Powers, Janet Dale Orcutt, 1999 Foundations of Ethnobotany (21st Century Perspective) S. Chandra, A.K. Jain, 2017-01-01 Foundations of Ethnobotany 21st Century focusses on the role played by cultivated plants in changing the face of modern civilization It is important to assess the distribution of cultivated plants in time and space to understand how Ethnobotany can play a role in contributing to the progress and needs of human race in 21st century The plants contributed by the societies Neolithic to The Bronze Age Ancient Near East Bronze Age Europe Pre Columbian Americas Iron Age Middle Eastern civilizations South Asian civilizations East Asia civilizations Eurasian civilizations Africa Medieval to Early Modern Mughal India Asia china Japan Southeast Asia Mesamerican civilizations Andean civilizations African civilizations Modern Intermediate world Greater Middle East Eastern world East Asia South Asia and Southeast Asia are discussed Bioarchaeology Debra L. Martin, Ryan P. Harrod, Ventura R. Pérez, 2013-03-15 Bioarchaeology is the analysis of human remains within an interpretative framework that includes contextual information This comprehensive and much needed manual provides both a starting point and a reference for archaeologists bioarchaeologists and others working in this integrative field The authors cover a range of bioarchaeological methods and theory including Ethical issues involved in dealing with human remains Theoretical approaches in bioarchaeology Techniques in taphonomy and bone analysis Lab and forensic techniques for skeletal analysis Best practices for excavation techniques

Special applications in bioarchaeology With case studies from bioarchaeological research the authors integrate theoretical and methodological discussion with a wide range of field studies from different geographic areas time periods and data types to demonstrate the full scope of this important field of study Ancestral Hopi Migrations Patrick D. Lyons, 2016-10-15

Southwestern archaeologists have long speculated about the scale and impact of ancient population movements In Ancestral Hopi Migrations Patrick Lyons infers the movement of large numbers of people from the Kayenta and Tusayan regions of northern Arizona to every major river valley in Arizona parts of New Mexico and northern Mexico Building upon earlier studies Lyons uses chemical sourcing of ceramics and analyses of painted pottery designs to distinguish among traces of exchange emulation and migration He demonstrates strong similarities among the pottery traditions of the Kayenta region the Hopi Mesas and the Homol ovi villages near Winslow Arizona Architectural evidence marshaled by Lyons corroborates his conclusion that the inhabitants of Homol ovi were immigrants from the north Placing the Homol ovi case study in a larger context Lyons synthesizes evidence of northern immigrants recovered from sites dating between A D 1250 and 1450 His data support Patricia Crown s contention that the movement of these groups is linked to the origin of the Salado polychromes and further indicate that these immigrants and their descendants were responsible for the production of Roosevelt Red Ware throughout much of the Greater Southwest Offering an innovative juxtaposition of anthropological data bearing on Hopi migrations and oral accounts of the tribe s origin and history Lyons highlights the many points of agreement between these two bodies of knowledge Lyons argues that appreciating the scale of population movement that characterized the late prehistoric period is prerequisite to understanding regional phenomena such as Salado and to illuminating the connections between tribal peoples of the Southwest and their ancestors DYNAMICS OF SW PREHIST Linda S. Cordell, George J. Gumerman, 1989-10-17 A collection of scholarly essays on the prehistoric Southwest reviews the status of archaeological knowledge in eleven key regions examines broad questions concerning ancient cultural development and presents a conceptual model of prehistoric life in the region after sedentary adaptations were initiated Crucible of Pueblos James R. Allison, Gregson Schachner, Richard H. Wilshusen, 2012-12-31 Archaeologists are increasingly recognizing the early Pueblo period as a major social and demographic transition in Southwest history In Crucible of Pueblos The Early Pueblo Period in the Northern Southwest Richard Wilshusen Gregson Schachner and James Allison present the first comprehensive summary of population growth and migration the materialization of early villages cultural diversity relations of social power and the emergence of early great houses during the early Pueblo period Six chapters address these developments in the major regions of the northern Southwest and four synthetic chapters then examine early Pueblo material culture to explore social identity power and gender from a variety of perspectives Taken as a whole this thoughtfully edited volume compares the rise of villages during the early Pueblo period to similar processes in other parts of the Southwest and examines how the study of the early Pueblo period contributes to an anthropological understanding of Southwest history and early farming societies throughout the world Bioarchaeology of Marginalized People Madeleine L. Mant, Alyson Jaagumägi Holland, 2019-02-27 Bioarchaeology of Marginalized People amplifies the voices of marginalized or powerless individuals Following previous work done by physical anthropologists on the biology of poverty this volume focuses on the voices of past actors who would normally be subsumed within a cohort or whose stories represent those of the minority The physical effects of marginalization manifest as skeletal markers of stress and disease are read in their historical contexts to better understand vulnerability and the social determinants of health in the past Bioarchaeological archaeological and historical datasets are integrated to explore the varied ways in which individuals may be marginalized both during and after their lifespan By focusing on previously excluded voices this volume enriches our understanding of the lived experience of individuals in the past This volume queries the diverse meanings of marginalization from physical or social peripheralization to identity loss within a majority population to a collective forgetting that excludes specific groups Contributors to the volume highlight the histories of individuals who did not record their own stories including two disparate Ancient Egyptian women and individuals from a high status Indigenous cemetery in British Columbia Additional chapters examine the marginalized individuals whose bodies comprise the Robert J Terry anatomical collection and investigate inequalities in health status in individuals from Canada the United States and the United Kingdom Modern clinical population health research is examined through a historical lens bringing a new perspective to the critical public health interventions occurring today Together these papers highlight the role that biological anthropologists play both in contributing to and challenging the marginalization of past populations Highlights the histories and stories of individuals whose voices were silenced such as workhouse inmates migrants those of low socioeconomic status the chronically ill and those living in communities without a written language Provides a holistic and more complete understanding of the lived experiences of the past as well as changes in populations through time Offers an interdisciplinary discussion with contributions from a wide variety of international authors The Wupatki Archeological Inventory Survey Project Bruce A. Anderson, 1990 Life beyond the Boundaries Karen Harry, Sarah A. Herr, 2018-04-02 Life beyond the Boundaries explores identity formation on the edges of the ancient Southwest Focusing on some of the more poorly understood regions including the Jornada Mogollon the Gallina and the Pimer a Alta the authors use methods drawn from material culture science anthropology and history to investigate themes related to the construction of social identity along the perimeters of the American Southwest Through an archaeological lens the volume examines the social experiences of people who lived in edge regions Through mobility and the development of extensive social networks people living in these areas were introduced to the ideas and practices of other cultural groups As their spatial distances from core areas increased the degree to which they participated in the economic social political and ritual practices of ancestral core areas increasingly varied As a result the social identities of people living in edge zones were often though not always fluid and situational Drawing on an increase of available information and bringing new attention to understudied areas the book will be of interest to scholars of Southwestern archaeology and other researchers interested in the archaeology of low populated and decentralized regions and identity formation Life beyond the Boundaries considers the various roles that edge regions played in local and regional trajectories of the prehistoric and protohistoric Southwest and how place influenced the development of social identity Contributors Lewis Borck Dale S Brenneman Jeffery J Clark Severin Fowles Patricia A Gilman Lauren E Jelinek Myles R Miller Barbara J Mills Matthew A Peeples Kellam Throgmorton James T Watson Managing Piñon-juniper Ecosystems for Sustainability and Social Needs Earl F.
