Weinstein, 1982      French and Japanese Economic Relations with Vietnam Since 1975 Henrich Dahm, 2021-12-27 This book first published in 1999 compares the strategies of France and Japan in trying to win economic and political influence in the newly emerging Vietnam which opened to the international community only after the Vietnamese Communist Party had started economic reforms in 1986 These reforms are aimed at transforming the country's centrally planned economy into a government controlled market economy and at opening Vietnam to foreign capital technology and know how This setting provides a unique opportunity for comparing the strategies of two nations from different continents in conducting their economic relations with a unified Vietnam      The Environmental Dimension of Asian Security In-t'aek Hyŏn, Miranda Alice Schreurs, 2007 Northeast Asia is a region with highly disparate levels of industrialization and political systems It also contains some very troubling security flashpoints the Taiwan Strait the Korean Peninsula and the East China Sea China's rapacious quest for energy and rapid industrial expansion have led to intense international competition with Japan and the United States and internal instability as well North Korea poses two distinct environmental security threats famine refugees and the regime's use of nuclear blackmail for subsidized energy Yet there is very little regional cooperation despite the need to manage disputes over energy natural resources and pervasive pollution The Environmental Dimension of Asian Security examines these issues through a regional environmental security complex that explores the potential for greater intersubjective understandings of regional environmental and natural resource problems and greater institutional collaboration and management      Security, Arms Control, and Conflict Reduction in East Asia and the Pacific, 1993-07-30 This is the most comprehensive bibliography to date on the vast English language literature covering the myriad aspects of peace and security issues in the East Asia Pacific region McClean contacted 150 key research institutions and publishers around the world for information about the most significant books articles dissertations and official documents on international and intra state security arms control conflict avoiding diplomacy and militarization in the area He has selectively annotated 12 645 cross referenced entries and organized them into 27 sub regional and country chapters including two particularly extensive chapters on Japan and China and two further chapters on relations between Australia New Zealand and the United States and on U S and Soviet policy      Neorealism Versus Strategic Culture John Glenn, 2018-01-18 The debate between Neorealists and Strategic Culturalists centres on whether it is possible to explain predict state behaviour without taking into account the particular characteristics of the state such as its historical experiences geographical context and cultural constitution This informative debate is encapsulated in the first section of the book which considers the theoretical issues raised by both Neorealism and Strategic Culture These issues are then explored

in the second section by assessing their relevance to six country case studies Australia Germany India Japan Nigeria and Russia

Japan's Defense Policy and Bureaucratic Politics, 1976-2007 Takao Sebata, 2010-06-05 It is a well known fact that Japan spends only a small percentage of her gross national product on defense What is not well known however is the fact that Japan's defense budget ranks among the top in the world and that her self defense forces are considered to be amongst the best conventional armed forces in the world Since empirical studies concerning Japan's military expansion are rare both in Japanese and English the book takes up this neglected area It examines Japan's military expansion and the decision making of her defense policy between 1976 and 2007 focusing on the National Defense Program outline and the guidelines for United States Japan Defense Cooperation This book deals with how the bureaucratic politics model applies to the case of Japan's defense policy and demonstrates some similarities and differences between Japanese and United States decision making

Bracken, 1989 This Note reprinted from The Washington Quarterly Vol 11 No 4 Autumn 1988 discusses the issues surrounding the deterrence and management of crises in Northeast Asia and the regional strategic consequences of such crises The author discusses the relationship between crises and political stability in Northeast Asia and concludes that the danger of rocking the boat too much even well short of war is a potential source of fundamental change in the region Premeditated attack seems unlikely for the foreseeable future Gradual strategic realignments also appear to have little chance of fundamentally upsetting the power balance Assessments of stability in Northeast Asia that exclude the possibility of limited displays of force in a crisis are incomplete and overlook some of the more likely and possibly larger dynamics of change in the region
