EBOOK: Film Art: An Introduction David Bordwell, 2013-08-16 Film is an art form with a language and an aesthetic all its own Since 1979 David Bordwell and Kristin Thompson's Film Art has been the best selling and most widely respected introduction to the analysis of cinema Taking a skills centered approach supported by examples from many periods and countries the authors help students develop a core set of analytical skills that will enrich their understanding of any film in any genre In depth examples deepen students appreciation for how creative choices by filmmakers affect what viewers experience and how they respond Film Art is generously illustrated with more than 1 000 frame enlargements taken directly from completed films providing concrete illustrations of key concepts

The Challenge of the Silver Screen Freek L. Bakker,2009-09-30 In 1897 only two years after the invention of film the first feature film about Jesus appeared This and other films about Jesus became examples for and an inspiration for films on other important religious figures like Rama Buddha and Muhammad Although religious leaders did not always approve of these films they did find a ready audience among believers This book explores these films and looks at how these films dealt with the fundamental question of portraying an individual thought to have either divine status or a very special and unique status among human beings This book will thus benefit not only students of religious film but also those studying the portrayal of central religious figures in the contemporary world

An all encompassing history of French motion pictures and cinematographic trends chronologically from 1895 to the present Slums on Screen Igor Krstic, 2016-04-08 Near to one billion people call slums their home making it a reasonable claim to describe our world as a planet of slums But how has this hard and unyielding way of life been depicted on screen How have filmmakers engaged historically and across the globe with the social conditions of what is often perceived as the world's most miserable habitats. Combining approaches from cultural globalisation and film studies, Igor Krstic outlines a transnational history of films that either document or fictionalise the favelas, shantytowns, barrios, poulares or chawls of our planet of slums, exploring the way accelerated urbanisation has intersected with an increasingly interconnected global film culture. From Jacob Riis's How The Other Half Lives (1890) to Danny Boyle's Slumdog Millionaire (2008), the volume provides a number of close readings of films from different historical periods and regions to outline how contemporary film and media practices relate to their past predecessors, demonstrating the way various filmmakers both north and south of the equator have repeatedly grappled with rejected or continuously modified documentary and realist modes to convey life in our planet of slums.

British Cinema Amy Sargeant, 2019-07-25 Although new writing and research on British cinema has burgeoned over the last fifteen years, there has been a continued lack of single-authored books providing a coherent overview to this fascinating and elusive national cinema. Amy Sargeant's personal and entertaining history of British cinema aims to fill this gap. With its insightful decade-by-decade analysis, British Cinema is brought alive for a new generation of British cinema students and the general reader alike. Sargeant challenges Rachel Low's premise that few of the films made in England during the twenties were any good by covering subjects as diverse as the art of intertitling, the narrative complexities of Shooting Stars and Brunel's Burlesques. Sargeant goes on to examine, among other things, the differing acting styles of Dietrich and Donat in the seminal Knight Without Armour, to early promotional campaigns in the 1930s, whereas subjects ranging from product endorsement by stars to the character of the suburban wife are covered in the 1940s. The 1950s includes topics such as the effect of post-war government intervention on Free Cinema, and Lindsay Anderson's infuriating lapses of rigour, together with a much-needed overview of Michael Balcon's contribution to British cinema. For Sargeant, the 1960s provides an overview of the tentative relationship between film and advertising, and the rise of young Turks such as Tony Richardson, Ken Loach, Donald Cammell and Nicolas Roeg.

World on Film Martha P. Nochimson, 2011-09-23 This uniquely engaging and lively textbook provides a comprehensive introduction to international film from the golden age of European cinema to the contemporary blockbusters of India and Asia, and the post-World War II emergence of global film culture. Offers an overview of film culture in European countries such as France, Sweden and Spain, as well as Africa, Hong Kong, China and India, in a clear and conversational style to engage the student reader. Provides a detailed exploration of the impact of globalization on international cinema. Includes a comprehensive companion website <http://www.wiley.com/go/worldonfilm> with an expansive gallery of film stills, also found in the text, plus access to sample syllabi for faculty and a detailed FAQ. Addresses the differences in visual and narrative strategies between Hollywood-influenced movies and international cinema. Highlights key words within the text and provides a comprehensive glossary of critical vocabulary for film studies. Each chapter includes in-depth case studies of individual films and directors, cultural and historical context, selected filmographies and ideas for projects essays and further research      Film Study Frank Manchel,1990-10 The four volumes of Film Study include a fresh approach to each of the basic categories in the original edition Volume one examines the film as film volume two focuses on the thematic approach to film volume three draws on the history of film and volume four contains extensive appendices listing film distributors sources and historical information as well as an index of authors titles and film personalities

Talkies, Road Movies and Chick Flicks Heidi Wilkins,2016-02-19 The representation of gender in film remains an intensely debated topic particularly in academic considerations of US mainstream cinema where it is often perceived as perpetuating rigid binary views of gender and reinforcing patriarchal dominant notions of masculinity and femininity While previous scholarly discussion has focused on visual or narrative portrayals of gender this book considers the ways that film sound music voice sound effects and silence is used to represent gender Taking a socio historical approach Heidi Wilkins investigates a range of popular US genres including screwball comedy the road movie and chick flicks to explore the ways that film sound can reinforce traditional assumptions about masculinity and femininity impart ambivalent meanings to them or even challenge and subvert the notion of gender itself Case studies include His Girl Friday Easy Rider and Bridesmaids
