minorities including the Hispanic communities in the United States Besides presenting and illuminating the traditional canon the encyclopedia also stresses the contribution made by women authors and by contemporary writers Outstanding Reference Source Outstanding Reference Book Fantastic Short Stories by Women Authors from Spain and Latin America Patricia Garcia,Teresa López-Pellisa,2019-08-15 It includes introductions to the life and work of female authors who are not very well known in the Anglophone world due to the lack of translations of their works This critical work with a feminist focus will provide a helpful framework for undergraduate and postgraduate students in the UK and US A wide ranging bibliography will be of great assistance to those looking to pursue research on the fantastic or on any of the specific writers and texts This book is endorsed by the British Academy as part of the project Gender and the Fantastic in Hispanic Studies and by an established international network namely the Grupo de Estudios sobre lo Fant stico based in the Universidad Aut noma de Barcelona

Listening to Salsa Frances R. Aparicio,2012-11-16 Winner of the MLA s Katherine Singer Kovacs Prize for an outstanding book published in English in the field of Latin American and Spanish literatures and culture 1999 For Anglos the pulsing beats of salsa merengue and bolero are a compelling expression of Latino a culture but few outsiders comprehend the music s implications in larger social terms Frances R Aparicio places this music in context by combining the approaches of musicology and sociology with literary cultural Latino and women s studies She offers a detailed genealogy of Afro Caribbean music in Puerto Rico comparing it to selected Puerto Rican literary texts then looks both at how Latinos as in the US have used salsa to reaffirm their cultural identities and how Anglos have eroticized and depoliticized it in their adaptations Aparicio s detailed examination of lyrics shows how these songs articulate issues of gender desire and conflict and her interviews with Latinas os reveal how they listen to salsa and the meanings they find in it What results is a comprehensive view that deploys both musical and literary texts as equally significant cultural voices in exploring larger questions about the power of discourse gender relations intercultural desire race ethnicity and class Contemporary U.S. Latinx Literature in Spanish Amrita Das,Kathryn Quinn-Sánchez,Michele Shaul,2018-11-19 U S Latinx Literature in Spanish remains an understudied field despite its large and vibrant corpus This is partly due to the erroneous impression that this literature is only written in English and partly due to traditional educational programs focusing on English texts to include non Spanish speakers and non Latinx students This has created a vacuum in research about Latinx literary production in Spanish leaving the contemporary field wide open for exploration This volume fills this space by bringing contemporary U S Latinx literature in Spanish to the forefront of the field The essays focus on literary production post 1960 and examine texts by authors from different backgrounds writing from the U S providing readers with an opportunity to explore new texts in Spanish within U S Latinx literature and a departure point for starting a meaningful critical discourse about what it means to write and publish in Spanish in the U S Through exploring literary production in a language that is both emotionally and politically charged for authors the academia and the U S this book challenges and enhances our understanding of the term

Moreno, 2012-08-29. Adopting a comparative and multidisciplinary approach to Puerto Rican literature, Marisel Moreno juxtaposes narratives by insular and U.S. Puerto Rican women authors in order to examine their convergences and divergences. By showing how these writers use the trope of family to question the tenets of racial and social harmony, an idealized past, and patriarchal authority that sustain the foundational myth of la gran familia, she argues that this metaphor constitutes an overlooked literary contact zone between narratives from both sides. Moreno proposes the recognition of a transinsular corpus to reflect the increasingly transnational character of the Puerto Rican population and addresses the need to broaden the literary canon in order to include the diaspora. Drawing on the fields of historiography, cultural studies, and gender studies, the author defies the tendency to examine these literary bodies independently of one another and therefore aims to present a more nuanced and holistic vision of this literature.

Women Writers of Latin America Magdalena García Pinto, 2013-09-06. What does it take for a woman to succeed as a writer? In these revealing interviews, first published in 1988 as Historias íntimas, ten of Latin America's most important women writers explore this question with scholar Magdalena García Pinto, discussing the personal, social, and political factors that have shaped their writing careers. The authors interviewed are Isabel Allende, Alba Lucía Angell, Rosario Ferré, Margo Glantz, Sylvia Molloy, Elvira Orphé, Elena Poniatowska, Marta Traba, Luisa Valenzuela, and Ida Vitale. In intimate dialogues with each author, García Pinto draws out the formative experiences of her youth, tracing the pilgrimage that led each to a distinguished writing career. The writers also reflect on their published writings, discussing the creative process in general and the motivating force behind individual works. They candidly discuss the problems they have faced in writing and the strategies that enabled them to reach their goals. While obviously of interest to readers of Latin American literature, this book has important insights for students of women's literature and cultural studies as well as for aspiring writers.

The Plantation in the Postslavery Imagination Elizabeth Christine Russ, 2009. In a provocative new approach toward understanding transnational literary cultures, this study examines the specter of the plantation, that physical place most vividly associated with slavery in the Americas. For Elizabeth Russ, the plantation is not merely a literal location but also a vexing rhetorical, ideological, and psychological trope through which intersecting histories of the New World are told. Through a series of precise, in-depth readings, Russ analyzes the discourse of the plantation through a number of suggestive pairings: male and female perspectives, U.S. and Spanish American traditions, and continental alongside island societies. To chart comparative elements in the development of the postslavery imagination in the Northern and Southern hemispheres, Russ distinguishes between a modern and a postmodern imaginary. The former privileges a familiar plot of modernity: the traumatic transition from a local, largely agrarian order to an increasingly anonymous industrialized society The latter abandoning nostalgia toward the past suggests a new history using the strategies of performance such as witnessing reticency and traversal Authors examined include The Twelve Southerners Fernando Ortiz Teresa de la Parra Eudora Welty Antonio Benitez Rojo Gayl Jones Toni Morrison and Mayra Santos Febres among others Applying sharp analyses across a broad range of texts Russ reveals how the language used to imagine communities influenced by the plantation has been gendered racialized and eroticized in ways that oppose the domination of an ever shifting North while often reproducing the fundamental power divide Her work moves beyond the North South dichotomy that has often stymied scholarly work in Latin American studies and importantly provides a model for future hemispheric approaches

The Youngest Doll ,1991-01-01 A gentle maiden aunt who has been victimized for years unexpectedly retaliates through her talent for making life sized dolls filled with honey The Youngest Doll based on a family anecdote is a stunning literary expression of Rosario Ferr s feminist and social concerns It is the premier story in a collection that was originally published in Spanish in 1976 as Papeles de Pandora and is now translated into English by the author The daughter of a former governor of Puerto Rico Ferr portrays women loosening the constraints that have bound them to a patriarchal culture Anger takes creative rather than polemical form in ten stories that started Ferr on her way to becoming a leading woman writer in Latin America The upper middle class women in The Youngest Doll mostly married to macho men rebel against their doll like existence or retreat into fantasy those without money or the right skin color are even more oppressed In terms of power and influence these women stand in the same relation to men as Puerto Rico itself does to the United States and Ferr stretches artistic boundaries in writing about their situation The stories moving from the realistic to the nightmarish are deeply felt full of irony and black humor often experimental in form The imagery is striking an architect dreams about a beautiful bridge that would open and close its arches like alligators making love a Mercedes Benz shines in the dark like a chromium rhinoceros One story The Sleeping Beauty is a collage of letters announcements and photo captions that allows chilling conclusions to be drawn from what is not written The collection includes Ferr s discussion of When Women Love Men a story about a prostitute and a society lady who unite in order to survive and one that illustrates the woman writer s art of dissembling anger through irony In closing she considers how her experience as a Latin American woman with ties to the United States has brought to her writing a dual cultural perspective

Remembering Maternal Bodies B. Trigo,2006-01-21 Remembering Maternal Bodies is a collection of essays about the writings of several Latina and Latin American women writers who remember their mothers and or challenge our commonly held beliefs about motherhood and maternity in an effort to stop depression and melancholy It suggests that the widespread violent depression and sometimes suicidal melancholy that haunts our culture and society is the result of a terrible fantasy about the way we become ourselves This fantasy has a matricide at its core and this matricide will continue to have its depressing effect on us as long as it remains in place and invisible The authors showcased in this book make visible this fantasy and change it in their works in an effort to bring us out of our depression and melancholy      Prohibido dudar Pascual Serrano, 2022-06-06 La guerra de Ucrania ha desmantelado todo lo que caracterizaba nuestro mundo desde las relaciones comerciales hasta las culturales y políticas. Así, si antes se silenciaban y justificaban los crímenes perpetrados por Occidente, hoy se levanta en este mismo Occidente una condena a las violaciones del derecho internacional por parte de Rusia. Si antes la acogida de refugiados generaba recelos y rechazo en sectores sociales, ahora nuestra sociedad se ve sacudida por una ola de solidaridad sin precedentes y abre los brazos a los ucranianos que piden asilo. Si antes EEUU y la UE eran los más apasionados defensores del mercado global, ahora la estructura financiera y comercial mundial ha sido dinamitada. Si antes nos vanagloriábamos de ser la región del mundo más defensora de la prensa libre, ahora asistimos cómplices a la censura a medios, voces y analistas calificados como prorrusos. ¿Qué ha sucedido para que ahora todo sea diferente? Para descubrir lo que se esconde tras este escenario y relato oficial, Pascual Serrano nos muestra un cuadro incómodo, repleto de hipocresía y falsedad, donde expone cómo diez estremecedoras semanas de conflicto han desvelado el rostro que se ocultaba tras la máscara del llamado mundo libre. El discurso ecologista, las vindicaciones democráticas, la seguridad jurídica, la bandera de los derechos humanos, las excusas para no afrontar una mayor inversión en sanidad y la defensa del libre mercado se derrumban ante los intereses de los tambores de guerra. Así, entre propaganda e intereses enfrentados, el mundo vive un viraje en el que ya nada volverá a ser como antes.      (In)subordinadas. Raza, clase y filiación en la narrativa de mujeres latinoamericanas, 2010. A partir de una selección de relatos de Rosario Castellanos, Andrea Maturana y Rosario Ferré, entre otras, este texto explora desde la crítica literaria formas de insubordinación dentro de la subcultura femenina y pone de manifiesto relaciones menos amables que existen entre mujeres, aquellas que las diferencias se realizan de manera subrepticia, disimulada o encubierta.
