Playwrights 1900 1939 is the first book to examine the plays of five fascinating and creative women placing their work for theatre in co relation to suggest a parallel tradition that reframes the development of Irish theatre into the present day How these playwrights dramatize violence and its impacts in political social and personal life is a central concern of this book Augusta Gregory Eva Gore Booth Dorothy Macardle Mary Manning and Teresa Deevy re model theatrical form re structuring action and narrative and exploring closure as a way of disrupting audience expectation Their plays create stage spaces and images that expose relationships of power and authority and invite the audience to see the performance not as illusion but as framed by the conventions and limits of theatrical representation Irish Women Playwrights 1900 1939 is suitable for courses in Irish theatre women in theatre gender and performance dramaturgy and Irish drama in the twentieth century as well as for those interested in women s work in theatre and in Irish theatre in the twentieth century Irish Women Writers

theatre from both Irish theatre practitioners and international academics The eighteen contributions offer innovative perspectives on Irish theatre since the early 1990s up to the present testifying to the development of themes explored by emerging and established playwrights as well as to the revolutions in practices and approaches to the stage that have taken place in the last thirty years This cross disciplinary collection devotes as much attention to contextual questions and approaches to the stage in practice as it does to the play text in its traditional and revised forms The essays and interviews encourage dialectic exchange between analytical studies on contemporary Irish theatre and contributions by theatre practitioners

Women and Embodied Mythmaking in Irish Theatre Shonagh Hill, 2019-08-29 The rich legacy of women's contributions to Irish theatre is traditionally viewed through a male dominated literary canon and mythmaking thus arguably silencing their work In this timely book Shonagh Hill proposes a feminist genealogy which brings new perspectives to women's mythmaking across the twentieth and twenty first centuries The performances considered include the tableaux vivants performed by the Inghinidhe na h íreann Daughters of Ireland plays written by Alice Milligan Maud Gonne Lady Augusta Gregory Eva Gore Booth Mary Devenport O'Neill Mary Elizabeth Burke Kennedy Paula Meehan Edna O'Brien and Marina Carr as well as plays translated adapted and performed by Olwen Fou're The theatrical work discussed resists the occlusion of women's cultural engagement that results from confinement to idealised myths of femininity This is realised through embodied mythmaking a process which exposes how bodies bear the consequences of these myths while refusing to accept the female body as passive bearer of inscription through the assertion of a creative female corporeality
