No Mammo? Rachel Campergue, 2025-07-23 Every year the month of October is decked out in pink with countless posters calling on people to crusade against breast cancer through mammography. Why are public health officials, doctors, associations and laboratories so keen to do this? Are women really well informed about the risks?

they run by undergoing screening And do the promised benefits really exist Rachel Campergue was outraged by gynecologists obstinacy in forcing her to undergo mammography What she discovered was appalling By infantilizing women public authorities promote confusion between prevention and screening Doctors do not have adequate knowledge to ensure that the consents they obtain from their patients are indeed informed As for the associations they are the agents of a juicy business that benefits above all the manufacturers of health products The conclusion of this abundant precise and humorous work is without appeal a cancer detected by mammography does not equal a life saved and if you choose to have one every two years do so with full knowledge of the facts     Reimagining Resistance in Gisèle Pineau's Works Lisa Connell,Delphine Gras,2022-10-20 As one of the most prominent voices from and about the French Caribbean Gis le Pineau has garnered significant scholarly attention however this interest has culminated in precious few volumes devoted entirely to the author and her work In response to this lack of in depth critical attention Reimagining Resistance in Gis le Pineau s Works brings together a range of perspectives from both sides of the Atlantic and across the Pacific to explore the unique ways in which Gis le Pineau s works redefine the concept of resistance particularly as it relates to gender race history and Antillean identity As this volume ultimately demonstrates resistance holds up a mirror to the political economic and cultural forces that have shaped the past construct the present and build the future It argues that Pineau s characters open the narrative frame for reading them and move us beyond the categories of the wholly defiant or the inherently complicit Above all as they invite us to reimagine resistance they expose our expectations and hopefully shift our understanding about what it means to rise and to fall in a world we seek to call our own     Cas cliniques en imagerie : le sein Marie-Noëlle Roedlich,Marie-Françoise Bretz-Grenier,2020-12-08 Les cas cliniques en imagerie m dicale sont un exercice pour l entra nement du radiologue

Corporeal Archipelagos Julia Frengs, 2017-12-27 Corporeal Archipelagos Writing the Body in Francophone Oceanian Women's Literature offers an examination of contemporary literature from the French speaking Oceanian region through a focus on four of its most prolific women writers and the ways in which these writers negotiate identity construction through one of the most powerful identity markers in the region the body The question of the body how one is to make meaning through corporeality how one represents the body and what role the body plays in identity construction is not only a question with which feminists and postcolonial theorists have been grappling for nearly a half century The body is of integral significance to autochthonous Oceanian societies whose views of corporeality are not built upon a dualistic mind body binary that has influenced Western thought since the era of Descartes but rather on a cosmological epistemological axis that comprehends the body as intertwined with symbolic social and ideological understandings of identity Beginning with an analysis of the ways in which the Oceanian body has been portrayed and consumed as an exotic object of fascination throughout three centuries of European literature the book examines the myriad methods by which women writers break away from exotic myths and reappropriate the body as a powerful tool that enables them to confront the question of self definition in French speaking Oceania The authors examined in this book employ culturally racially and sexually specific bodies in the creation of an original confrontational literature that transgresses historically and culturally imposed boundaries audaciously inserting their voices the voices of Oceania into the postcolonial francophone literary scene
