Not Out Of Hate A Novel Of Burma:

Not Out of Hate Ma Ma Lay, 1991-05-01 Not Out of Hate published in Burmese in 1955 and set in 1939-42 was Ma Ma Lay's fifth novel and one that further cemented her status as one of twentieth century Burma's foremost writers and voices for change. A journalist by trade, Lay applied her straightforward observational style with compassion and purpose to the story of Way Way, a teenage village girl whose quiet life assisting her father in his rice brokerage business is disrupted by the arrival of U Saw Han, the cosmopolitan Burmese rice trader twenty years her senior. When she first encounters him, Way Way is entranced by his Western furnishings, servants, and mannerisms. The two marry, but before long it becomes clear that U Saw Han's love is a stifling one that seeks to obliterate her traditional ways. Not Out of Hate was enormously popular in Burma and went through several editions in the 1950s and 1960s. When Ohio University Press published its English translation in 1991, it became the first significant fictional account of prewar Burma available in English since George Orwell's Burmese Days and provided a Burmese counterpoint to Orwell's novel. Translated into English here for the first time, the novel is an engaging drama, finely observed work of social realism, and stirring rejection of Western cultural dominance. Not Out of

Hate Ma Ma Lay, 2006 The Female Voice of Myanmar Nilanjana Sengupta, 2015-12-09 The Female Voice of Myanmar seeks to offer a female perspective on the history and political evolution of Myanmar. It delves into the lives and works of four of Myanmar's remarkable women who set aside their lives to answer the call of their country: Khin Myo Chit, who spoke about latent sexual politics in pre-Independent Burma; Ludu Daw Amar, who as the editor of the leftist Ludu Daily was deemed anti-establishment and was witness to the socialist government's abortive efforts at ethnic reconciliation; Ma Thida, whose writing bears testimony to the impact the authoritative military rule had on the individual psyche; and Aung San Suu Kyi, who has rearticulated Burmese nationalism. This book breaks new ground in exploring their writing, both published and hitherto unexamined, some in English and much in Burmese, while the intimate biographical sketches offer a glimpse into the Burmese home and the shifting feminine image. Romancing Human Rights Tamara C. Ho, 2015-01-31 When the world thinks of Burma, it is often in relation to Nobel laureate and icon Aung San Suu Kyi. But beyond her is another world, one that complicates the overdetermination of Burma as a pariah state and myths about the high status of Southeast Asian women. Highlighting and critiquing this fraught terrain, Tamara C. Ho's Romancing Human Rights maps Burmese women as real and imagined figures across the twentieth century and into the twenty-first century. More than a recitation of on-the-ground facts, Ho's groundbreaking scholarship, the first monograph to examine Anglophone literature and dynamics of gender and race in relation to Burma, brings a critical lens to contemporary literature, film, and politics through the use of an innovative feminist/queer methodology. She crosses intellectual boundaries to illustrate how literary and gender analysis can contribute to discourses surrounding and informing human rights and, in the process, offers a new voice in the debates about representation, racialization, migration, and spirituality. Romancing Human Rights demonstrates how Burmese women break out of prisons both real and discursive by writing themselves into being Ho assembles an eclectic archive that includes George Orwell Aung San Suu Kyi critically acclaimed authors Ma Ma Lay and Wendy Law Yone and activist Zoya Phan Her close readings of literature and politicized performances by women in Burma the Burmese diaspora and the United States illuminate their contributions as authors cultural mediators and practitioner citizens Using flexible polyglot rhetorical tactics and embodied performances these authors creatively articulate alter native epistemologies regionally situated knowledges and decolonizing viewpoints that interrogate and destabilize competing transnational hegemonies such as U S moral imperialism and Asian militarized dictatorship Weaving together the fictional and non fictional Ho s gendered analysis makes Romancing Human Rights a unique cultural studies project that bridges postcolonial studies area studies and critical race ethnic studies a must read for those with an interest in fields of literature Asian and Asian American studies history politics religion and women s and gender studies

Women in Modern Burma Tharaphi Than, 2013-11-07 This book challenges the popular notion that Burmese women are powerful and are granted equal rights as men by society Throughout history Burmese women have been represented as powerful and as having equal status to men by western travellers and scholars alike National history about women also follows this conjecture This book explains why actually very few powerful Burmese women exist and how these few women help construct the notion of the high status of Burmese women thereby inevitably silencing the majority of unequal and disempowered women One of the underlying questions throughout this book is why a few powerful women feel compelled to defend the notion that women hold privileged positions in Burmese society Combining historical archives with statistical data published by UN agencies this book highlights the reality of women s status in modern Burma Case studies include why the first Burmese women s army was disbanded a few months after its establishment how women writers assessed the conditions of Burmese women and represented their contemporaries in their works the current state of prostitution how modern day sex workers are trying to find their voice and how women fared vis vis men in education

The Canon in Southeast Asian Literatures David Smyth, 2000. The literary canon is one of the most lively areas of debate in contemporary literary studies. This set of essays is both timely and original in its focus on the canon in South East Asian literatures covering Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Philippines, Thailand and Vietnam. They vary in focus from the broad panoramic survey of trends in a national literature to very specific discussions of the role of individuals in shaping a canon or the place of a particular text within a tradition and from contemporary to traditional literature. They include discussions of the development of prose fiction, censorship and artistic freedom, the role of westerners in codifying indigenous literatures, the writing of literary history, the development of literary criticism and indigenous aesthetics.

Historical Dictionary of Burma (Myanmar) Donald M. Seekins, 2017-03-27. Burma/Myanmar is a Southeast Asian country that is emerging from crisis after more than a half century of hard-line military rule and cultural, diplomatic and economic isolation. With the dissolution of its military regime, the State Peace and Development Council, in 2011 a formally civilian but military-dominated constitutional government was inaugurated. By 2012, Burma's president, retired General Thein Sein, had established a working relationship with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, the leader of the country's pro-democracy movement since 1988 and after a 2012 by-election she and members of her opposition party, the National League for Democracy (NLD), entered the new Union Parliament as legislators. However, even with the election victory of Daw Suu Kyi and the NLD in the General Election of November 2015, Burma faces daunting challenges; it is still one of the poorest countries in Southeast Asia, fissured by longstanding ethnic conflicts that have made a nationwide peace agreement elusive and its people's security and the environment are threatened by foreign economic exploitation. Religious discord is also widely evident as Buddhist militants instigate violence against the country's religious minorities, especially Muslims. Today Burma's prospects are the most hopeful they have been for over half a century as the country takes steps along the road to a more open society and economy. This edition of the Historical Dictionary of Burma/Myanmar encompasses not only current developments but also Burma's over 1,500 years old recorded history and the most important features of its cultures, ethnicity, religions, society and economy. This is done through a chronology, an introduction and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 700 cross-referenced entries on important personalities, politics, economy, foreign relations, religion and culture.

Your Madness, Not Mine Juliana Makuchi Abbenyi-Nfah, 1999-02-28. Women's writing in Cameroon has so far been dominated by Francophone writers The short stories in this collection represent the yearnings and vision of an Anglophone woman who writes both as a Cameroonian and as a woman whose life has been shaped by the minority status her people occupy within the nation state The stories in Your Madness Not Mine are about postcolonial Cameroon but especially about Cameroonian women who probe their day to day experiences of survival and empowerment as they deal with gender oppression from patriarchal expectations to the malaise of maldevelopment unemployment and the attraction of the West for young Cameroonians Makuchi has given us powerful portraits of the people of postcolonial Africa in the so called global village who too often go unseen and unheard

A Most Promising Weed Steven C. Rubert, 1998 Thousands of African men women and children worked on European owned tobacco farms in colonial Zimbabwe from 1890 to 1945 Contrary to some commonly held notions these people were not mere bystanders as European capitalism penetrated into Zimbabwe but helped to shape the work and the living conditions they encountered as they entered wage employment Steven Rubert's fine study draws on a rich variety of sources to illuminate the lives of these workers The central focus of the study is the organization of workers compounds the social relationships there and the labor of women and children paid and unpaid Rubert's findings indicate the beginnings of a moral economy on the tobacco farms prior to 1945

Refiguring Women, Colonialism, and Modernity in Burma Chie Ikeya, 2011-01-31 Refiguring Women Colonialism and Modernity in Burma presents the first study of one of the most prevalent and critical topics of public discourse in colonial Burma the woman of the khit kala the woman of the times who burst onto the covers and pages of novels newspapers and advertisements in the 1920s Educated and politicized earner and consumer Burmese and Westernized she embodied the possibilities and challenges of the modern era as well as the hopes and fears it evoked In Refiguring Women Chie Ikeya interrogates what these shifting and competing images of the feminine reveal about the experience of modernity in colonial Burma She marshals a wide range of hitherto unexamined Burmese language sources to analyze both the discursive figurations of the woman of the khit kala and the choices and actions of actual women who whether pursuing higher education becoming political or adopting new clothes and hairstyles unsettled existing norms and contributed to making the woman of the khit kala the privileged idiom for debating colonialism modernization and nationalism The first book length social history of Burma to utilize gender as a category of sustained analysis Refiguring Women challenges the reigning nationalist and anticolonial historical narratives of a conceptually and institutionally monolithic colonial modernity that made inevitable the rise of ethnonationalism and xenophobia in Burma The study demonstrates the irreducible heterogeneity of the colonial encounter and draws attention to the conjoined development of cosmopolitanism and nationalism Ikeya illuminates the important roles that Burmese men and women played as cultural brokers and agents of modernity She shows how their complex engagements with social reform feminism anticolonialism media and consumerism rearticulated the boundaries of belonging and foreignness in religious racial and ethnic terms Refiguring Women adds significantly to examinations of gender and race relations modernization and nationalism in colonized regions It will be of interest to a broad audience not least those working in the fields of Southeast Asian studies colonial and postcolonial studies cultural studies and women s and gender studies

Women in Asia Barbara N. Ramusack, Sharon L. Sievers, 1999-06-22 Barbara N Ramusack writes on South and Southeast Asia surveying both the prescriptive roles and the lived experiences of women as well as the construction of gender from early states to the 1990s Although both regions are home to Hindu Buddhist and Muslim religious traditions and had extended trade relations they reveal striking differences in the status and roles of women and the processes of cultural adaptation Sharon Sievers presents an overview of women s participation in the histories of China Japan and Korea from prehistory to the modern period that provides a framework for incorporating women into world history classrooms It offers analyses on major issues derived from recent research and discusses such stereotypical cultural practices as footbinding long seen as exotic in the West in the context of women s lives Book jacket Border

Humanitarians Adam Saltsman, 2022-08-31 In rich ethnographic detail Border Humanitarians explores the narratives of Burmese activists in exile who rely on transnational political and social networks to respond to gender violence among the hundreds of thousands of migrants living and working precariously on the Thai border with Myanmar The activists this book follows must navigate a multiplicity of representations they are simultaneously illegal in Thailand underpaid feminized laborers in a global garment supply chain and targets of global North humanitarian intervention with funding to rescue and empower them Looking at how these multiple roles overlap Saltsman asks how state border enforcement regimes global humanitarianism and neoliberal capitalist trajectories produce varied sets of constraints and opportunities in migrants lives Here like in many spaces that are simultaneously zones of refuge and hubs for flexible labor the borderlands are both a site of dispossession for migrants as well as a resource for collective agency As Saltsman details gender itself emerges as an important tool for migrants and aid workers alike to navigate insecurity and assert varying ways of making order amidst the upheaval of displacement and ongoing exclusion
