H. W.. Janson,1966 A Short History of the Renaissance in Northern Europe Malcolm Vale,2020-04-02 The concept of a Renaissance in the arts in thought and in more general culture North of the Alps often evokes the idea of a cultural transplant which was not indigenous to or rooted in the society from which it emerged Classic definitions of the European Renaissance during the 14th 15th and 16th centuries have seen it as what was in effect an Italian import into the Gothic North Yet there were certainly differences divergences and dichotomies between North and South which have to be addressed Here Malcolm Vale argues for a Northern Renaissance which while cognisant of Italian developments displayed strong continuities with the indigenous cultures of northern Europe But it also contributed novelties and innovations which often tended to stem from and build upon those continuities A Short History of the Renaissance in Northern Europe while in no way ignoring or diminishing the importance of the Hellenic and Roman legacy seeks other sources and different uses of classical antiquity for a rather different kind of Renaissance if such it was in the North Medieval Illuminators and Their Methods of Work Jonathan James Graham Alexander,1992-01-01 Who were the medieval illuminators How were their hand produced books illustrated and decorated In this beautiful book Jonathan Alexander presents a survey of manuscript illumination throughout Europe from the fourth to the sixteenth century He discusses the social and historical context of the illuminators lives considers their methods of work and presents a series of case studies to show the range and nature of the visual sources and the ways in which they were adapted copied or created anew Alexander explains that in the early period Christian monasteries and churches were the main centers for the copying of manuscripts and so the majority of illuminators were monks working in and for their own monasteries From the eleventh century lay scribes and illuminators became increasingly numerous and by the thirteenth century professional illuminators dominated the field During this later period illuminators were able to travel in search of work and to acquire new ideas they joined guilds with scribes or with artists in the cities and their ranks included nuns and secular women Work was regularly collaborative and the craft was learned through an apprenticeship system Alexander carefully analyzes surviving manuscripts and medieval treatises in order to explain the complex and time consuming technical processes of illumination its materials methods tools choice of illustration and execution From rare surviving contracts he deduces the preoccupation of patrons with materials and schedules Illustrating his discussion with examples chosen from religious and secular manuscripts made all over Europe Alexander recreates the astonishing variety and creativity of medieval illumination His book will be a standard reference for years to examines the early graphic practice of the preeminent northern Baroque painter Peter Paul Rubens Flemish 1577 1640 in light of early modern traditions of eloquence particularly as promoted in the late sixteenth and early seventeenth century Flemish Neostoic circles of philologist Justus Lipsius 1547 1606 Focusing on the roles that rhetorical and pedagogical considerations played in the artist's approach to disegno during and following his formative Roman period 1600 08 this volume highlights Rubens's high ambitions for the intimate medium of drawing as a primary site for generating meaningful and original ideas for his larger artistic enterprise As in the Lipsian realm of writing personal letters the humanist activity then described as a cognate activity to the practice of drawing a Senecan approach to eclecticism a commitment to emulation and an Aristotelian concern for joining form to content all played important roles Two chapter long studies of individual drawings serve to demonstrate the relevance of these interdisciplinary rhetorical concerns to Rubens's early practice of drawing Focusing on Rubens's Medea Fleeing with Her Dead Children Los Angeles Getty Museum and Kneeling Man Rotterdam Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen these close looking case studies demonstrate Rubens's commitments to creating new models of eloquent drawing and to highlighting his own status as an inimitable maker Demonstrating the force and quality of Rubens's intellect in the medium then most associated with the closest ideas of the artist such designs were arguably created as more robust pedagogical and preparatory models that could help strengthen art itself for a new and often troubled age

The Troyes Mémoire Tina Kane, 2010 First English translation of a late fifteenth century manuscript containing instructions for designing a medieval tapestry the only such to survive The Troyes Mémoire a late fifteenth century manuscript preserved in the archives of the town of Troyes France is the sole surviving example of the written instructions used in designing tapestries during the Middle Ages It is unique in its presentation of detailed information on how patrons and church officials communicated complex iconographic material to the medieval artists commissioned to paint cartoons for tapestries It is here translated into English for the first time with full introduction and extensive notes The volume also includes a translation of another richly informative document from medieval Troyes the Account Books of the Church of Sainte Madeleine which introduces us to the actual people who worked together between 1416 and 1430 to produce a set of tapestries for the town's oldest church They shed important new light on an era when tapestry represented a supreme form of art Tina Kane is Conservator Metropolitan Museum of Art Department of Textile Conservation Bulletin - Museums of Art and Archaeology, University of Michigan University of Michigan. From Lived Experience to the Written Word Pamela H. Smith, 2022-09-30 How and why early modern European artisans began to record their knowledge In From Lived Experience to the Written Word Pamela H. Smith considers how and why beginning in 1400 CE European craftspeople began to write down their making practices Rather than simply passing along knowledge in the workshop these literate artisans chose to publish handbooks guides treatises tip sheets graphs and recipe books sparking early technical writing and laying the groundwork for how we think about scientific knowledge today Focusing on metalworking from 1400-1800 CE Smith looks at the nature of craft knowledge and skill studying present day and historical practices objects recipes and artisanal manuals From these sources she considers how we can reconstruct centuries of largely lost knowledge In doing so she aims not only to unearth the techniques material processes and embodied experience of the past but also to gain insight into the lifeworld of artisans and their understandings of matter

Flemish and Dutch Artists in Early Modern England Mary Bryan H. Curd, 2017-07-05 By examining their production practices in a variety of genres including manuscript illustration glass painting and staining tapestry manufacture portrait painting and engraving this book explores how Netherlandish artists migrating to England in the early modern period overcame difficulties raised by their outsider status This study examines for the first time in this context the challenges of alien status to artistic production and the effectiveness of cooperation as a countermeasure The author demonstrates that collaboration was chief among the strategies that these foreigners chose to secure a position in London's changing art market Curd's exploration of these collaborations primarily follows Pierre Bourdieu's model of establishment and challenger in which dominance in a field of cultural production depends upon how much cultural political and economic capital can be accumulated and the effectiveness of the strategies used to confront competition The analysis presented here challenges received opinion that a collaborative work is only a joint effort of artists working together on a single monument by demonstrating that the participation of patrons and middlemen can also shape the final appearance of a work of art Furthermore this book shows that the strategic use of collaboration served the goal of competition by helping to establish foreign artists in the London art market and suggests that their coping strategies have implications for the study of immigrant behaviors today

The "Divine" Guido Richard E. Spear, Guido Reni, 1997-01-01 In this highly original study of Italian baroque master Guido Reni 1575-1642 Richard Spear paints a compelling portrait of the artist his complexities his formative experiences his cultural surroundings and his unique sensibilities Spear views Reni's career from a wide variety of perspectives and sets his life and works in social economic historical artistic religious and psychological contexts The author focuses first on Reni's peculiar character a man at once deeply religious rabidly misogynist reportedly virginal neurotically fearful of witches and addicted to gambling The author considers the enduring charisma of Reni's Crucifixions weeping Marys and repentant saints in the light of the Catholic doctrinal meaning of grace in Reni's time the Church's attitude toward Mary and women and the gendered implications of visual grace Chapters on Reni's pricing policies selling strategies use of assistants and attitude toward what constituted an original expose the motivating importance of money for Reni and the concerns even among seventeenth century collectors about how to distinguish original paintings from studio replicas or copies The book investigates the ways renaissance and baroque attitudes toward art making affected Reni and closes with a fresh view of Reni's unfinished canvases and last style including the Divine Love the beautiful and unusual painting that remained in Reni's studio at the time of his death

Shaping the Netherlandish Canon Walter S. Melion, 1991 A treatise on Dutch art on par with Vasari's critical history of Italian art Karel van Mander's Schilder Boeck or Book on Picturing has long been recognized for its critical and historical influence and yet until now no comprehensive account of the book's conception aims and impact has been available In this in depth analysis of the content and context of Van Mander's work Walter S. Melion reveals the Schilder Boeck's central importance to an understanding of northern Renaissance and Baroque art By interpreting the terminology employed in the Schilder Boeck Melion establishes the text's relationship to past and contemporary art theory Van Mander is seen here developing his critical categories and then applying them to Ancient Italian and Netherlandish artists in order to mark changes within a culture and to characterize excellence for each region Thus Melion demonstrates how Van Mander revised both the structure and critical language of Vasari's Lives to refute the Italian's claims for the superiority of the Tuscan style and to clarify northern artistic traditions and the concerns of Netherlandish artists A much needed corrective to the view that Dutch art of the period was lacking in theory Melion's work offers a compelling account of a sixteenth and seventeenth century theoretical and critical perspective and shows how this perspective suggests a rereading of northern art
