British design practice with the romance of tradition This book for the first time provides a national context for the work of Margaret Macdonald and Charles Rennie Mackintosh Robert Lorimer Phoebe Anna Traquair and many new names that emerge from the shadows The Arts and Crafts Garden Sarah Rutherford,2013-07-10 The Arts and Crafts Movement espoused values of simplicity craftsmanship and beauty quite counter to Victorian and Edwardian industrialism Though most famous for its architecture furniture and ornamental work between the 1890s and the 1930s the movement also produced gardens all over Britain whose designs redolent of a lost golden era had worldwide influence These designs by luminaries such as Gertrude Jekyll and Sir Edwin Lutyens were engaging and romantic combinations of manor house garden formalism and the naive charms of the cottage garden but from formally clipped topiary to rugged wild borders nothing was left to chance Sarah Rutherford here explores the winding paths and meticulously shaped hedges the gazebos and gateways the formal terraces and the billowing border plantings that characterised the Arts and Crafts garden and directs readers and gardeners to where they can visit and be inspired by these beautiful works of art The English Farmhouse and Cottage M. W. Barley,2024-05-30 First published in 1961 The English Farmhouse and Cottage brings together the evidence collected by those who have studied vanished buildings by excavation and also examined surviving houses with a gentler instrument the measuring tape A change is taking place in the attitude towards the old buildings of the countryside Into the place of the sentimentalist in search of the picturesque and the architect looking for a style have stepped the local historian and the archaeologist Mr Barley has built up a picture of the English countryman and his housing needs He is concerned particularly with the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries since they were the most formative period in the evolution of the modern house This book is an essential tool in the hands of those who wish to pursue whether as tourists or as students an important and fascinating aspect of the history of Rural England Georgian Architecture in the British Isles, 1714-1830 James Stevens Curl,2011 A celebration of architectural design in the reigns of the first four Georges 1714 1830 examining the remarkable stylistic diversity of Palladianism the revivals of Greek Roman and Egyptian styles the taste for the exotic and orientalism and the developments leading to the Gothic revival Houses of the Welsh Countryside Peter Smith,1988 When this book was first published in 1975 it was at once enthusiastically received by scholars and the general public alike and recognized as a classic of its genre It represented a notable publication of the early fruits of the Commission's work on the side of its responsibility for the National Monuments Record for Wales During the years which have since intervened much fresh information has come to light concerning Welsh houses not least because of the intense interest awakened by the original publication This new knowledge has as far as possible been incorporated in the new and revised edition which contains approximately onequarter more material than the first Although it has not been possible to alter the original text a number of additional maps and photographs have been included and a new dust jacket has been designed The Commissioners would wish warmly to congratulate their Secretary Mr Peter Smith those of his colleagues who were associated with him and H M S O on the excellence of this volume It marks another outstanding landmark in the study of vernacular architecture not only in Wales but also in the British Isles and a major achievement on the part of its author Although this second edition of Houses of the Welsh Countryside retains in their entirety the text the illustrations and the layout of the volume first published in 1975 it also includes a substantial amount of new information which has come to light since that date Some of this new material takes the form of additional figures inserted where appropriate into the existing illustrative pages Similarly a small number of additional colour plates showing typical houses in characteristic settings has been tipped into the text There are also additions to the original map lists It has not been possible for reasons of cost to bring the maps themselves up to date but as the newly discovered sites nearly always reinforce the distribution patterns first indicated this omission is not crucial The numbers of new discoveries can vary from a mere handful on one list to several hundred on another All other new material is introduced as part of an additional SECTION IV at the back of the volume This section comprises Corrigenda Covering sites which were inadequately or incorrectly described in the first volume involving in one case a complete reappraisal of the original reference Addenda I Describing and illustrating a small number of newly surveyed houses of especial interest which could not easily be fitted into the illustrations in the main text Addenda II Analysing the incidence of date inscriptions as evidence for building activity Addenda III Listing and mapping a number of features of domestic architecture not previously so noted Addenda IV Listing and mapping various features of ecclesiastical architecture which also occur in houses and which therefore have a bearing on the evolution of domestic architecture
