustained by self-perpetuating misperceptions and suspicions among key countries. In short, Granville's multi-archival research tends to confirm the post-revisionists' theory about the Cold War: it was everyone's fault and no one's fault. It resulted from the emerging bipolar structure of the international system, the power vacuum in Europe's center and spiraling misconceptions.

In Touch with Industry, 1999 Television in Turkey Yeşim Kaptan, Ece Algan, 2020-09-03. This edited collection takes a timely and comprehensive approach to understanding Turkey's television, which has become a global growth industry in the last decade by reconsidering its geopolitics within both national and transnational contexts. The Turkish television industry along with audiences and content are contextualised within the socio-cultural and historical developments of global neoliberalism, transnational flows, the rise of authoritarianism, nationalism and Islamism. Moving away from Anglo-American perspectives, the book analyzes both local and global processes of television.
