Shweder, 1996-08 Studies of human development have taken an ethnographic turn in the 1990s In this volume leading anthropologists psychologists and sociologists discuss how qualitative methodologies have strengthened our understanding of cognitive emotional and behavioral development and of the difficulties of growing up in contemporary society Part 1 informed by a post positivist philosophy of science argues for the validity of ethnographic knowledge Part 2 examines a range of qualitative methods from participant observation to the hermeneutic elaboration of texts In Part 3 ethnographic methods are applied to issues of human development across the life span and to social problems including poverty racial and ethnic marginality and crime Restoring ethnographic methods to a central place in social inquiry these twenty two lively essays will interest everyone concerned with the epistemological problems of context meaning and subjectivity in the behavioral sciences

Wakinyan Zi Tiospaye Helene E. Hagan, 2021-08-13 The long history of the Black Hills controversy between the Sioux Nation and the U S Government involved Yellow Thunder Camp While the issue has been amply analyzed in many books it has never been related by someone like this author It is a first hand account the writer lived at YTC attended court proceedings and established solid friendships with Lakota individuals In addition to years of research into the Lakota culture she worked with elders throughout the reservation and was accepted as associate member of the Pine Ridge Grey Eagle Society She joined them in visits of Black Hills sacred sites Cultural Anthropology Roger M. Keesing, 1981 American Book Publishing Record, 1996 Catalogue: Authors Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. Library, 1963 Its outstanding feature is the inclusion of journal articles For more than 50 years the periodicals have been indexed as well as compilations such as Festschriften and the proceedings of congresses The Psychosocial Interior of the Family Gerald Handel, Gail G. Whitchurch, 1994 This long awaited fourth edition has the same goal as the preceding editions to understand families in terms of the kinds of interaction through which family life is constructed The changes in the family as an institution have influenced these processes just as they have influenced the ways we understand and write about them But even in these postmodern circumstances an underlying premise of the volume is that two partners establish a family because they have selected each other as distinctively meaningful to one another They will affirm modify elaborate or retreat from various aspects of the relationship through interaction over time and in changing circumstances This volume contains the best available interdisciplinary work on the social psychology of the family More than half of the selections are new to this edition which incorporates a variety of theoretical and research perspectives that provide the reader with a range of authoritative and up to date sources on the family and interpersonal relations The newer forms of family organization that have emerged in the more recent literature specifically single parent families stepfamilies and families of gay and lesbian domestic partners are included Authors have been drawn from a variety of disciplines including sociology communication family studies human development psychology anthropology and social work

Handbook of Cross-cultural Psychology: Theory and method John W. Berry,Ype H. Poortinga,Janak Pandey,1997 Part of a set containing the contributions of authors from a variety of nations cultures traditions and perspectives this volume offers an up to date assessment of theoretical developments and methodological issues in the rapidly evolving area of cross cultural psychology Monographic Series

Ruby,2016-11-11 Like Conrad s Marlow whose tale of journeying into the heart of darkness gives us as much insight into one man s personality as it does into the mysteries of the dark world he explored so the anthropologist s record of another culture contains more than objective scientific data about his investigation Embedded within it are clues to the personality of anthropology itself the attitudes approaches even prejudices that at any given stage in history are inextricable from the ideology of the anthropologist Therefore the mirror he holds up to show us another culture can never be a perfect one His own professional attitude toward his subject as well as his choice of medium are factors that create cracks in the mirror of anthropology through which we believe we view the life of other cultures Hence the concept of reflexivity and the striving to recognize how it warps in the portrayal of anthropological truth lie at the core of the twelve finely wrought essays collected in this volume Wide ranging in geography as well as viewpoint they highlight various methods and media film ethnography text through which an anthropologist chooses to portray a culture and the various forms such as art theater and ritual through which a culture portrays itself Recognizing the link between these two processes provides the key to cultural and methodological self awareness Reflexivity is defined and clarified in the introduction and in three of the essays and the remaining nine essays evince the principle through fieldwork and startling case studies Essays by Jay Ruby and Eric Michaels shed new light on the enormous potential of film and video showing how a form generally thought to be nonscientific can in fact give fresh insight into the scientific premises underlying the discipline's methodology Essays by Barbara Babcock and Carol Ann Parssinen focus on the novel and ethnography examining existing works Anthropologists as well as students of film art and theater will find that this intriguing work begins to redefine traditional distinctions between science and the arts and brings to light fresh resources that are utilized in the search for anthropological truth Contributors Richard Schechner Victor Turner Barbara Myerhoff Jay Ruby Eric Michaels Dennis Tedlock George Marcus Paul Rabinow Barbara Babcock Carol Ann Parssinen and Dan Rose

Fieldwork Bruce Jackson, 1987 Fieldwork deals with the practical mechanical ethical and theoretical aspects of collecting data Jackson discusses how fieldworkers define their role how they relate to others in the field and how they go about recording for later use what occurred in their presence This treatment offers an abundance of useful information to those who do folklore fieldwork as well as those who work in any of the other social sciences or humanities An appendix relates the author's own experiences while documenting Texas's death row

Our Common Denominator Christoph Antweiler, 2016-04-01 Since the politicization of anthropology in the 1970s most anthropologists have been reluctant to approach the topic of universals that is phenomena that occur regularly in all known human societies In this volume Christoph Antweiler reasserts the importance of these cross cultural commonalities for anthropological research and for life and co existence beyond the academy The question presented here is how anthropology can help us approach humanity in its entirety understanding the world less as a globe with an emphasis on differences but as a planet from a vantage point open to commonalities

Performing Religion Gregory F. Barz, 2016-08-09 Performing Religion considers issues related to Tanzanian kwayas KiSwahili choirs musical communities most often affiliated with Christian churches and the music they make known as nyimbo za kwaya choir songs or muziki wa kwaya choir music The analytical approach adopted in this text focusing on the communities of kwaya is one frequently used in the fields of ethnomusicology religious studies culture studies and philosophy for understanding diversified social processes consciousness By invoking consciousness an attempt is made to represent the ways seemingly disparate traditions coexist thrive and continue within contemporary kwaya performance An East African kwaya is a community that gathers several times each week to define its spirituality musically Members of kwayas come together to sing to pray to support individual members in times of need and to both learn and pass along new and inherited faith traditions Kwayas negotiate between multiple musical traditions or just as often they reject an inherited musical system while others may continue to engage musical repertoires from both Europe and Africa Contemporary kwayas comfortably coexist in the urban musical soundscape of coastal Dar es Salaam along with jazz dance bands taarab ensembles ngoma performance groups Hindi film music rap reggae and the constant influx of recorded American and European popular musics This ethnography calls into question terms frequently used to draw tight boundaries around the study of the arts in African expressive religious cultures Such divisions of the arts present well defended boundaries and borders that are not sufficient for understanding the change adaptation preservation and integration that occur within a Tanzanian kwaya Boundaries break down within the everyday performance of East African kwayas such as Kwaya ya Upendo The Love Choir in Dar es Salaam as repertoires traditions histories and cultures interact within a performance of social identity      Avant-garde Jazz Musicians David Glen Such,1993
