Application of Dyestuffs J. Merritt Matthews, 2015-07-21 Excerpt from Application of Dyestuffs To d104iles Paper Leather and Other Materials The present volume has been the result of a comprehensive and more extended development of the author s earlier book entitled Laboratory Manual of Dyeing and d104ile Chemistry The latter was designed principally as a text book for students and necessarily omitted a great deal of matter of more general and practical interest The present book while still retaining many of the text book features in order to adapt it to the needs of the student has been greatly broadened in its scope so as to appeal to the interest of all those concerned in the application of dyestuffs Dyestuffs are most largely used in the textile industries and naturally this field has received the greatest attention at the hands of the author but there has also been included a discussion of the use of dyes in other lines of industry though the limitations of space as well as the necessity of maintaining a proper balance in the subjects considered has precluded more than a brief survey of these interesting fields The method of presentation as well as the subject matter herein contained have been the outcome of a number of years of teaching on the part of the author supplemented by a larger number of years of active professional practice in this field of applied chemistry Care has been taken to avoid a too purely scientific generalization else the volume would lose much of its value for purposes of instruction and information The subject treated is a technical one and an endeavor has been made to present it in a technical manner that is to say definite facts have been presented in a definite form To this end an experimental outline has been distributed through the different chapters both to act as a laboratory guide for the teacher and student and also to furnish concrete examples to the general reader The author has endeavored as far as his limitations permit to incorporate in this book the latest knowledge of the subject In the case of dyestuffs this has been rather difficult at the present time owing to the tremendous impetus the manufacture of dyestuffs has received in both America and England during the last few years together with the shutting off from the world of the long used and well known German dyes About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
