See Under A Novel:

See Under: Shoah Marc De Kesel, Bettine Siertsema, Katarzyna Szurmiak, 2014-08-28 Did the first generation Holocaust writers not warn us against the risks of imagination Does it not create an illusion that the unimaginable can be imagined the unrepresentable represented Clearly this warning has not been taken up by David Grossman Fully embracing imagination's power his novel See under Love offers a profound reflection on how the twenty first century can assume the heritage of the Shoah and remember the unmemorable in a proper way The essays in this volume reflect on this one novel though each from its own angle Focusing on one single novel shows the surplus value of a multispectral reflection on one central problem in this case the allegedly inconceivable and unspeakable nature of the Shoah Novel Science Adelene Buckland, 2013-04-12 Novel Science is the first in depth study of the shocking groundbreaking and sometimes beautiful writings of the gentlemen of the heroic age of geology and of the contribution these men made to the literary culture of their day For these men literature was an essential part of the practice of science itself as important to their efforts as mapmaking fieldwork and observation The reading and writing of imaginative literatures helped them to discover imagine debate and give shape and meaning to millions of years of previously undiscovered earth history Borrowing from the historical fictions of Walter Scott and the poetry of Lord Byron they invented geology as a science discovered many of the creatures we now call the dinosaurs and were the first to unravel and map the sequence and structure of stratified rock As Adelene Buckland shows they did this by rejecting the grand narratives of older theories of the earth or of biblical cosmogony theirs would be a humble science faithfully recording minute details and leaving the big picture for future generations to paint Buckland also reveals how these scientists just as they had drawn inspiration from their literary predecessors gave Victorian realist novelists such as George Eliot Charles Kingsley and Charles Dickens a powerful language with which to create dark and disturbing ruptures in the too seductive sweep of story Dreaming in Books Andrew Piper, 2009-08 Examining novels critical editions gift books translations and illustrated books as well as the communities who made them Dreaming in Books tells a wide ranging story of the book's identity at the turn of the nineteenth century In so doing it shows how many of the most pressing modern communicative concerns are not unique to the digital age but emerged with a particular sense of urgency during the bookish upheavals of the romantic era In revisiting the book's rise through the prism of romantic literature Piper aims to revise our assumptions about romanticism the medium of the printed book and ultimately the future of the book in our so called digital age Pub desc The Bystander, 1905 The Centrifugal Novel Stephen Katz, 1999 The study addresses a number of issues among them the importance that manuscripts and text editing have in our comprehension of fiction how Agnon composed some of his short works lending them an indeterminacy and force to serve as comments on the human condition In addition the final chapters demonstrate several approaches to the interpretation of A Guest for the Night from thematic linguistic and intratextual perspectives History of Literature in Canada Reingard M. Nischik, 2008 The development of literature in Canada with an eye to its multicultural multiethnic multilingual nature From modest colonial beginnings literature in Canada has arrived at the center stage of world literature Works by English Canadian writers both established writers such as Margaret Atwood and new talents such as Yann Martel make regular appearances on international bestseller lists French Canadian literature has also found its own voice in the North American and francophone worlds CanLit has likewise developed into a staple of academic interest pursued in Canadian Studies programs in Canada and around the world This volume draws on the expertise of scholars from Canada Germany Austria and France tracing Canadian literature from the indigenous oral tradition to the development of English Canadian and French Canadian literature since colonial times Conceiving of Canada as a single but multifaceted culture it accounts for specific characteristics of English and French Canadian literatures such as the vital role of the short story in English Canada or that of the chanson in French Canada Yet special attention is also paid to Aboriginal literature and to the pronounced transcultural ethnically diverse character of much contemporary Canadian literature thus moving clearly beyond the traditions of the two founding nations Contributors Reingard M Nischik Eva Gruber Iain M Higgins Guy Lafleur Dorothee Scholl Gwendolyn Davies Tracy Ware Fritz Peter Kirsch Julia Breibach Lorraine York Marta Dvorak Jerry Wasserman Ursula Mathis Moser Doris G Eibl Rolf Lohse Sherrill Grace Caroline Rosenthal Martin Kuester Nicholas Bradley Anne Nothof Georgiana Banita Gilles Dupuis and Andrea Oberhuber Reingard M Nischik is Professor of American Literature at the University of Constance Germany A List of the Books in the Library of Hotel Statler, St. Louis Hotel Statler (St. Louis, Mo.). Library, 1919 Encyclopedia of the Novel Paul Schellinger, 2014-04-08 The Encyclopedia of the Novel is the first reference book that focuses on the development of the novel throughout the world Entries on individual writers assess the place of that writer within the development of the novel form explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important Similarly an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel not only from analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre A wide range of topic entries explore the history criticism theory production dissemination and reception of the novel A very important component of the Encyclopedia of the Novel is its long surveys of development of the novel in various regions of the world Mikhail Bakhtin Gary Saul Morson, Caryl Emerson, 1990 Books about thinkers require a kind of unity that their thought may not possess This cautionary statement is especially applicable to Mikhail Bakhtin whose intellectual development displays a diversity of insights that cannot be easily integrated or accurately described in terms of a single overriding concern Indeed in a career spanning some sixty years he experienced both dramatic and gradual changes in his thinking returned to abandoned insights that he then developed in unexpected ways and worked through new ideas only loosely related to his earlier concerns Small wonder then that Bakhtin should have speculated on the relations among received notions of biography unity innovation and the creative process Unity with respect not only to individuals but also to art culture and the world generally is usually understood as conformity to an underlying structure or an overarching scheme Bakhtin believed that this idea of unity contradicts the possibility of true creativity For if everything conforms to a preexisting pattern then genuine development is reduced to mere discovery to a mere uncovering of something that in a strong sense is already there And yet Bakhtin accepted that some concept of unity was essential Without it the world ceases to make sense and creativity again disappears this time replaced by the purely aleatory There would again be no possibility of anything meaningfully new The grim truth of these two extremes was expressed well by Borges an inescapable labyrinth could consist of an infinite number of turns or of no turns at all Bakhtin attempted to rethink the concept of unity in order to allow for the possibility of genuine creativity The goal in his words was a nonmonologic unity in which real change or surprisingness is an essential component of the creative process As it happens such change was characteristic of Bakhtin s own thought which seems to have developed by continually diverging from his initial intentions Although it would not necessarily follow that the development of Bakhtin s thought corresponded to his ideas about unity and creativity we believe that in this case his ideas on nonmonologic unity are useful in understanding his own thought as well as that of other thinkers whose careers are comparably varied and productive

Women's Diaries as Narrative in the Nineteenth-Century Novel Catherine Delafield,2016-12-05 Using private diary writing as her model Catherine Delafield investigates the cultural significance of nineteenth century women s writing and reading practices Beginning with an examination of non fictional diaries and the practice of diary writing she assesses the interaction between the fictional diary and other forms of literary production such as epistolary narrative the periodical the factual document and sensation fiction The discrepancies between the private diary and its use as a narrative device are explored through the writings of Frances Burney Elizabeth Gaskell Anne Bront Dinah Craik Wilkie Collins and Bram Stoker The ideological function of the diary Delafield suggests produces a conflict in fictional narrative between that diary s received use as a domestic and spiritual record and its authority as a life writing opportunity for women Delafield considers women as writers readers and subjects and contextualizes her analysis within nineteenth century reading practice She demonstrates ways in which women could become performers of their own story through a narrative method which was authorized by their femininity and at the same time allowed them to challenge the myth of domestic womanhood

The Rise of the Novel

Updated Edition Ian Watt,2001-06 A classic description of the interworkings of social conditions changing attitudes and literary practices during the period when the novel emerged as the dominant literary form of the individualist era

The Sentimental Education of the Novel Margaret Cohen,2018-06-05 The nineteenth century French novel has long been seen as the heroic production of great men who confronted in their works the social consequences of the French Revolution And it is true that French realism especially as developed by Balzac and Stendhal was one of the most influential novelistic forms ever invented Margaret Cohen however challenges the traditional account of the genesis of realism by returning Balzac and Stendhal to the forgotten novelistic contexts of their time Reconstructing a key formative period for the novel she shows how realist codes emerged in a hostile take over of a prestigious contemporary sentimental practice of the novel which was almost completely dominated by women writers Cohen draws on impressive archival research resurrecting scores of forgotten nineteenth century novels to demonstrate that the codes most closely identified with realism were actually the invention of sentimentality a powerful aesthetic of emerging liberal democratic society although Balzac and Stendhal trivialized sentimental works by associating them with frivolous women writers and readers Attention to these gendered struggles over genre explains why women were not pioneers of realism in France during the nineteenth century a situation that contrasts with England where women writers played a formative role in inventing the modern realist novel Cohen argues that to understand how literary codes respond to material factors it is imperative to see how such factors take shape within the literary field as well as within society as a whole The book also proposes that attention to literature as a social institution will help critics resolve the current vital question of how to practice literary history in the wake of poststructuralism

Dickens Novels as Verse Joseph P. Jordan, 2012-05-31 As its startling and aggressive title suggests Dickens Novels as Verse is no standard work of literary criticism It is in fact altogether new and original Jordan likens the experience of some of the great Dickens novels particularly the later ones namely A Tale of Two Cities Great Expectations and Our Mutual Friend to the experience of lyric verse The point is not that Dickens novels could ever be mistaken for lyric poems but that the experience of some of the best of Dickens's novels despite their undoubted sprawl is like the experience of lyric poems is so because the novels are made up of the same things that make great verse great intricate largely unnoticeable tissues of alliteration like patterning that net across the work and give narratively insignificant coherence to it Dickens Novels as Verse meticulously describes these book length patterns in clear lucid prose Its three chapters each focused on a single Dickens novel are full of close analyses that can be immediately used by teachers students and all other readers of Dickens to grasp why Dickens always seems to be a greater writer than the quality of his ideas might lead us to expect Cultural Afterlives and Screen Adaptations of Classic Literature H. Shachar, 2012-07-17 Film and television adaptations of classic literature have held a longstanding appeal for audiences an appeal that this book sets out to examine With a particular focus on Wuthering Heights the book examines adaptations made from the 1930s to the twenty first century providing an understanding of how they help shape our cultural landscape The Sons of Maxwell Perkins Maxwell Evarts Perkins, 2004 As the sole literary editor with name recognition among students of American literature Perkins remains permanently linked to Fitzgerald Hemingway and Wolfe in literary history Their relationships play out in the 221 letters Matthew J Brucoli has assembled in this volume The collection documents the extent of the fatherly forbearance attention and encouragement the legendary Scribners editor gave to his authorial sons The correspondence portrays his ability to juggle the requirements of his three geniuses The North American Review Henry Cabot Lodge, Jared Sparks, Edward Everett, James Russell Lowell, 1893 Vols 277 230 no 2 include Stuff and nonsense v 5 6 no 8 Jan 1929 Aug 1930 Bulletin of Bibliography, 1912
