Northern Irish Stereotypes:

Northern Irish Stereotypes Edward Eugene O'Donnell, 1977 Irish Stereotype in American Cinema Piotr Szczypa, 2021-08-04 Discussing the role of violence in the Irish stereotype this book is a fascinating story of the changing perception of the Irish in America as told by American cinema From Levi and Cohen Irish Comedians 1903 to The Irishman 2019 some of the productions analyzed here are timeless classics others have almost been forgotten What they have in common is the presence of violence as the key ingredient in the construction of Irish characters In his insightful study Piotr Szczypa employs imagological perspective to investigate the evolution of their portrayal in American films showing not only how the Irish have adjusted to America but also how America has embraced Irishness Interpreting Northern Ireland John Whyte, 1991-10-03 Relative to its size Northern Ireland is possibly the most heavily researched area on earth hundreds of books and thousands of articles have been published since the current troubles began in the mid 1960s John Whyte had been studying Northern Ireland since the mid 1960s In Interpreting Northern Ireland he provides a badly needed guide to the mass of literature and comment In Part I he surveys the research on the nature and extent of the community divide examining in turn the religious economic political and psychological aspects of the issue In Part II he discusses ideological interpretations of the Northern Ireland problem from unionist and nationalist to Marxist In the final section of the book he surveys the various solutions that have been proposed and looks critically at what the mass of research has achieved He suggests that if it has not achieved more it may be because it has sometimes asked the wrong questions Evangelicalism and National Identity in Ulster, 1921-1998 Patrick Mitchel, 2003-10-30 Evangelical Protestantism in Ulster is the most influential and historically significant sector of Christianity in Northern Ireland This innovative and controversial book explores different Evangelical responses to the declining fate of Ulster Unionism during the period from Partition in 1921 to the 1998 Good Friday Agreement Focusing on how religious belief has interacted with national identity in a context of political conflict it eschews a reductionist or purely historical approach to interpreting religion Rather using a combination of historical and theological material Patrick Mitchel offers a critical assessment of how Evangelical identities in Ulster have embodied the religious beliefs and values to which they subscribe Evangelical Protestantism is often associated only with the Orange Order and with the controversial figure of Ian Paisley This book's fresh analysis of a spectrum of Evangelical opinion including the frequently overlooked moderate Evangelicals provides a more rounded picture that shows why and how Evangelical Christians in Ulster are deeply divided over politics national identity and the current Peace Process Patrick Mitchel concludes with a critical assessment of the political and theological challenges facing different Evangelical identities in the context of identity conflict in Northern Ireland This is an invaluable guide to understanding both the past and contemporary mindset of Ulster Protestantism Strangers, Migrants, Exiles Frauke Reitemeier, 2012 Inside European Identities Sharon Macdonald, 2020-08-27 Following recent events in Eastern Europe questions surrounding

European identity seem more pressing than ever This volume explores through a series of ethnographic case studies the construction and experience of identities in Western Europe All of the case studies are based on fieldwork and in geographical scope range from Wales to the Basque country from Corsica to the Lake District The peoples they look at are similarly diverse nationalists and members of the Communist party rural and urban populations The essays illustrate the ways in which detailed ethnographic case studies can illuminate how identities are lived by ordinary people
