Northwest Passage The Quest For An Arctic Route To The East:

The Northwest Passage Edward Struzik, Mike Beedell, 1991 Northwest Passage Edward Struzik, 1991 Chronicles the successes and failures of legendary explorers including Martin Frobisher John Davis William Edward Parry and John Franklin Includes maps archival prints and photographs and colour photographs giving a contemporary view of the region s wildlife landscape and people Northwest Passage: The Quest for an Arctic Route To the East , The National Library of Canada presents a chronological timeline of the search for the Northwest passage to the Far East through North America by various explorers from the 15th to the 20th century Historical Dictionary of the Discovery and Exploration of the Northwest Passage Alan Day, 2006-01-03 This compendium of explorers navigators and expeditions tackles this broad topic with a convenient but extensive cross referenced dictionary A chronology traces the long succession of treks to find the passage the introduction helps explain what motivated them and the bibliography provides a means for those wishing to discover more information on this exciting subject Inuit Women Janet Mancini Billson, Kyra Mancini, 2007-04-09 Inuit Women is the definitive study of the Inuit during a time of rapid change Based on fourteen years of research and fieldwork this analysis focuses on the challenges facing Inuit women as they enter the twenty first century Written shortly after the creation of Nunavut a new province carved out of traditional Inuit homelands in the Canadian North this compelling book combines conclusions drawn from the authors ethnographic research with the stories of Inuit women and men told in their own words In addition to their presentation of the personal portraits and voices of many Inuit respondents Janet Mancini Billson and Kyra Mancini explore global issues the impact of rapid social change and Canadian resettlement policy on Inuit culture women s roles in society and gender relations in Baffin Island in the Eastern Arctic They also include an extensive section on how the newly created territory of Nunavut is impacting the lives of Inuit women and their families Working from a research approach grounded in feminist theory the authors involve their Inuit interviewees as full participants in the process This book stands alone in its attention to Inuit women s issues and lives and should be read by everyone interested in gender relations development modernization globalization and Inuit culture Anderson's Travel Companion Compiled by Sarah Anderson, 2016-12-05 A selection of the best in travel writing with both fiction and non fiction presented together this companion is for all those who like travelling like to think about travelling and who take an interest in their destination It covers guidebooks as well as books about food history art and architecture religion outdoor activities illustrated books autobiographies biographies and fiction and lists books both in and out of print Anderson s Travel Companion is arranged first by continent then alphabetically by country and then by subject cross referenced where necessary There is a separate section for guidebooks and comprehensive indexes Sarah Anderson founded the Travel Bookshop in 1979 and is also a journalist and writer on travel subjects She is known by well known travel writers such as Michael Palin and Colin Thubron Michael Palin chose her bookshop as his favourite shop and Colin Thubron and Geoffrey Moorhouse among others made suggestions for titles to include in the Travel Companion Our Ice Is Vanishing / Sikuvut Nungulitquq Shelley Wright, 2014-09-01 The Arctic is ruled by ice For Inuit it is a highway a hunting ground and the platform on which life is lived While the international community argues about sovereignty security and resource development at the top of the world the Inuit remind us that they are the original inhabitants of this magnificent place and that it is undergoing a dangerous transformation The Arctic ice is melting at an alarming rate and Inuit have become the direct witnesses and messengers of climate change Through an examination of Inuit history and culture alongside the experiences of newcomers to the Arctic seeking land wealth adventure and power Our Ice Is Vanishing describes the legacies of exploration intervention and resilience Combining scientific and legal information with political and individual perspectives Shelley Wright follows the history of the Canadian presence in the Arctic and shares her own journey in recollections and photographs presenting the far North as few people have seen it Climate change is redrawing the boundaries of what Inuit and non Inuit have learned to expect from our world Our Ice Is Vanishing demonstrates that we must engage with the knowledge of the Inuit in order to understand and negotiate issues of climate change and sovereignty claims in the region The Conquest of the Northwest Passage Harry Randall, 1907 Accounts of attempts to cross the Northwest Passage from the Atlantic Ocean through the Bering Strait to the Pacific Ocean and of the successful voyage by Roald Amundsen in the ship Gjøa 1903 1906

Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in

British and American studies Henry Hudson Jeff C. Young, 2009-01-01 Examines the life of explorer Henry Hudson including his quest for the elusive Northeast passage his discovery of the Hudson River and his mysterious death Provided by publisher English/British Naval History to 1815 Eugene L. Gerard Kenney 3-Book Bundle Gerard Kenney, 2017-12-04 Treacherous and remote the Arctic and the fabled Northwest Passage have long been elusive goals for explorers Gerard Kenney shares stories of exploration in the Arctic region This three book bundle includes Ships of Wood and Men of Iron A Norwegian Canadian Saga of Exploration in the High Arctic A history of explorations of the Arctic in Canada beginning with Otto Sverdrup's Norwegian expedition Dangerous Passage Issues in the Arctic The story of the opening up of the Northwest Passage and the ensuing potential risks to the Arctic environment and Canadian sovereignty are explored Lake of the Old Uncles Kenney recounts a journey that led him to build a log cabin on the small inaccessible Lake of Old Uncles and shares a personal philosophy inspired by Henry David Thoreau Encyclopedia of the Arctic Mark Nuttall, 2005-09-23 With detailed essays on the Arctic's environment wildlife climate history exploration resources economics politics indigenous cultures and languages conservation initiatives and more this Encyclopedia is the only major work and comprehensive reference on this vast complex changing and increasingly important part of the globe Including 305 maps This Encyclopedia is not only an interdisciplinary work of reference for all those involved in teaching or researching Arctic issues but a fascinating and comprehensive resource for residents of the Arctic and all those concerned with global environmental issues sustainability science and human interactions with the environment The Seaforth Bibliography Eugene Rasor, 2009-04-17 This remarkable work is a comprehensive historiographical and bibliographical survey of the most important scholarly and printed materials about the naval and maritime history of England and Great Britain from the earliest times to 1815 More than 4 000 popular standard and official histories important articles in journals and periodicals anthologies conference symposium and seminar papers guides documents and doctoral theses are covered so that the emphasis is the broadest possible But the work is far far more than a listing The works are all evaluated assessed and analysed and then integrated into an historical narrative that makes the book a hugely useful reference work for student scholar and enthusiast alike It is divided into twenty one chapters which cover resource centres significant naval writers pre eminent and general histories the chronological periods from Julius

Caesar through the Vikings Tudors and Stuarts to Nelson and Bligh major naval personalities warships piracy strategy and tactics exploration discovery and navigation archaeology and even naval fiction Quite simply no one with an interest and enthusiasm for naval history can afford to be without this book at their side

Decolonizing the Lens of Power Kerstin Knopf, 2008 This is the first book that comprehensively examines Indigenous filmmaking in North America as it analyzes in detail a variety of representative films by Canadian and US American Indigenous filmmakers two films that contextualize the oral tradition three short films and four dramatic films The book explores how members of colonized groups use the medium of film as a means for cultural and political expression and thus enter the dominant colonial film discourse and create an answering discourse The theoretical framework is developed as an interdisciplinary approach combining postcolonialism Indigenous studies and film studies As Indigenous people are gradually taking control over the imagemaking process in the area of film and video they cease being studied and described objects and become subjects who create self controlled images of Indigenous cultures The book explores the translatability of Indigenous oral tradition into film touching upon the changes the cultural knowledge is subject to in this process including statements of Indigenous filmmakers on this issue It also asks whether or not there is a definite Indigenous film practice and whether filmmakers tend to dissociate their work from dominant classical filmmaking adapt to it or create new film forms and styles through converging classical film conventions and their conscious violation This approach presupposes that Indigenous filmmakers are constantly in some state of reaction to Western ethnographic filmmaking and to classical narrative filmmaking and its epitome the Hollywood narrative cinema The films analyzed are The Road Allowance People by Maria Campbell Itam Hakim Hopiit by Victor Masayesva Talker by Lloyd Martell Tenacity and Smoke Signals by Chris Eyre Overweight With Crooked Teeth and Honey Moccasin by Shelley Niro Big Bear by Gil Cardinal and Atanarjuat The Fast Runner by Zacharias Kunuk
