Donald Hancock, Orion White, 1967 The Politics of Post-Industrial Welfare States Klaus Armingeon, Giuliano Bonoli, 2007-01-24 This new study assesses the welfare state to ask key questions and draw new conclusions about its place in modern society It shows how the welfare states that we have inherited from the early post war years had one main objective to protect the income of the male breadwinner Today however massive social change in particular the shift from industrial to post industrial societies and economies have resulted in new demands being put on welfare states These demands originate from situations that are typical of the new family and labour market structures that have become widespread in western countries since the 1970s and 1980s characterised by the clear prevalence of service employment and by the massive entry of women in the labour market Against this background this book presents a precise and clear definition of new social risks A concept being increasingly used in welfare state literature focuses on the groups that are mostly exposed to new social risks women the young the low skilled in order to study their political behaviour assesses policymaking processes that can lead to successful adaptation It covers key areas such as child care care for elderly people adapting pensions to atypical career patterns active labour market policies and policy making at the EU level This book will be of great interest for all students and scholars of politics sociology and the welfare state in particular

Politics in the Post-welfare State M. Donald Hancock, Gideon Sjoberg, 1972-01-01 The Politics of Charity Kerry O'Halloran, 2011-04-06 For the first time since 1601 a number of leading common law nations have almost simultaneously chosen to revise and place on the statute books the law relating to charity The Politics of Charity examines the reasons for this and for the varying legislative outcomes This book examines the legal framework and political significance of charity as developed within England Wales contrasts this with the experiences of other common law nations and explores the resulting implications for government sector relationships in those countries It suggests that charity law lies at the heart of the relationship between government and the non profit sector that there is an unmistakeable political agenda driving charity law reform and that the differential in legislative outcomes reflects important differences in the policies pursued by the governments concerned Looking at fundamentally different approaches of government towards the sector in the UK Ireland the US New Zealand Canada Singapore and Australia O Halloran argues the results will have implications for the present workings of parliamentary democracy The Politics of Charity will be a valuable resource for academics regulators and legal practitioners as well as advanced and postgraduate students in law politics and public policy Indian Politics and Political Processes Mithilesh Kumar Jha,Kamal Nayan Choubey,2023-09-18 Indian Politics and Political Processes explores the key ideas foundations continuities major shifts and challenges to the state and democracy in modern India The book presents an in depth analysis of recent issues and challenges confronting the Indian state and politics Presenting a comprehensive account of the major trajectories of Indian politics this book introduces the readers to the existing literature and enables them to think critically about major issues and institutions of politics and democracy The chapters engage critically with the historical antecedents major debates and recent developments The book also elaborately deals with issues such as populism religious movements minority rights health and the environment which are often ignored or side lined in the available literature on Indian politics and political processes The book will be useful to the students teachers and researchers pursuing courses in political science South Asian Studies and international global politics and economics It will also be an informative read for those interested in contemporary South Asian politics The Politics of Race, Class and Special Education Sally Tomlinson,2014-05-09 In the World Library of Educationalists series international experts themselves compile career long collections of what they judge to be their finest pieces extracts from books key articles salient research findings major theoretical and practical contributions so the world can read them in a single manageable volume Readers will be able to follow the themes and strands and see how their work contributes to the development of the field Professor Sally Tomlinson brings together 12 of her key writings in one place including chapters from her best selling books and articles from leading journals In this landmark publication she reviews and recounts the history and development of her research and writing over 30 years that is concerned with the politics of education systems especially special education and the place of social classes and ethnic and racial minorities in the systems Social class race and gender have historically always been essential markers in deciding who would receive a minimum or inferior education and thus fail to obtain whatever were currently acceptable qualifications Definitions of the less able or ineducable were based on beliefs in the biological and cultural inferiority of lower social classes racial and immigrant groups Professor Tomlinson s aim in her work has always been to introduce sociological historical and political perspectives into an area dominated by psychological administrative and technical views and to explain how the individual problems were connected to wider social structures and policies This unique collection illustrates the development of Professor Tomlinson s thinking over the course of her long and esteemed career The Politicization of Parenthood Martina Richter,Sabine Andresen,2012-02-29 This book explores changes in the relationship of families and the state and the shifting borders of public and private responsibility in education child care and
