Screen Play Derrida And Film Theory:

Screen/Play Peter Brunette, David Wills, 2014-07-14 Peter Brunette and David Wills extend the work of Jacques Derrida into a new realm with rewarding consequences Although Derrida has never addressed film theory directly in his writings Brunette and Wills argue that the ideas he has developed in his critique of the logocentric foundations of Western thought especially his notion of Writing can be usefully applied to film theory and analysis They maintain that such an application might even begin to shift film from its traditional position within the visual arts to a new place in the media and information sciences This book also supplies a fascinating introduction to Derrida for the general reader The authors begin by explaining in political terms why film theorists have neglected Derrida's work Next they offer a Derridean critique of the assumptions of contemporary film studies Then drawing on his recently translated The Truth in Painting as well as on other relatively unknown texts such as Droit de regards they discuss his ideas in relation to the cinema and present two film analyses of Truffaut's The Bride Wore Black and of Lynch's Blue Velvet that attempt to demonstrate the notion of an anagrammatical radical reading practice Finally they focus on Derrida's neglected book The Post Card and situate cinema in terms of a new definition of the technological Originally published in 1989 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

Screen Play Peter Brunette, David Wills, Script Culture and the American Screenplay Kevin Alexander Boon, 2008-01-10 By considering the screenplay as a literary object worthy of critical inquiry this volume breaks new ground in film studies Though the history of the screenplay is as long and rich as the history of film itself critics and scholars have neglected it as a topic of serious research Script Culture and the American Screenplay treats the screenplay as a literary work in its own right presenting analyses of screenplays from a variety of frameworks including feminism Marxism structuralism philosophy and psychology In distancing the text of screenplays from the on screen performance typically associated with them Kevin Alexander Boon expands the scope of film studies into exciting new territory with this volume Script Culture and the American Screenplay is divided into two parts Part 1 provides a general background for screenplay studies tracing the evolution of the screenplay from the early shot lists and continuities of George M. Cohan and Thomas Harper Ince to the more detailed narratives of contemporary works Part 2 offers specific primarily thematic critical examinations of screenplays along with discussions of the original screenplay and the screenplay adaptation In all Boon explains that screenplay criticism distinguishes itself from traditional film studies in three major ways The primary focus of screenplay criticism is on the screenplay rather than the film the focus of screenplay studies is on the screenwriter rather than the director and screenplay criticism like literary criticism is written to illuminate a reader's understanding of the text Boon demonstrates that whether we are concerned with aesthetics and identifying rules for distinguishing the literary from the non literary or whether we align ourselves with more contemporary theories which recognize texts as distinguishable in their inter relationships and marked difference screenplays constitute a rich cache of works worthy of critical examination Film scholars as well as students of film creative writing and literary studies will appreciate this singular volume

Film Theory: The Basics Kevin McDonald, 2022-05-11 Fully updated and expanded throughout this second edition of Film Theory The Basics provides an accessible introduction to the key theorists concepts and debates that have shaped the study of moving images The book examines film theory from its emergence in the early twentieth century to its study in the present day and explores why film has drawn special attention as a medium as a form of representation and as a focal point in the rise of modern visual culture It also emphasizes how film theory has developed as a historically contingent discourse one that has evolved and changed in conjunction with different social political and intellectual factors This second edition offers a detailed account of new theoretical directions at the forefront of film studies in the twenty first century and draws additional attention to how theory engages with today's most pressing questions about digital technologies the environment and racial justice Complete with questions for discussion and a glossary of both key terms and key theorists this book is an invaluable resource for those new to film theory and for anyone else interested in the history and significance of critical thinking in relation to the moving image

Film theory Robert Lapsley, Michael Westlake Ltd, 2024-07-30 Film theory an introduction offers a highly readable account of film theory and is an indispensable resource for students The discussion ranges from the late 1960s to the present a period in which a number of conceptual strands notably politics semiotics and psychoanalysis were woven together in an ambitious synthesis In this book the authors chart the construction of this synthesis and its subsequent fragmentation and clearly explain the various intellectual currents which have contributed to it Divided into two parts the first covers the conceptual background of film theory dealing with historical materialism semiotics and psychoanalysis whilst in the second the authors concentrate on particular topics such as authorship narrative realism the avant garde and postmodernism For this new edition the authors have added a new foreword a fully updated and expanded bibliography and a 60 page Retrospect outlining developments within film theory since the book's original publication in 1988 This Retrospect identifies a number of broad readings of Theory each with a different perspective on the main content of the book As such it provides a new and original mapping of the post theory moment in this complex and often fractured terrain Accessible and authoritative this book is essential reading for students of film theory or indeed anyone seeking a deeper understanding of modern cinema

Film, Theory and Philosophy Felicity Colman, 2014-12-05 Philosophy and in particular continental philosophy has provided a conceptual underpinning for cinema since its beginnings especially in the development of cinematic aesthetics In its turn film has rethought the abstractions of space and time and the categories of sex and gender and has created new concepts which illuminate phenomenology metaphysics and epistemology Film and Philosophy brings together leading scholars to provide a detailed overview of the key thinkers who have shaped the field of film philosophy The thinkers include continental and post continental philosophers analytic philosophers film makers film reviewers sociologists and cultural theorists The essays reveal how philosophy can be applied to film analysis and how film can be used to illustrate philosophical problems But more importantly the essays explore how film has shaped what philosophy thinks and how philosophy has led to a reappraisal of film The book will prove an invaluable reference and guide to readers interested in a deeper understanding of the issues and insights presented by film philosophy Film and Philosophy includes essays on Hugo Munsterberg Vilem Flusser Siegfried Kracauer Theodor Adorno Antonin Artaud Henri Bergson Maurice Merleau Ponty Emmanuel Levinas Andre Bazin Roland Barthes Serge Daney Jean Luc Godard Stanley Cavell Jean Luc Nancy Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze Sarah Kofman Paul Virilio Jean Baudrillard Jean Francois Lyotard Fredric Jameson Felix Guattari Raymond Bellour Christian Metz Julia Kristeva Laura Mulvey Homi Bhabha Slavoj Zizek Stephen Heath Alain Badiou Jacques Ranciere Leo Bersani Giorgio Agamben and Michel Chion

The Palgrave Handbook of the Philosophy of Film and Motion Pictures Noël Carroll, Laura T. Di Summa, Shawn Loht, 2019-10-30 This handbook brings together essays in the philosophy of film and motion pictures from authorities across the spectrum It boasts contributions from philosophers and film theorists alike with many essays employing pluralist approaches to this interdisciplinary subject Core areas treated include film ontology film structure psychology authorship narrative and viewer emotion Emerging areas of interest including virtual reality video games and nonfictional and autobiographical film also have dedicated chapters. Other areas of focus include the film medium's intersection with contemporary social issues, film's kinship to other art forms, and the influence of historically seminal schools of thought in the philosophy of film. Of emphasis in many of the essays is the relationship and overlap of analytic and continental perspectives in this subject. Post-Westerns Neil Campbell, 2020-04-01

During the post World War II period the Western like America's other great film genres appeared to collapse as a result of revisionism and the emergence of new forms. Perhaps however as theorists like Gilles Deleuze suggest it remains simply maintaining its empty frame. Yet this frame is far from empty as Post Westerns shows us rather than collapse the Western instead found a new form through which to scrutinize and question the very assumptions on which the genre was based. Employing the ideas of critics such as Deleuze, Jacques Derrida, and Jacques Rancière, Neil Campbell examines the haunted inheritance of the Western in contemporary U.S. culture. His book reveals how close examination of certain postwar films including Bad Day at Black Rock, The Misfits, Lone Star, Easy Rider, Gas Food Lodging, Down in the Valley, and No Country for Old Men reconfigures our notions of region and nation, the Western, and indeed the West itself. Campbell suggests that post Westerns are in fact ghost Westerns, haunted by the earlier form's devices and styles in ways that at once acknowledge and call into question the West both as such and in its persistent ideological framing of the national identity and values. The

Traces of Jacques Derrida's Cinema Timothy Holland, 2024. Situated at the intersection of film and media studies, literary theory, and continental philosophy, The Traces of Jacques Derrida's Cinema provides a trenchant account of the role of cinema in the oeuvre of one of the most influential philosophers of the twentieth century, Jacques Derrida (1930–2004). The book is animated by Derrida's self-confessed passion for the movies, his reluctance to write about film despite the range of his corpus, and the generative encounters arising between his legacy and the field of film and media studies as a result. Given the expanse of its references, interdisciplinarity, and consideration of Derrida's approach to the experience of both spectatorship and the act of being filmed, The Traces of Jacques Derrida's Cinema contributes to the ongoing close analyses of the philosopher's work while also providing a rigorous introduction to deconstruction. Author Timothy Holland interweaves historical and speculative modes of research and writing to articulate the peripheral yet surprisingly crucial place of the cinematic medium for Derrida and his philosophical enterprise. The outcome is a meticulously detailed survey of the centers and margins of Derrida's oeuvre that include forays into such terrain as his notable appearances in films, an unrealized project on cinema, and belief that Derrida proposed in a 2001 interview the correspondences between the strategies of deconstruction and the traditions, homecomings, and wordplay of David Lynch's cinematic media, and the questions wedded to the future of film studies amid the vicissitudes of the modern virtual university. Ultimately, Holland pursues the thinking activated by the flickering of Derrida's cinema: not only the absence and presence of film in Derrida's professional and personal life but also the rigor of academic discourse and the pleasures of the movies, ghosts, and technology, religious faith, and scientific knowledge and ruination and survival as a critical chance for reflection Rethinking Art and Visual Culture Asbjørn Skarsvåg Grønstad, 2020-10-29 This is the first book to offer a systematic account of the concept of opacity in the aesthetic field Engaging with works by Ernie Gehr John Akomfrah Matt Saunders David Lynch Trevor Paglen Zach Blas and Low the study considers the cultural epistemological and ethical values of images and sounds that are fuzzy indeterminate distorted degraded or otherwise indistinct Rethinking Art and Visual Culture shows how opaque forms of art address problems of mediation knowledge and information It also intervenes in current debates about new systems of visibility and surveillance by explaining how indefinite art provides a critique of the positivist drive behind these regimes A timely contribution to media theory cinema studies American studies and aesthetics the book presents a novel and extensive analysis of the politics of transparency

Downcast Eyes Martin Jay, 1993-10-01 Long considered the noblest of the senses vision has increasingly come under critical scrutiny by a wide range of thinkers who question its dominance in Western culture These critics of vision especially prominent in twentieth century France have challenged its allegedly superior capacity to provide access to the world They have also criticized its supposed complicity with political and social oppression through the promulgation of spectacle and surveillance Martin Jay turns to this discourse surrounding vision and explores its often contradictory implications in the work of such influential figures as Jean Paul Sartre Maurice Merleau Ponty Michel Foucault Jacques Lacan Louis Althusser Guy Debord Luce Irigaray Emmanuel Levinas and Jacques Derrida Jay begins with a discussion of the theory of vision from Plato to Descartes then considers its role in the French Enlightenment before turning to its status in the culture of modernity From consideration of French Impressionism to analysis of Georges Bataille and the Surrealists Roland Barthes's writings on photography and the film theory of Christian Metz Jay provides lucid and fair minded accounts of thinkers and ideas widely known for their difficulty His book examines the myriad links between the interrogation of vision and the pervasive antihumanist antimodernist and counter enlightenment tenor of much recent French thought Refusing however to defend the dominant visual order he calls instead for a plurality of scopic regimes Certain to generate controversy and discussion throughout the humanities and social sciences Downcast Eyes will consolidate Jay's reputation as one of today's premier cultural and intellectual historians

The Derrida Reader Jacques Derrida, 1998-01-01 In the English speaking world Jacques Derrida's writings have most influenced the discipline of literary studies Yet what has emerged since the initial phase of Derrida's influence on the study of English literature classed under the rubric of deconstruction has often been disowned by Derrida What then can Derrida teach us about literary language about the rhetoric of literature and about questions concerning style form and structure The Derrida Reader draws together a number of Derrida's most interesting and idiosyncratic essays that treat literary language the idea of the literary and questions of poetics and poetry The essays discuss single tropes or concepts a figure such as metaphor the ideas of titles and signatures proper names and Derrida's thinking on such subjects as undecidability or aporia The editor's introduction is a demonstration in practice of how Derrida reads and how he adapts the act of reading to the text or figure in question The introduction also outlines each essay's main points its usefulness for reading literary texts and its particular area of interest The Derrida Reader thus provides students of literature with a focused contextualized and readily understandable volume

Anamorphic Authorship in Canonical Film Adaptation Robert Geal, 2019-05-21 This book develops a new approach for the study of films adapted from canonical originals such as Shakespeare's plays Departing from the current consensus that adaptation is a heightened example of how all texts inform and are informed by other texts this book instead argues that film adaptations of canonical works extend cinema's inherent mystification and concealment of its own artifice Film adaptation consistently manipulates and obfuscates its traces of original authorial enunciation and oscillates between overtly authored articulation and seemingly unauthored unfolding To analyse this process the book moves from a dialogic to a psychoanalytic poststructuralist account of film adaptations of Shakespeare's plays The differences between these rival approaches to adaptation are explored in depth in the first part of the book while the second part constructs a taxonomy of the various ways in which authorial signs are simultaneously foregrounded and concealed in adaptation's anamorphic drama of authorship

The Montage Principle, 2016-08-29 This book of essays is quite unique in that it intervenes in a still contested area within many universities that of the relevance of film to literature critical theory politics sociology and anthropology The essays were commissioned by Jean Antoine Dunne whose research has explored the impact of Eisenstein's aesthetics on different areas of modernist literature and drama The essays in this collection use Eisenstein as a point of departure into divergent fields of analysis and are concerned with the principle of montage as a transforming idea They gather within the pages of one work contributions from Geoffrey Nowell Smith Richard Taylor Paul Willemen and emerging scholars entering and altering the field of interdisciplinary scholarship film and literature These hitherto unpublished essays not only extend and elaborate on previous treatments of Eisenstein and montage in areas such as semiotics film theory and feminist film practice but also introduce his work to areas which have not yet been considered in relation to Eisenstein and montage such as Beckett scholarship Caribbean aesthetics Third Cinema and debates around digital imagery No other collection of essays has explored the idea of montage as a structuring cultural and critical principle and the elasticity of Eisenstein's legacy in quite this way

Salvation from Cinema Crystal Downing, 2015-10-23 Salvation from Cinema offers something new to the burgeoning field of religion and film the religious significance of film technique Discussing the history of both cinematic devices and film theory Crystal Downing argues that attention to the material medium echoes Christian doctrine about the materiality of Christ's body as the medium of salvation Downing cites Jewish Muslim Buddhist and Hindu perspectives on film in order to compare and clarify the significance of medium within the frameworks of multiple traditions This book will be useful to professors and students interested in the relationship between religion and film
