boundaries in the twentieth century the study of the dynamics of geography broadly conceived promises to provide insight into the contested development of the geographical entity which we today call China Geographical Perspective ,1996

Yes in Korea Walter C. Clemens Jr, 2015-11-17 President George W Bush had pinned North Korea to an axis of evil but then neglected Pyongyang until it tested a nuclear device Would the new administration make similar mistakes When the Clinton White House prepared to bomb North Korea's nuclear facilities private citizen Jimmy Carter mediated to avert war and set the stage for a deal freezing North Korea's plutonium production The 1994 Agreed Framework collapsed after eight years but when Pyongyang went critical the negotiations got serious Each time the parties advanced one or two steps however their advance seemed to spawn one or two steps backward Clemens distills lessons from U S negotiations with North Korea Russia China and Libya and analyses how they do and do not apply to six party and bilateral talks with North Korea in a new political era International Perspectives on Organizational Behavior and Human Resource Management Betty

Identity Change and Foreign Policy Linus Hagstrom, 2015-10-05 Identity has become an explicit focus of International Relations theory in the past two to three decades with one case attracting and puzzling many early identity scholars Japan These constructivist scholars typically ascribed Japan a pacifist or antimilitarist identity an identity which they believed was constructed through the adherence to peaceful norms and antimilitarist culture Due to the alleged resilience of such adherences little change in Japan's identity and its international relations was predicted However in recent years Japan's foreign and security policies have begun to change in spite of these seemingly stable norms and culture This book seeks to address these changes through a pioneering engagement with recent developments in identity theory In particular most chapters theorize identity as a product of processes of differentiation Through detailed case analysis they argue that Japan's identity is produced and reproduced but also transformed through the drawing of boundaries between self and other In particular they stress the role of emotions and identity entrepreneurs as catalysts for identity change With the current balance between resilience and change contributors emphasize that more drastic foreign and security policy transformations might loom just beyond the horizon This book was originally published as a special issue of The Pacific Review
