The Happiness Illusion

Luke Hockley, Nadi Fadina, 2015-06-19 The West has never been more affluent yet the use of antidepressants is on the increase to the extent that the World Health Organisation has declared it a major source of concern How has this state of affairs come about and what can be done Television and advertising media seem to know Wherever we look they offer countless remedies for our current situation unfortunately none of them seem to work The Happiness Illusion explores how the metaphorical insights of fairy tales have been literalised and turned into commodities In so doing their ability to educate and entertain has largely been lost Instead advertising and television sell us products that offer to magically transform the way we look how we age where we live both in the city and the countryside the possibility of new jobs and so forth All of these are supposed to make us happy But despite the allure of retail therapy modern magic has lost its spell What then are the sources of happiness in our contemporary society Through a series of fairy tales The Happiness Illusion How the media sold us a fairytale looks at topics such as age gender marriage and rom coms Nordic Noir and the representations of therapy on television In doing so it explores alternative ways to relate to the world in a symbolic and less literal manner it suggests that happiness comes by making sure we don't fall under the spell of the illusionary promises of contemporary television and advertising Instead happiness comes from being ourselves warts and all This book will be of interest to Jungian academics film media and cultural studies academics social psychologists and their students as well as reaching out to those interested in fairy tale studies psychotherapists and educated cinema goers Luke Hockley PhD is Research Professor of Media Analysis at the University of Bedfordshire UK He is a practicing psychotherapist and is registered with the United Kingdom Council for Psychotherapy UKCP Luke is joint Editor in Chief of the International Journal of Jungian Studies IJJS and a member of the Advisory Board for the journal Spring and lectures widely www.lukehockley.com Nadi Fadina is a media entrepreneur and a managing partner in an international film fund She is involved in a variety of arts and media related projects both in profit and non profit spheres She teaches Film Business in the University of Bedfordshire however her academic interests outreach spheres of business and cover ideology Russian fairytales sexuality politics anthropology and cinema www.nadi.fadina.com

The Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1991 Looking-Glass Wars: Spies on British Screens since 1960 Alan

Burton, 2018-01-31 Looking Glass Wars Spies on British Screens since 1960 is a detailed historical and critical overview of espionage in British film and television in the important period since 1960 From that date the British spy screen was transformed under the influence of the tremendous success of James Bond in the cinema the spy thriller and of the new style spy writing of John le Carr and Len Deighton the espionage story In the 1960s there developed a popular cycle of spy thrillers

in the cinema and on television The new study looks in detail at the cycle which in previous work has been largely neglected in favour of the James Bond films The study also brings new attention to espionage on British television and popular secret agent series such as Spy Trap Quiller and The Sandbaggers It also gives attention to the more realistic representation of spying in the film and television adaptations of le Carr and Deighton and other dramas with a more serious intent In addition there is wholly original attention given to nostalgic spy fictions on screen adaptations of classic stories of espionage which were popular in the late 1970s and through the 1980s and to historical spy fiction dramas which treated real cases of espionage and their characters most notably the notorious Cambridge Spies Detailed attention is also given to the secret state thriller a cycle of paranoid screen dramas in the 1980s which portrayed the intelligence services in a conspiratorial light best understood as a reaction to excessive official secrecy and anxieties about an unregulated security service The study is brought up to date with an examination of screen espionage in Britain since the end of the Cold War The approach is empirical and historical The study examines the production and reception literary and historical contexts of the films and dramas It is the first detailed overview of the British spy screen in its crucial period since the 1960s and provides fresh attention to spy films series and serials never previously considered Philosophy of the Film Ian Jarvie, 2003-09-02

Examines the overlap between film and philosophy in three distinct ways epistemological issues in film making and viewing aesthetic theory and film and film as a medium of philosophical expression Reason of Sociology Kauko Pietila, 2011 Published in association with the ISA and part of the SAGE Studies in International Sociology series this is a passionate and stimulating exploration of how the work of Georg Simmel can help revitalise and focus the aims of sociology today

Beyond Foundationalism Stanley James Grenz, John R. Franke, 2001-01-01 Grenz and Franke provide a methodological approach for doing theology in the postmodern world They call for a theological method that moves beyond the Enlightenment way of ordering and understanding information foundationalism They propose a theological method that takes seriously the Spirit tradition and contemporary culture while stressing trinitarian structure community and eschatology

Classic Pictorial of Screen and Stage, 1923 Social Semantics Harry Halpin, 2012-08-01 Social Semantics The Search for Meaning on the Web provides a unique introduction to identity and reference theories of the World Wide Web through the academic lens of philosophy of language and data driven statistical models The Semantic Web is a natural evolution of the Web and this book covers the URL based Web architecture and Semantic Web in detail It has a robust empirical side which has an impact on industry Social Semantics The Search for Meaning on the Web discusses how the largest problem facing the Semantic Web is the problem of identity and reference and how these are the results of a larger general theory of meaning This book hypothesizes that statistical semantics can solve these problems illustrated by case studies ranging from a pioneering study of tagging systems to using the Semantic Web to boost the results of commercial search engines Social Semantics The Search for Meaning on the Web targets practitioners working in the related fields of the semantic web search
