Loot Sharon Waxman,2003-01-18 A journey across four continents to the heart of the conflict over who should own the great works of ancient art Why are the Elgin Marbles in London and not on the Acropolis Why do there seem to be as many mummies in France as there are in Egypt Why are so many Etruscan masterworks in America For the past two centuries the West has been plundering the treasures of the ancient world to fill its great museums but in recent years the countries where ancient civilizations originated have begun to push back taking museums to court prosecuting curators and threatening to force the return of these priceless objects Where do these treasures rightly belong Sharon Waxman a former culture reporter for The New York Times and a longtime foreign correspondent brings us inside this high stakes conflict examining the implications for the preservation of the objects themselves and for how we understand our shared cultural heritage Her journey takes readers from the great cities of Europe and America to Egypt Turkey Greece and Italy as these countries face down the Louvre the Metropolitan Museum the British Museum and the J Paul Getty Museum She also introduces a cast of determined and implacable characters whose battles may strip these museums of some of their most cherished treasures For readers who are fascinated by antiquity who love to frequent museums and who believe in the value of cultural exchange Loot opens a new window on an enduring conflict

Millennial Seduction Lee Quinby,2018-09-05 Who among us still thinks the year 2000 is just an arbitrary turn of a calendar page Why does its approach bring both fear of apocalyptic destruction and the promise of millennial salvation Lee Quinby investigates how anxiety about the arrival of the new century casts everything from El Ni o to sheep cloning in apocalyptic terms simultaneously fueling panic and fostering unfounded hope for a perfect world Millennial rhetoric is both pervasive and persuasive Quinby argues because it operates with mutually reinforcing doses of fear and hope Religious and secular anxiety erupts over charged issues such as sex education the regulation of cyberspace and the Christian masculinity of the Promise Keepers Quinby exposes the dangers of millennialist solutions which link misogyny homophobia and racism with absolutist claims about truth morality sexuality and technology It is the absolutism of apocalyptic thought not an impending apocalypse that poses the more serious threat to our society Quinby maintains Millennial Seduction advocates a form of skepticism that challenges absolutism and encourages democratic participation

Homer: Everyman Poetry Homer, 2012-04-26 Selected verse from the Iliad and the Odyssey edited by David Hopkins
