

PARADISE IN FLAMES

The image is a full-page illustration with a dark, fiery, and apocalyptic theme. At the top, the title "PARADISE IN FLAMES" is written in a large, white, serif font. The central focus is a large, glowing, circular portal or eye-like structure. This portal has a dark, swirling interior with a bright, vertical, flame-like light source in the center. The portal is surrounded by a thick, orange-red, flame-like border. Below the portal, a wide, dark, and jagged, rocky ledge or platform extends across the frame. A narrow, winding staircase or path leads down from the center of this ledge towards the bottom of the image. The entire scene is set against a background of dark, swirling smoke and fire. The bottom right corner features the word "Blindness" in a white, cursive script font.

A Field on Fire Mark D. Hersey, Ted Steinberg, 2019-01-29 A frank and engaging exploration of the burgeoning academic field of environmental history Inspired by the pioneering work of preeminent environmental historian Donald Worster the contributors to A Field on Fire: The Future of Environmental History reflect on the past and future of this discipline Featuring wide ranging essays by leading environmental historians from the United States Europe and China the collection challenges scholars to rethink some of their orthodoxies inviting them to approach familiar stories from new angles to integrate new methodologies and to think creatively about the questions this field is well positioned to answer Worster's groundbreaking research serves as the organizational framework for the collection Editors Mark D Hersey and Ted Steinberg have arranged the book into three sections corresponding to the primary concerns of Worster's influential scholarship the problem of natural limits the transnational nature of environmental issues and the question of method Under the heading Facing Limits five essays explore the inherent tensions between democracy technology capitalism and the environment The Crossing Borders section underscores the ways in which environmental history moves easily across national and disciplinary boundaries Finally Doing Environmental History invokes Worster's work as an essayist by offering self-conscious reflections about the practice and purpose of environmental history The essays aim to provoke a discussion on the future of the field pointing to untapped and underdeveloped avenues ripe for further exploration A forward thinker like Worster presents bold challenges to a new generation of environmental historians on everything from capitalism and the Anthropocene to war and wilderness This engaging volume includes a very special afterword by one of Worster's oldest friends the eminent intellectual historian Daniel Rodgers who has known Worster for close to fifty years
