Landscapes of the Islamic World Stephen McPhillips, Paul D. Wordsworth, 2016-07 Landscapes of the Islamic World presents new work by twelve authors on the archaeology history and ethnography of the Islamic world in the Middle East the Arabian peninsula and central Asia The focus looks beyond the city to engage with the predominantly rural and pastoral character of premodern Islamic society Female Religiosity in Central Asia Aziza Shanazarova, 2024-04-30 Through revealing the fascinating story of the Sufi master Agh yi Buzurg and her path to becoming the Great Lady in sixteenth century Bukhara Aziza Shanazarova invites readers into the little known world of female religious authority in early modern Islamic Central Asia revealing a far more multifaceted gender history than previously supposed Pointing towards new ways of mapping female religious authority onto the landscapes of early modern Muslim narratives this book serves as an intervention into the debate on the history of women and religion that views gender as a historical phenomenon and construct challenging narratives of the relationship between gender and age in Islamic discourse of the period Shanazarova draws on previously unknown primary sources to bring attention to a rich world of female religiosity involving communal leadership competition for spiritual superiority and negotiation with the political elite that transforms our understanding of women s history in early modern Central Asia The Mamluks in Egyptian Politics and Society Thomas Philipp, Ulrich Haarmann, 1998-02-12 In this book distinguished scholars provide an accessible introduction to the structure of political power under the Mamluks and its economic foundations The Waning of the Mediterranean, 1550-1870 Faruk

Tabak, 2008-02-06 Conventional scholarship on the Mediterranean portrays the Inner Sea as a timeless entity with unchanging ecological and agrarian features But Faruk Tabak argues some of the traditional and olden characteristics that we attribute to it today are actually products of relatively recent developments Locating the shifting fortunes of Mediterranean city states and empires in patterns of long term economic and ecological change this study shows how the quintessential properties of the basin the trinity of cereals tree crops and small livestock were reestablished as the Mediterranean s importance in global commerce agriculture and politics waned Tabak narrates this history not from the vantage point of colossal empires but from that of the mercantile republics that played a pivotal role as empire building city states His unique juxtaposition of analyses of world economic developments that flowed from the decline of these city states and the ecological change associated with the Little Ice Age depicts large scale long term social change Integrating the story of the western and eastern Mediterranean from Genoa and the Habsburg empire to Venice and the Ottoman and Byzantine empires Tabak unveils the complex process of devolution and regeneration that brought about the eclipse of the Mediterranean

Arabic Historical Thought in the Classical Period Tarif Khalidi, 1994-12 A survey of an entire tradition of historical thought and writing across a span of eight hundred years

Hierarchy and Egalitarianism in Islamic Thought Louise Marlow, 2002-05-16 By examining a wide range of Arabic and Persian literature from the eighth to the thirteenth century Louise Marlow shows the tension that existed between the traditional egalitarian ideal of early Islam and the hierarchical impulses of the classical period The literature demonstrates that while Islam's initial orientation was markedly egalitarian the social aspect of this egalitarianism was soon undermined in the aftermath of Islam's political success and as hierarchical social ideas from older cultures in the Middle East were incorporated into the new polity Although the memory of its early promise never entirely receded social egalitarianism quickly came to be associated with political subversion This 1997 book will be of use to a wide readership of Islamic historians and of scholars assessing the impact of the modern Islamic revival

Islamic Urbanism in Human History Tsugitaka Satō, 1997 The contributors to this book examine the religious social and administrative networks that governed both rural and urban areas in the North African and Middle Eastern parts of the world This gives some idea of how power is allotted in the Islamic world

Islamic Urbanism Tsugitaka SATO, 2012-11-12 Islamic cultures in the Middle East have inherited and developed a legacy of urbanism spanning millennia to the ancient civilizations of the region In contrast to well organized states like China in history Muslim peoples formed loose states based on intricate social networks As a consequence most studies of urban history in the Middle East have focused their gaze exclusively on urban social organization often neglecting the extension of political power to rural areas Covering Morocco Egypt Syria Iran and Brunei this volume explores the relationship between political power and social networks in medieval and modern Middle Eastern history The authors examine social religious and administrative networks that governed rural and urban areas and led to state formation providing a more inclusive view of the mechanisms of power and control in the Islamic world

Everything is on the Move Stephan Conermann, 2014 In this volume we try to understand the Mamluk Empire not as a confined space but as a region where several nodes of different networks existed side by side and at the same time In our opinion these networks constitute to a great extent the core of the so called Mamluk society they form the basis of the social order Following in part concepts refined in the New Area Studies recent reflections about the phenomenon of the Empire State trajectories in today's Global History and the spatial turn in modern historiography we intend to identify a number of physical and cognitive networks with one or more nodes in Mamluk controlled territories In addition to this one of the most important analytical questions would be to define the role of these networks in Mamluk society

The Idea of Idolatry and the Emergence of Islam G. R. Hawting, 1999-12-09 Why and under what circumstances did the religion of Islam emerge in a remote part of Arabia at the beginning of the seventh century Traditional scholarship maintains that Islam developed in opposition to the idolatrous and polytheistic religion of the Arabs of Mecca and the surrounding regions In this study of pre Islamic Arabian religion G R Hawting adopts a comparative religious perspective to suggest an alternative view By examining the various bodies of evidence which survive from this period the Koran and the vast resources of the Islamic tradition the author argues that in fact Islam arose out of conflict with other monotheists whose beliefs and practices were judged to fall short of true monotheism and were in consequence attacked polemically as idolatry The author is adept at unravelling the complexities of the source material and students and scholars will find his argument both engaging and persuasive

The

Politics of Trade in Safavid Iran Rudolph P. Matthee, 1999-12-09 Using a wide range of archival and written sources Rudi Matthee considers the economic social and political networks established between Iran its neighbours and the world at large through the prism of the late Safavid silk trade In so doing he demonstrates how silk a resource crucial to state revenue and the only commodity to span Iran s entire economic activity was integral to aspects of late Safavid society including its approach to commerce export routes and importantly to the political and economic problems which contributed to its collapse in the early 1700s In a challenge to traditional scholarship the author argues that despite the introduction of a maritime western dominated channel Iran s traditional land based silk export continued to expand right up to the end of the seventeenth century The book makes a major theoretical contribution to the debates on the social and economic history of the pre modern world

Classical Arabic Biography Michael Cooperson, 2000-05-25 Pre modern Arabic biography has served as a major source for the history of Islamic civilization In this 2000 study exploring the origins and development of classical Arabic biography Michael Cooperson demonstrates how Muslim scholars used the notions of heirship and transmission to document the activities of political scholarly and religious communities The author also explains how medieval Arab scholars used biography to tell the life stories of important historical figures by examining the careers of the Abbasid Caliph al Ma mun the Shiite Imam Ali al Rida the Sunni scholar Ahmad Ibn Hanbal and the ascetic Bishr al Hafi each of whom represented a tradition of political and spiritual heirship to the Prophet Drawing on anthropology and comparative religion as well as history and literary criticism the book considers how each figure responded to the presence of the others and how these responses were preserved by posterity
