Politics Of Display Museums Science And Culture:

The Politics of Display Sharon Macdonald, 1998 Met lit opg Met reg Exhibitions are never and never have been above politics Rather technologies of display and ideas about science and objectivity are mobilized to tell stories of progress citizenship racial and national difference Description of the changing relationship between displays and their audience It analyses the consequent shift in styles of representation towards interactive multimedia and reflexive modes of display Examples are taken from exhibitions of science technology and industry anthropology geology natural history and medicine and locations include the United States of America Australia the United Kingdom France the Netherlands and Spain

Politics of Display Sharon Macdonald, 1997 The Politics of Display Sharon Macdonald, 2010-10-05 The assumption that museum exhibitions particularly those concerned with science and technology are somehow neutral and impartial is today being challenged both in the public arena and in the academy The Politics of Display brings together studies of contemporary and historical exhibitions and contends that exhibitions are never and never have been above politics Rather technologies of display and ideas about science and objectivity are mobilized to tell stories of progress citizenship racial and national difference The display of the Enola Gay the aircraft which dropped the atomic bomb on Hiroshima is a well known case in point The Politics of Display charts the changing relationship between displays and their audience and analyzes the consequent shift in styles of representation towards interactive multimedia and reflexive modes of display The Politics of Display brings together an array of international scholars in the disciplines of sociology anthropology and history Examples are taken from exhibitions of science technology and industry anthropology geology natural history and medicine and locations include the United States of America Australia the United Kingdom France the Netherlands and Spain This book is an excellent contribution to debates about the politics of public culture It will be of interest to students of sociology anthropology cultural studies museum studies and science studies The Politics of Museums Clive Gray, 2015-09-15 This is the first book to examine how and why museums are political institutions By concentrating on the ways in which power ideology and legitimacy work at the international national and local levels of the museum experience Clive Gray provides an original analysis of who exercises power and how power is used in museums Behind the Scenes at the Science

Museum Sharon Macdonald, 2020-05-21 What goes on behind closed doors at museums How are decisions about exhibitions made and who or what really makes them Why are certain objects and styles of display chosen whilst others are rejected and what factors influence how museum exhibitions are produced and experienced This book answers these searching questions by giving a privileged look behind the scenes at the Science Museum in London By tracking the history of a particular exhibition Macdonald takes the reader into the world of the museum curator and shows in vivid detail how exhibitions are created and how public culture is produced She reveals why exhibitions do not always reflect their makers original intentions and why visitors take home particular interpretations Beyond this local context however the book also provides broad and far reaching insights into how national and global political shifts influence the creation of public knowledge through exhibitions

Making Histories in Transport Museums Colin Divall, Andrew Scott, 2001-12-20 This book is the first in 30 years to take transport museums seriously as vehicles for the making of public histories Drawing upon many years experience of visiting and working in transport museums around the world the authors argue that the sector's historical roots are more complex than is usually thought Written from a multidisciplinary perspective but firmly rooted in the practice of making public histories this book brings the study of transport museums firmly into the mainstream of academic and professional debate

Museums, History and Culture in Malaysia Abu Talib Ahmad, 2014-10-10 During the half century following Malaysian independence in 1957 the country's National Museum underwent a transformation that involved a shift from serving as a repository for displays of mounted butterflies and stuffed animals and accounts of the colonial experience to an overarching national narrative focused on culture and history These topics are sensitive and highly disputed in Malaysia and many of the country's museums contest the narrative that underlies displays in the National Museum offering alternative treatments of subjects such as Malaysia's pre Islamic past the history and heritage of the Melaka sultanate memories of the Japanese Occupation national cultural policy and cultural differences between the Federation's constituent states In Museums History and Culture in Malaysia Abu Talib Ahmad examines museum displays throughout the country and uses textual analysis of museum publications along with interviews with serving and retired museum officers to evaluate changing approaches to exhibits and the tensions that they express or sometimes create In addition to the National Museum he considers museums and memorials in Penang Kedah Perak Selangor Kuala Lumpur Sabah Kelantan and Terengganu as well as memorials dedicated to national heroes such as former Prime Ministers Tunku Abdul Rahman and Tun Abdul Razak Hussein and film and recording artist P Ramlee The book offers rich and fascinating insights into differing versions of the country's character and historical experience and efforts to reconcile these sometimes disparate accounts

Still Life Fernando Domínguez Rubio, 2020-08-19 How do you keep the cracks in Starry Night from spreading How do you prevent artworks made of hugs or candies from disappearing How do you render a fading photograph eternal or should you attempt it at all These are some of the questions that conservators curators registrars and exhibition designers dealing with contemporary art face on a daily basis In Still Life Fernando Domínguez Rubio delves into one of the most important museums of the world the Museum of Modern Art MoMA in New York to explore the day to day dilemmas that museum workers face when the immortal artworks that we see in the exhibition room reveal themselves to be slowly unfolding disasters Still Life offers a fascinating and detailed ethnographic account of what it takes to prevent these disasters from happening Going behind the scenes at MoMA Domínguez Rubio provides a rare view of the vast technological apparatus from climatic infrastructures and storage facilities to conservation labs and machine rooms and teams of workers from conservators and engineers to guards and couriers who fight to hold artworks still As MoMA reopens after a massive expansion and rearranging of its space and collections Still Life not only offers a much needed account of the spaces actors and forms of labor traditionally left out of the main narratives of art but it also offers a timely meditation on how far we as a society are willing to go to keep the things we value from disappearing into oblivion

Science in the Metropolis Mitchell G. Ash, 2020-10-26 This book presents new research on spaces for science and processes of interurban and transnational knowledge transfer and exchange in the imperial metropolis of Vienna in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Chapters discuss Habsburg science policy metropolitan natural history museums large technical projects including the Ringstrasse and water pipelines from the Alps urban geology geography public reports on polar exploration exchanges of ethnographic objects popular scientific societies and scientifically oriented adult education The infrastructures and knowledge spaces described here were preconditions for the explosion of creativity known as Vienna 1900

Representing Enslavement and Abolition in Museums Laurajane Smith, Geoff Cubitt, Kalliopi Fouseki, Ross Wilson, 2014-05-30 The year 2007 marked the bicentenary of the Act abolishing British participation in the slave trade Representing Enslavement and Abolition in Museums which uniquely draws together contributions from academic commentators museum professionals community activists and artists who had an involvement with the bicentenary reflects on the complexity and difficulty of museums experiences in presenting and interpreting the histories of slavery and abolition and places these experiences in the broader context of debates over the bicentenary s significance and the lessons to be learnt from it The history of Britain s role in transatlantic slavery officially become part of the National Curriculum in the UK in 2009 with the bicentenary of 2007 this marks the start of increasing public engagement with what has largely been a hidden history The book aims to not only critically review and assess the impact of the bicentenary but also to identify practical issues that public historians consultants museum practitioners heritage professionals and policy makers can draw upon in developing responses both to the increasing recognition of Britain s history of African enslavement and controversial and traumatic histories more generally

Contesting Human Remains in Museum Collections Tiffany Jenkins, 2010-12-14 Since the late 1970s human remains in museum collections have been subject to claims and controversies such as demands for repatriation by indigenous groups who suffered under colonization These requests have been strongly contested by scientists who research the material and consider it unique evidence This book charts the influences at play on the contestation over human remains and examines the construction of this problem from a cultural perspective It shows that claims on dead bodies are not confined to once colonized groups A group of British Pagans Honouring the Ancient Dead formed to make claims on skeletons from the British Isles and ancient human remains bog bodies and Egyptian mummies which have not been requested by any group have become the focus of campaigns initiated by members of the profession at times removed from display in the name of respect By drawing on empirical research including extensive interviews with the claims making groups ethnographic work document media and policy analysis Contesting Human Remains in Museum Collections demonstrates that strong internal influences do in fact exist The only book to examine the construction of contestation over human remains from a sociological perspective it advances an emerging area of academic research setting the terms of debate synthesizing disparate ideas and making sense of a broader cultural focus on dead bodies in the contemporary period

Museums, Society, Inequality Richard Sandell, 2003-08-29 Museums Society Inequality explores the wide ranging social roles and responsibilities of the museum It brings together international perspectives to stimulate critical debate inform the work of practitioners and policy makers and to advance recognition of the purpose responsibilities and value to society of museums Museums Society Inequality examines the issues and offers different understandings of the social agency of the museum presents ways in which museums have sought to engage with social concerns and instigate social change imagines how museums might become more useful to society in future This book is essential for all museum academics practitioners and students

The Changing Museum Clive Gray, 2022-11-30 Using the example of New Walk Museum Leicester and its collections the complexity multi causality and reasons for change in museums are examined and explained The 170 years history of New Walk provides an original basis and innovative approach to be adopted towards explaining museum change The book makes use of original interview and archive material to examine how and why social economic political and professional developments affected the work that was undertaken in New Walk The time span covered is much longer than is normal for a book on museum history and is longer than for almost all the national museums in the UK with this allowing for a nuanced understanding of the causes and consequences of museum change over time The problems and possibilities of undertaking museum history research are also discussed Detailed examination of the ways in which a variety of societal developments fed into museum change is a key feature of the book The book is aimed at all those with an interest in understanding how and why change affects museum practice and will be of interest to museum professionals academics and students in museum studies history politics and sociology as well to the general museum visitor who would like to discover more about the institutions that they visit

Museums and Education Eilean Hooper-Greenhill, 2007-12-12 At the beginning of the 21st century museums are challenged on a number of fronts The prioritisation of learning in museums in the context of demands for social justice and cultural democracy combined with cultural policy based on economic rationalism forces museums to review their educational purposes redesign their pedagogies and account for their performance The need to theorise learning and culture for a cultural theory of learning is very pressing If culture acts as a process of signification a means of producing meaning that shapes worldviews learning in museums and other cultural organisations is potentially dynamic and profound producing self identities How is this complexity to be measured What can this measurement reveal about the character of museum based learning The calibration of culture is an international phenomenon and the measurement of the outcomes and impact of learning in museums in England has provided a detailed case study Three national evaluation studies were carried out between 2003 and 2006 based on the conceptual framework of Generic Learning Outcomes Using this revealing data Museums and Education reveals the power of museum pedagogy and as it does questions are raised about traditional museum culture and the potential and challenge for museum futures is suggested Science, Magic and Religion Mary Bouquet, Nuno Porto, 2006-04-01 For some time now museums have been recognized as important institutions of western cultural and social life The idea of the museum as a ritual site is fairly new and has been applied to the art museums in Europe and the United States so far This volume expands it by exploring a range of contemporary museums in Europe and Africa The case studies examine the different ways in which various actors involved in cultural production dramatize and ritualize such sites It turns out that not only museum specialists but visitors themselves are engaged in complex performances and experiences that make use of museums in often unexpected ways

Re-Presenting Disability Richard Sandell, Jocelyn Dodd, Rosemarie Garland-Thomson, 2013-09-13 Re Presenting Disability addresses issues surrounding disability representation in museums and galleries a topic which is receiving much academic attention and is becoming an increasingly pressing issue for practitioners working in wide ranging museums and related cultural organisations This volume of provocative and timely contributions brings together twenty researchers practitioners and academics from different disciplinary institutional and cultural contexts to explore issues surrounding the cultural representation of disabled people and more particularly the inclusion as well as the marked absence of disability related narratives in museum and gallery displays The diverse perspectives featured in the book offer fresh ways of interrogating and understanding contemporary representational practices as well as illuminating existing related debates concerning identity politics social agency and organisational purposes and responsibilities which have considerable currency within museums and museum studies Re Presenting Disability explores such issues as In what ways have disabled people and disability related topics historically been represented in the collections and displays of museums and galleries How can newly emerging representational forms and practices be viewed in relation to these historical approaches How do emerging trends in museum practice designed to counter prejudiced stereotypical representations of disabled people relate to broader developments in disability rights debates in disability studies as well as shifting interpretive practices in public history and mass media What approaches can be deployed to mine and interrogate existing collections in order to investigate histories of disability and disabled people and to identify material evidence that might be marshalled to play a part in countering prejudice What are the implications of these developments for contemporary collecting How might such purposive displays be created and what dilemmas and challenges are curators educators designers and other actors in the exhibition making process likely to encounter along the way How do audiences disabled and non disabled respond to and engage with interpretive interventions designed to confront undercut or reshape dominant regimes of representation that underpin and inform contemporary attitudes to disability

Popular Exhibitions, Science and Showmanship, 1840-1910 Joe Kember, John Plunkett, Jill A. Sullivan, 2016-09-12 Victorian culture was characterized by a proliferation of shows and exhibitions These were encouraged by the development of new sciences and technologies together with changes in transportation education and leisure patterns The essays in this collection look at exhibitions and their influence in terms of location technology and ideology

The Holocaust and Representations of Jews K. Hannah Holtschneider, 2014-03-21 This book examines how prominent national exhibitions in Europe represent the Jewish minority and its cultural and religious self understandings historically and today in particular in the context of the Holocaust

A Companion to Museum Studies Sharon Macdonald, 2011-08-24 A Companion to Museum Studies captures the multidisciplinary approach to the study of the development roles and significance of museums in contemporary society Collects first rate original essays by leading figures from a range of disciplines and theoretical stances including anthropology art history history literature sociology cultural studies and museum studies Examines the complexity of the museum from cultural political curatorial historical and representational perspectives Covers traditional subjects such as space display buildings objects and collecting and more contemporary challenges such as visiting commerce community and experimental exhibition forms

Museums, Prejudice and the Reframing of Difference Richard Sandell, 2007-01-24 How if it all do museums shape the ways in which society understands difference In recent decades there has been growing international interest amongst practitioners academics and policy makers in the role that museums might play in confronting prejudice and promoting human rights and cross cultural understanding Museums in many parts of the world are increasingly concerned to construct exhibitions which represent in more equitable ways the culturally pluralist societies within which they operate accommodating and engaging with differences on the basis of gender race ethnicity class religion disability sexuality and so on Despite the ubiquity of these trends there is nevertheless limited understanding of the social effects and attendant political consequences of these purposive representational strategies Richard Sandell combines interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives with in depth empirical investigation to address a number of timely questions How do audiences engage with and respond to exhibitions designed to contest subvert and reconfigure prejudiced conceptions of social groups To what extent can museums be understood to shape not simply reflect normative understandings of difference acceptability and tolerance What are the challenges for museums which attempt to engage audiences in debating morally charged and contested contemporary social issues and how might these be addressed Sandell argues that museums frame inform and enable the conversations which audiences and society more broadly have about difference and highlights the moral and political challenges opportunities and responsibilities which accompany these constitutive qualities
