Sustainable Communities and Green Lifestyles Tendai Chitewere, 2017-08-09 Sustainable communities raise questions about the compatibility of capitalism and environmentalism and how we can green our way of life in a capitalist economy that values short term production and consumption over long term conservation and simple living If capitalism and its drive towards consumption has produced social and environmental degradation is it the best medium to identify solutions Sustainable Communities and Green Lifestyles examines one ecovillage as it attempts to create a sense of community while reducing its impact on the natural environment Through extensive participant observation the book demonstrates how ecovillages are immersed within a larger discourse of class race and lifestyle choices highlighting the inseparability of environmental sustainability and social justice Sustainable communities are confronted by the contradictions of green consumption and must address social inequality or risk focusing inward on personal green consumerism creating mere green havens for the few who can afford to live in them This book cautious of redirecting environmentalist efforts away from structural solutions and onto personal environmentalism offers a critical perspective on the challenges of an emerging green lifestyle This book offers a critical perspective on the direction of US environmentalism and contributes to debates in environmental studies anthropology and urban planning A Research Agenda for Sustainable Consumption Governance Oksana Mont, p p1 margin 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px 0 0px font 10 0px Arial Evaluating achievements challenges and future avenues for research this book explores how new dimensions of knowledge and practice contest reshape and advance traditional understandings of sustainable consumption governance Biomass and Bioenergy Michael D. Lyon, E. Christian Wells, 2012-03-15 Global tourism is perhaps the largest scale movement of goods services and people in history Consequently it is a significant catalyst for economic development and sociopolitical change While tourism increasingly accounts for ever greater segments of national economies the consequences of this growth for intercultural interaction are diverse and uncertain The proliferation of tourists also challenges classic theoretical descriptions of just what an economy is What are the commodities being consumed What is the division of labor between producers and clients in creating the value of tourist exchanges How do culture power and history shape these interactions What are the prospects for sustainable tourism How is cultural heritage being shaped by tourists around the world These critical questions inspired this volume in which the contributors explore the connections among economy sustainability heritage and identity that tourism and related processes makes explicit The volume moves beyond the limits of place specific discussions case studies and best practice examples Accordingly it is organized according to three overarching themes exploring dimensions of cultural heritage the multi faceted impacts of tourism on both hosts and guests and the nature of touristic encounters Based on ethnographic and archaeological research conducted in distinct locations the contributors conclusions and theoretical arguments reach far beyond the limits of isolated case studies Together they contribute to a new synthesis for the anthropology of tourism while simultaneously demonstrating how emerging theories of the economics of tourism can lead to the rethinking of traditionally non touristic enterprises from farming to medical occupations Defensive Environmentalists and the Dynamics of Global Reform

Thomas Rudel, 2013-03-11 As global environmental changes become increasingly evident and efforts to respond to these changes fall short of expectations questions about the circumstances that generate environmental reforms become more pressing Defensive Environmentalists and the Dynamics of Global Reform answers these questions through a historical analysis of two processes that have contributed to environmental reforms one in which people become defensive environmentalists concerned about environmental problems close to home and another in which people become altruistic environmentalists intent on alleviating global problems after experiencing catastrophic events such as hurricanes droughts and fires These focusing events make reform more urgent and convince people to become altruistic environmentalists Bolstered by defensive environmentalists the altruists gain strength in environmental politics and reforms occur The Swedish-American Historical Quarterly ,2003 The Journal of Energy and Development ,1997 Handbook of Environmental Sociology Riley E.
