Papyrology And The History Of Early Islamic Egypt Islamic History And Civilization:

Papyrology and the History of Early Islamic Egypt Petra Sijpesteijn, Lennart Sundelin, 2004 Annotation Tens of thousands of documents dating from the late Byzantine and early Islamic periods have been found in Egypt. These texts, written on papyrus and a variety of other materials in Greek, Coptic, Egyptian, and Arabic, offer a unique but underutilized resource for the study of a society experiencing a profound transformation. This volume collects papers given at the conference 'Documentary Evidence and the History of Early Islamic Egypt' including editions of previously unpublished Greek, Coptic, and Arabic documents, historical and linguistic studies which make use of documentary evidence, a discussion of the importance of Arabic literary papyri, and an introduction to papyrology and its relevance for the study of this period of Egyptian history.

Papyrology And The History Of Early Islamic Egypt Petra A. Sijpesteijn, Lennart Sundelin, 2004 This collection includes editions of previously unpublished Greek, Coptic, and Arabic documents, historical and linguistic studies making use of documentary evidence and literary papyri, and an introduction to papyrology and its relevance for the study of early Islamic Egypt.

Documents and the History of the Early Islamic World, 2014-11-28 Documents and the History of the Early Islamic World presents new Greek, Arabic, and Coptic material from the seventh to the fifteenth centuries C.E. from Egypt and Palestine and explores its rich potential for historical analysis.

New Frontiers of Arabic Papyrology Sobhi Bouderbala, Sylvie Denoix, Matt Malczycki, 2017-06-12 New Frontiers of Arabic Papyrology contains research presented at the 5th congress of the International Society for Arabic Papyrology (ISAP) held in Tunis in 2012. Like previous ISAP volumes, this one focuses on the transformative era of the Islamic conquests, although some of the articles treat later periods. The volume contains articles relevant to Arabic, Coptic, and Greek papyrology. There is also work on folk religion, astronomy, and epigraphy.

Money, Power and Politics in Early Islamic Syria John Haldon, 2016-04-22 The transformation of the eastern provinces of the Roman empire from the middle of the seventh century C.E. under the impact of Islam has attracted a good deal of scholarly attention in recent years and, as more archaeological material becomes available, has been subject to revision and rethinking in ways that radically affect what we know or understand about the area, about state building and the economy and society of the early Islamic world, and about issues such as urbanisation, town-country relations, the ways in which a different religious culture impacted on the built environment, and about politics. This volume represents the fruits of a workshop held at Princeton University in May 2007 to discuss the ways in which recent work has affected our understanding of the nature of economic and exchange activity in particular and the broader implications of these advances for the history of the region.

The Multilingual Experience in Egypt, from the Ptolemies to the Abbasids Arietta Papaconstantinou, 2016-12-14 For over a millennium and a half, Egypt was home to at least two commonly used languages of communication. Although this situation is by no means exceptional in the ancient and medieval worlds the wealth of documentary sources preserved by Egypt's papyri makes the country a privileged observation ground for the study of ancient multilingualism One of the greatest contributions of papyri to this subject is that they capture more linguistic registers than other ancient and medieval sources since they range from very private documents not meant by their author to be read by future generations to official documents produced by the administration which are preserved in their original form This collection of essays aims to make this wealth better known as well as to give a diachronic view of multilingual practices in Egypt from the arrival of the Greeks as a political force in the country with Alexander the Great to the beginnings of Abbasid rule when Greek and slowly also Coptic receded from the documentary record The first section of the book gives an overview of the documentary sources for this subject which for ancient history standards are very rich and as yet under exploited The second part contains several case studies from different periods that deal with language use in contexts of varying breadth and scope from its the ritual use in magic or the liturgy to private letters and state administration

The Coptic Papacy in Islamic Egypt, 641-1517 Mark N. Swanson, 2022-09-06 An authoritative account of the Coptic Papacy in Egypt from the coming of Islam to the onset of the Ottoman era by a leading religious studies scholar new in paperback In Volume 1 of this series Stephen Davis contended that the themes of apostolicity martyrdom monastic patronage and theological resistance were determinative for the cultural construction of Egyptian church leadership in late antiquity This second volume shows that the medieval Coptic popes 641 1517 CE were regularly portrayed as standing in continuity with their saintly predecessors however at the same time they were active in creating something new the Coptic Orthodox Church a community that struggled to preserve a distinctive life and witness within the new Islamic world order Building on recent advances in the study of sources for Coptic church history the present volume aims to show how portrayals of the medieval popes provide a window into the religious and social life of their community The Oxford Handbook of Egyptology Ian Shaw, Elizabeth Bloxam, 2020-11-10 The Oxford Handbook of Egyptology offers a comprehensive survey of the entire study of ancient Egypt from prehistory through to the end of the Roman period It seeks to place Egyptology within its theoretical methodological and historical contexts indicating how the subject has evolved and discussing its distinctive contemporary problems issues and potential Transcending conventional boundaries between archaeological and ancient textual analysis the volume brings together 63 chapters that range widely across archaeological philological and cultural sub disciplines highlighting the extent to which Egyptology as a subject has diversified and stressing the need for it to seek multidisciplinary methods and broader collaborations if it is to remain contemporary and relevant Organized into ten parts it offers a comprehensive synthesis of the various sub topics and specializations that make up the field as a whole from the historical and geographical perspectives that have influenced its development and current characteristics to aspects of museology and conservation and from materials and technology as evidenced in domestic architecture and religious and funerary items to textual and iconographic approaches to Egyptian culture Authoritative yet accessible it serves not only as
