North Of Tourism:

Tourism in Peripheral Areas Frances Brown, Derek Hall, 2000-08-31 There has been little research on tourism in those European countries or regions which lie outside the continent's main centres of production and population even though tourism may be one of the few economic options open to them This volume aims to fill a gap by presenting a range of case studies including northern Sweden the Orkneys the tip of Norway and northern Cyprus on tourism in the peripheral areas of Europe Taking as a leitmotiv the paradoxes inherent in developing places whose very attraction may lie in their lack of development the case studies investigate and illustrate both the opportunities and the threats that tourism presents to peripheral areas Although they share certain similarities the cases also demonstrate differing approaches to tourism development and varying outcomes over time They suggest solutions for dealing with for example community participation as well as providing practical insights into visitor perceptions of peripheral areas and into ways of marketing such areas in a sensitive manner Together they provide a picture of the needs of peripheral areas and of how far and how best tourism can fulfil those needs

Marketing Island Destinations Acolle Lewis-Cameron, Sherma Roberts, 2010-10-13 Over the past three decades tourism has emerged as a major force in the global economy with most countries whether developed or developing having increasing opportunities to participate as both host and guest in this socioeconomic phenomenon Competition for a share of the tourism market has intensified as rapid tourism developments have been undertaken by various destinations in an attempt to reap those economic benefits from one of the world's leading industries The growth in tourism has propelled significant changes in the way in which destinations are managed and marketed The challenge for many small island destinations is how to become or remain competitive It is against this background that destination marketing has assumed the critical role of ensuring that the destination lifecycle does not enter into a stage of saturation and decline and the destination is able to adapt to the changing marketplace seize opportunities and sustain its vitality This book takes a holistic approach and considers marketing from a macro perspective from the view of the destination

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13 Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years Given the economic social and environmental importance of tourism in the region there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism development both now and in the foreseeable future This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism which is marked by a high proportion of intra regional travel The book is divided into five sections This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions South East Asia South and Central Asia and East and North East Asia providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future

Indigenous People and Economic Development Katia Iankova, Azizul Hassan, Rachel L'Abbe, 2016-03-22. Indigenous peoples are an intrinsic part of countries like Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Finland, USA, India, Russia and almost all parts of South America and Africa. A considerable amount of research has been done during the twentieth century, mainly by anthropologists, sociologists and linguists, in order to describe and document their traditional life style for the protection and safeguarding of their established knowledge, skills, languages and beliefs. These communities are engaging and adapting rapidly to the changing circumstances, partly caused by post modernisation and the process of globalization. These have led them to aspire to better living standards as well as preserving their uniqueness, approaches to environment, close proximity to social structures and communities. For at least the last two decades, patterns of increased economic activity by indigenous peoples in many countries have been viewed to be significantly on the rise. Indigenous People and Economic Development reveals some of the characteristics of this economic activity, coloured by the unique regard and philosophy of life that indigenous people around the world have. The successes difficulties and obstacles to economic development their solutions and innovative practices in business all of these elements based on research findings are discussed in this book and offer an inside view of the dynamics of the indigenous societies which are evolving in a globalised and highly interconnected contemporary world Tourism Management in Southern Africa, 2003 Advances in Tourism, Technology and Systems António Abreu, João Vidal Carvalho, Dália Liberato, Iván Suazo Galdames, 2023-06-18 This book features a collection of high quality research papers presented at the International Conference on Tourism Technology and Systems ICOTTS 2022 held at University of Chile Santiago de Chile Chile from 3 to 5 November 2022 The book is divided into two volumes and it covers the areas of technology in tourism and the tourist experience generations and technology in tourism digital marketing applied to tourism and travel mobile technologies applied to sustainable tourism information technologies in tourism digital transformation of tourism business e tourism and tourism 2 0 big data and management for travel and tourism geotagging and tourist mobility smart destinations robotics in tourism and information systems and technologies Gender, Work and Tourism M Thea Sinclair, M. The Nature of Politics Annette A. LaRocco, 2024-04-16 This case study of Botswana focuses on the state building qualities of biodiversity conservation in southern Africa Drawing on extensive fieldwork Annette A LaRocco argues that discourses and practices related to biodiversity conservation are essential to state building in the postcolonial era These discourses and practices invoke the ways the state exerts authority over people places and resources enacts and remakes territorial control crafts notions of ideal citizenship and identity and structures economic relationships at the local national and global levels The book's key innovation is its conceptualization of the conservation estate a term most often used as an apolitical descriptor denoting land set aside for the purpose of conservation LaRocco argues that this description is inadequate and proposes a novel and much needed alternative definition that is tied to its political elements The components of conservation control over land policing of human behavior and structuring of the authority that allows or disallows certain subjectivities render conservation a political phenomenon that can be analyzed separately from considerations of nature or wildlife In doing so it addresses a gap in the scholarship of rural African politics which focuses overwhelmingly on productive agrarian dynamics and often fails to recognize that land nonuse can be as politically significant and wide reaching as land use Botswana is an ideal empirical case study upon which to base these theoretical claims With 39 percent of its land set aside for conservation Botswana is home to large populations of wildlife particularly charismatic megafauna such as the largest herd of elephants on the continent Utilizing more than two hundred interviews participant observation and document analysis this book examines a series of conservation policies and their reception by people living on the conservation estate These phenomena include securitized antipoaching enforcement a national hunting ban 2014 19 restrictions on using wildlife products forced evictions from conservation areas limitations on mobility and freedom of movement the political economy of Botswana's wildlife tourism industry and the conservation of globally important charismatic megafauna species
