Lal, 2012-11-01 A wonderfully rich insightful and personally touching collection of essays by the Pacific region's most prolific and engaging historian Brij Lal writes eloquently and poetically about his professional and political journeys and the many different people and worlds he has encountered on the way Readers will be inspired by this collective account of a courageous life committed to the achievement of democratic freedom and social justice What shines through these pages is Lal's love of and commitment to Fiji from which he has been painfully exiled David Hanlon Professor of History Former Director of the Center for Pacific Islands Studies University of Hawaii at Manoa The Emergence of International Society in the 1920s Daniel Gorman, 2012-08-20 Chronicling the emergence of an international society in the 1920s Daniel Gorman describes how the shock of the First World War gave rise to a broad array of overlapping initiatives in international cooperation Though national rivalries continued to plague world politics ordinary citizens and state officials found common causes in politics religion culture and sport with peers beyond their borders The League of Nations the turn to a less centralized British Empire the beginning of an international ecumenical movement international sporting events and audacious plans for the abolition of war all signaled internationalism's growth State actors played an important role in these developments and were aided by international voluntary organizations church groups and international networks of academics athletes women pacifists and humanitarian activists These international networks became the forerunners of international NGOs and global governance Mr Tulsi's Store Brij V. Lal, 2013-03-01 Professor Lal has been remarkably successful in combining scholarship with autobiography in Mr Tulsi's Store In the essays which cover the author's childhood and education up to university diligent scholarship combines with evocative autobiographical details to reveal a philosophical pattern that encompasses the experience of the descendants of all Indian indentured workers everywhere Professor Frank Birbalsingh York University Canada The Ivory Tower and Beyond Susan Cochrane, Doug Munro, Max Quanchi, 2009-03-26 There is a tradition of participant history among historians of the Pacific Islands unafraid to show their hands on issues of public importance and risking controversy to make their voices heard This book explores the theme of the participant historian by delving into the lives of J C Beaglehole J W Davidson Richard Gilson Harry Maude and Brij V Lal They lived at the interface of scholarship and practical engagement in such capacities as constitutional advisers defenders of civil liberties or upholders of the principles of academic freedom As well as writing history they made history and their excursions beyond the ivory tower informed their scholarship Doug Munro's sympathetic engagement with these five historians is likewise informed by his own

Mandates and Missteps Anna Kent, 2024-02-02

Mandates and Missteps is the first comprehensive history of Australian government scholarships to the Pacific from the first scheme in 1948 to the Australia Awards of 2018. The study of scholarships provides a window into foreign and education policy making across decades and the impact such policies have had on individuals and communities. This work demonstrates the broad role these scholarships have played in bilateral relationships between Australia and Pacific Island territories and countries. The famed Colombo Plan is here put in its proper context within international aid and international education history. Australian scholarship programs it is argued ultimately reflect Australia and its perception of itself as a nation in the Pacific more than the needs of Pacific Island nations. Mandates and Missteps traces Australia's role as both a coloniser in the Territory of Papua and New Guinea and a participant in the process of decolonisation across the Pacific. This study will be of interest to students and scholars of international development, international education and foreign policy.

Governing natives Ben Silverstein, 2018-10-16 In the 1930s a series of crises transformed relationships between settlers and Aboriginal people in Australia's Northern Territory. By the late 1930s Australian settlers were coming to understand the Northern Territory as a colonial formation requiring a new form of government. Responding to crises of social reproduction, public power and legitimacy, they rethought the scope of settler colonial government by drawing on both the art of indirect rule and on a representational economy of Indigenous elimination to develop a new political dispensation that sought to incorporate and consume Indigenous production and sovereignties. This book locates Aboriginal history within imperial history, situating the settler colonial politics of Indigeneity in a broader governmental context.

Girmitiya Culture and Memory Priyanka Chaudhary, Neha Singh, 2024-09-06 This book explores the multifaceted dimensions of the Girmitiya diaspora and post memory. The intersections of displacement and memory have always been a focus of scholarly interest, and the volume envisages the roots of migration and culture, life stories, narratives and personal anecdotes. It further accentuates Girmitiya struggles, politics of displacement, relationships with the homeland and host land, oral traditions, repercussions and retention of the archival sites. The cross examination of memories helps in building a framework to study the varied experiences of the Girmitiya community. In this volume, through a blend of historical and scholarly discourse, we embark on a journey to unearth the layers of meaning embedded within the Girmitiya experience. The tales of Girmitiya migration amplify marginalized voices and illuminate the enduring resilience. By chronicling the experiences of the indentured migration, we pay homage to the pioneers, recognize the intricacy of their toils and commemorate the continuing legacy.
