

A vintage black and white photograph showing a woman in equestrian attire riding a dark horse through a wooded area. Several dogs, likely foxhounds, are running alongside the horse. The scene is set in a forest with bare trees, suggesting a late autumn or winter setting. A large, leafless tree trunk is prominent on the right side of the image.

Northern Virginia Heritage Eleanor Lee Reading Templeman, Nan Netherton, 1966 The first compilation of historic sites and homes in the area totalled six hundred and fifty which were reduced to approximately four hundred and fifty The format of the book necessitated the omission of many interesting homes The selection shows a cross section of various types symbolizing different aspects of pioneer Colonial and Early Federal Life from cabins to mansions constructed of log clapboard brick and stone Included are pictures of several old homes which are now gone victims of the elements or the bulldozers Preface Northern Virginia Heritage ,1985 Northern Virginia Heritage Arlington Historical Society,1957

Herbert,2009-08-18 People with only a slight interest in history will enjoy these fascinating short and easy to understand stories Serious history buffs will like these lesser known episodes not the stories we've heard a million times For example try to find anyone who knows about the attempted slave insurrection in Fairfax County Virginia With Mary Lincolns spending habits who knew that Abraham Lincoln actually saved an enormous percentage of his presidential salary A slave honored in Virginia with a monument the history of Lee Highway which opened with great fanfare in 1923 as a 3 000 mile road from Washington DC to San Diego a story about the Little River Turnpike the second oldest turnpike in America built partly by slaves and captured Hessian soldiers You'll read about two Civil War ships that collided in the Potomac River Victims included wounded soldiers wives and one soldiers six year old son You'll read a great account of the massive Civil War corruption You'll learn about the disastrous condition of the treasury sound familiar during the Revolutionary War The government tried everything including a lottery to get the country afloat in a sea of red ink But the most fascinating story may be about the Revolutionary War soldier who faked his own desertion to defect to the enemy with the highly secretive mission of going behind enemy lines to capture and return for trial the worst traitor in American history Benedict Arnold Bet you never heard of this story There are many other stories in this eclectic heavily researched manuscript There's a story about the Christmas Truce in World War One about long forgotten holidays in Virginia about the retrocession which sent an area of Washington back to Virginia in 1846 and about the impeachment of a Supreme Court justice it happened only once And more Schooling the Freed People Ronald E. Butchart,2010 Conventional Wisdom Holds that freedmen's education was largely the work of privileged single white northern women motivated by evangelical beliefs and abolitionism Schooling the Freed People shatters this notion entirely For the most comprehensive study of the origins of black education in freedom ever undertaken Ronald Butchart combed the archives of all of the freedmen's aid organizations as well as the archives of every southern state to compile a vast database of over 11 600 individuals who taught in southern black schools between 1861 and 1876 Based on this pathbreaking research he reaches some surprising conclusions one third of the teachers were African Americans black teachers taught longer than white teachers half of the teachers were southerners and even the northern teachers were more diverse than previously imagined His evidence demonstrates that evangelicalism contributed much less than previously believed to white teachers commitment to black students that abolitionism was a relatively small factor in motivating the teachers and that on the whole the teachers ideas and aspirations about their work often ran counter to the aspirations of the freed people for Schooling The crowning achievement of a veteran scholar this is the definitive book on freedmen s teachers in the South as well as an outstanding contribution to social history and our understanding of African American education Civil War Sites and Scenes in Northern Virginia Howard R. Crouch,2003 The Bicentennial of the United States of America American Revolution Bicentennial Administration,1977 Life in Black and White Brenda E. Stevenson,1997-11-06 Life in the old South has always fascinated Americans whether in the mythical portrayals of the planter elite from fiction such as Gone With the Wind or in historical studies that look inside the slave cabin Now Brenda E Stevenson presents a reality far more gripping than popular legend even as she challenges the conventional wisdom of academic historians Life in Black and White provides a panoramic portrait of family and community life in and around Loudoun County Virginia weaving the fascinating personal stories of planters and slaves of free blacks and poor to middling whites into a powerful portrait of southern society from the mid eighteenth century to the Civil War Loudoun County and its vicinity encapsulated the full sweep of southern life Here the region s most illustrious families the Lees Masons Carters Monroes and Peytons helped forge southern traditions and attitudes that became characteristic of the entire region while mingling with yeoman farmers of German Scotch Irish and Irish descent and free black families who lived alongside abolitionist Quakers and thousands of slaves Stevenson brilliantly recounts their stories as she builds the complex picture of their intertwined lives revealing how their combined histories guaranteed Loudon s role in important state regional and national events and controversies Both the Declaration of Independence and the U S Constitution for example were hidden at a local plantation during the War of 1812 James Monroe wrote his famous Doctrine at his Loudon estate The area also was the birthplace of celebrated fugitive slave Daniel Dangerfield the home of John Janney chairman of the Virginia secession convention a center for Underground Railroad activities and the location of John Brown s infamous 1859 raid at Harpers Ferry In exploring the central role of the family Brenda Stevenson offers a wealth of insight we look into the lives of upper class women who bore the oppressive weight of marriage and motherhood as practiced in the South and the equally burdensome roles of their husbands whose honor was tied to their ability to support and lead regardless of their personal preference the yeoman farm family s struggle for respectability and the marginal economic existence of free blacks and its undermining influence on their family life Most important Stevenson breaks new ground in her depiction of slave family life Following the lead of historian Herbert Gutman

most scholars have accepted the idea that like white slaves embraced the nuclear family both as a living reality and an ideal Stevenson destroys this notion showing that the harsh realities of slavery even for those who belonged to such attentive masters as George Washington allowed little possibility of a nuclear family Far more important were extended kin networks and female headed households Meticulously researched insightful and moving Life in Black and White offers our most detailed portrait yet of the reality of southern life It forever changes our understanding of family and race relations during the reign of the peculiar institution in the American South      Discovering Modernism Louis Menand,2007-02-19 Shows how T S Eliot s early views on literary value and authenticity and his later repudiation of those views reflect the profound changes regarding the understanding of literature and its significance that occurred in the early part of the twentieth century      Historic Alexandria Ted Pulliam,2011      Arlington House, the Robert E.
