Soldiers, Traders, and Slaves Janet Ewald,1990 In the Nuba Hills on the frontiers of the Islamic Sudan a dynasty of Muslim warrior kings arose in the eighteenth century Their kingdom Taqali survived as an independent state resisting conquest by larger empires and coming under external control only during the twentieth century Janet Ewald has written the first comprehensive account of the origins and development of the Taqali kingdom Ewald shows how events originating far beyond the Taqali massif allowed local Muslim soldiers to become kings of the Taqali in the eighteenth century and then to hold on to their power But the nature of that power was shaped by the highland farmers who stubbornly and largely successfully resisted the efforts of the kings to parlay their control over the means of production In this struggle religion became an ideological weapon on both sides as the Taqali farmers asserted their local beliefs against their Muslim rulers Political confrontations also bore unintended economic consequences Ewald s account of Taqali challenges current views on the impact of Islam merchant capitalism and Egyptian military administration in nineteenth century Sudan Journal; mémoires de la vie littéraire Edmond de Goncourt, Jules de Goncourt, 1956 Mémoires, Plaidoiries Et Documents International Court of Justice, 1948* The Art of Love Peter L. Allen, 2015-09-30 Two major French medieval literary works that claim to teach their readers the art of love are virtually torn apart by the contradictions and conflicts they contain In Andreas Capellanus's late twelfth century Latin De amore the author instructs his friend Walter in the amatory art in the first two books but then harshly repudiates his own teachings and love itself in a third and final book In Jean de Meun's encyclopedic continuation of the Romance of the Rose written in French in the 1270s a succession of allegorical figures alternately promote and excoriate the lover's amatory pursuits Jean's romance moreover virtually rewrites the dream vision of Guillaume de Lorris which it claims simply to extend and ends with the depiction of a sexual act that seems to throw the book's whole structure into confusion The more closely one reads this work Peter L Allen contends the harder it is to understand them Didactic heavy handed and problematic they teach would be lovers how to behave in order to have others accomplish their desires yet they also contain vociferous passages that dissuade their protagonists from the practice of this art which they claim leads not only to earthly destruction but also to eternal damnation Readers from the Middle Ages to the present have been troubled by the fact that these texts are both radically self contradictory and fundamentally at odds with the accepted morality of medieval Christian Europe And for decades scholars have tried to determine how these two works are related to what is often referred to as courtly love In The Art of Love Allen persuasively argues that the De amore and the Romance of the Rose are central to the courtly tradition Allen contends that their conflicts and contradictions are not signs of confusion or artistic failure but are instead essential clues which show that the medieval works follow the disruptive structural model of Ovid's first century elegiac Ars amatoria Art of Love and Remedia amoris Cures for Love Andreas's and Jean's works no less than Ovid's teach not the art of love for practicing lovers but the literary art of love poetry and fiction Based squarely on Ovid's poems which were among the most widely read classical texts in medieval Europe the De amore and the Romance of the Rose use the classical tradition in a particularly assertive fashion and suggest a way for fantasies of love to exist even against a background of ecclesiastical prohibition Delimitation of the Maritime Boundary in the Gulf of Maine Area (Canada/United States of America).: Contemporary treatises affecting the northwest Atlantic fisheries, with a historical introduction Canada, 1982 Coastal Lowlands Willem Jan Marie Linden, 1988-12-31 Proceedings of the Symposium organised by the Royal Geological and Mining Society of The Netherlands K N G M G The Hague May 23 27 1987 Symmetries in Particle Physics Itzhak Bars, Alan Chodos, Chia-Hsiung Tze, 2013-11-21 Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, New Serial Titles, 1981 A union list of serials commencing publication after Dec 31 1949
