The Politics of Federalism Bruce Ross-Larson, 1976 The Politics of Federalism, Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Malaysia Meredith Weiss, 2014-10-17 The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Malaysia offers a broad analytical survey of Malaysia. It provides a comprehensive survey of significant topics in Malaysian politics, economy and society today focussing on issues, institutions and trends. It is divided into four thematic sections which are all introduced by the editor: Domestic politics, Economics, Social policy and social development, International relations and security. The volume brings together an international team of experts, an interdisciplinary mix of forty contributors from Malaysia and elsewhere including many of the leading specialists on Malaysian affairs. The chapters included in the volume form an accessible and fascinating window onto contemporary Malaysia. They each introduce a different aspect of the Malaysian polity, economy or society, offering both historical perspective and a current assessment or investigation. Designed for general readers and specialists alike, chapters may be read individually, each stands on its own, or conjointly. Up to date, interdisciplinary and academically rigorous, the Handbook will be of interest to students, academics, policymakers and others in search of reliable information on Malaysian politics, economics and society. Identity Politics and Elections in Malaysia and Indonesia Karolina Prasad, 2015-12-14 In recent social research, ethnicity has mostly been used as an explanatory variable. It was only after it was agreed that ethnicity in itself is subject to change were the questions of how and why it changes possible to answer. This multiplicity of ethnic identities requires that we think of each society as one with multiple ethnic dimensions of which any can become activated in the process of political competition and sometimes several of them within a short period of time. Focusing on Malaysia and Indonesia, this book traces the variations of ethnic identity by looking at electoral strategies in two sub-national units. It shows that ethnic identities are subject to change induced by calculated moves by political entrepreneurs who use identities as tools to maximize their chances of winning elections or expanding support base and highlights how political institutions play an enormous role in shaping the modes and dynamics of these ethno-political manipulations. The book suggests that in societies where ethnic identities are activated in politics instead of analysing politics with ethnic distribution as an independent variable, ethnic distribution can be taken as the dependent variable with political institutions being the explanatory one. It examines the problems of voters' behaviour and parties and candidates' strategy in a polity that is to a significant extent driven by ethnic relations. Pushing the boundaries of qualitative research on Southeast Asian politics by placing formal institutions at the centre of its analysis, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Southeast Asian Politics, Race and Ethnic Studies and International Relations. Translations on South and East Asia, Domination and Contestation Faisal S. Hazis, 2012 This book makes an important contribution to understanding the ongoing political evolution of politics in Sarawak. It also provides a case study of the engagement of a dominant state with social forces in a multi-ethnic society. Prof Harold Crouch, Emeritus Professor, Department of Political Social Change, School of

International Political Strategic Studies Australian National University Taking off from Joel Migdal's notions of the strongman politician strong society weak state and the state in society the author discusses how the federal government accommodates Taib Mahmud's chief ministership over Sarawak and how his long tenure is anchored in winning political support from the Sarawak Muslim Bumiputera community An insightful book on contemporary Sarawak politics Prof Francis Loh Kok Wah School of Social Sciences Universiti Sains Malaysia This volume will go a long way in explaining why a single Melanau family has been able to dominate Sarawak politics for the past four decades Prof James Chin Head of School of Arts and Social Sciences Monash University Malaysia Campus

Property and Politics in Sabah, Malaysia Amity A. Doolittle, 2011-11-15 In 1990 shortly after a Malaysian politician announced that the boundaries of Kinabalu Park a primary tourist destination were to be expanded to include the species rich tropical forest known locally as Bukit Hempuen most of the area was burned to the ground allegedly by local people What would motivate the people who had for generations hunted and gathered forest products there to act so destructively In this volume Amity Doolittle illuminates this and other contemporary land use issues by examining how resources were used historically in Sabah from 1881 to 1996 and what customary rights of access to land and resources were enjoyed by local people Drawing upon anthropology political science environmental history and political ecology she looks at how control over and access to resources have been defined negotiated and contested by colonial state agents the postcolonial Malaysian state and local people The study is grounded in methodological and theoretical advances in the field of political ecology merging the traditions of human ecology and political economy and looking at environmental conflicts in terms of the particulars of place culture and history Doolittle assumes that environmental problems have causes that are complex and changing and that solutions must be specific to time and place Using a political ecology perspective allows her to focus on the root causes of environmental degradation exposing the underlying political economic and social forces at work The challenge in the twenty first century she writes is to move beyond blaming local people for resource degradation and to find ways to achieve equitable access to natural resources and more sustainable land use practices

Property and Politics in Sabah Malaysia has great relevance to development studies political ecology environmental planning anthropology and legal studies in natural resource management

The Riddle of Malaysian Capitalism Peter Searle, 1998-11-01 Is capitalism in Southeast Asia real or a chimera that is some Southeast Asian derivative of capitalism that ultimately will not be sustainable Malaysia where an intimate relationship has been forged between the state and business in an effort to create Malay capitalists presents an interesting and illuminating case in the debate In this work Peter Searle identifies the complex interaction between the state the dominant political party UMNO and business as the source of dynamism or defeat in the development of Malay capitalists He also challenges a common view that Chinese business groups are completely different from Malay business groups Overall this study argues against drawing sharp contrasts between dependency and self reliance between state and capital and between rent seekers and true productive capitalists For it is from that amalgam of categories and groups the study concludes that a form of capitalism is emerging in Malaysia which is nonetheless remarkably dynamic and resilient despite its unorthodox origins

Government and Society in Malaysia

Harold Crouch, 2019-01-24 The Malaysian political system incorporates a mix of democratic and authoritarian characteristics In this comprehensive account Harold Crouch argues that while they may appear contradictory the responsive and the repressive features of the system combine in an integrated and coherent whole Consistently dominated by the Malay party UMNO which represents the largest ethnic group the Malaysian government requires the support of its Chinese Indian and East Malaysian minorities to retain control The need to appeal to a politically and ethnically divided electorate restrains the arbitrary exercise of power by the ruling coalition As a result the government responds to popular aspirations particularly since a split in the dominant Malay party in the 1980s Yet it also controls the electoral process ensuring victory in all national elections Communal social and economic factors have all contributed in rather ambiguous ways to shaping the Malaysian political system Communal tensions change in the class structure and the consequences of economic growth have generated pressures in both democratic and authoritarian directions The government has been remarkably stable despite sharp ethnic divisions and Crouch suggests it is unlikely to move swiftly toward full democracy in the near future

Why Governments

Waste Natural Resources William Ascher, 1999 Drawing on 16 case studies from Africa Asia and Latin America reveals the complex political and programmatic reasons why government officials in developing countries often willfully adopt wasteful natural resource policies

Law, Government and the Constitution in Malaysia Andrew Harding, 2024-01-22 This book aims to give a comprehensive picture of law government and the constitution in Malaysia and to set constitutional developments in their proper political and social context It is written in such a way that lawyers may see how perspectives other than the purely legal can enrich the understanding of constitutional issues in Malaysia and that others may comprehend the lawyer's perspective on these issues There has been an increasing interest in constitutional issues in Malaysia since the mid 1980s following a number of important events including the advent of judicial activism and the curtailment of royal powers There is now a pressing need for a reappraisal of the Malaysian constitution in terms of its political and social dimensions and dynamics and the extent of its adherence to or its interpretation of those principles which are collectively known as constitutionalism that is democratic government the rule of law the separation of powers and the observance of fundamental human rights and liberties The book examines how the constitution has adjusted to its environment how it actually operates and how its abstractions differ from reality The author concludes that the principles of the constitution have been eroded to such a degree that a new constitutional settlement is needed one which makes it clear what the basic tenets of the Malaysian polity are

Timber Booms and Institutional Breakdown in Southeast Asia Michael L. Ross, 2001-01-08 Scholars have long studied how institutions emerge and become stable But why do institutions sometimes break down In this book Michael L. Ross explores the breakdown of the institutions that govern natural resource exports in developing states He shows that these institutions often break down when states receive positive trade shocks unanticipated windfalls Drawing on the theory of rent seeking he suggests that these institutions succumb to a problem he calls rent seizing the predatory behavior of politicians who seek to supply rent to others and who purposefully dismantle institutions that restrain them Using case studies of timber booms in Indonesia Malaysia and the Philippines he shows how windfalls tend to trigger rent seizing activities that may have disastrous consequences for state institutions and for the government of natural resources More generally he shows how institutions can collapse when they have become endogenous to any rent seeking process

Beyond the Sacred Forest Michael R. Dove, Percy E. Sajise, Amity A. Doolittle, 2011-04-14 Scholars rethink the translation of environmental concepts between East and West particularly ideas of nature and culture what conservation might mean and how conservation policy is applied and transformed in the everyday landscapes of Southeast Asia Dialogue of Life Khee-Vun Lin, 2021-03-31 The status of the global church is often that of a sociopolitical minority at odds politically religiously and socially with the nations that encompass it In such contexts where Christians find themselves facing oppression isolation and challenging questions of identity how is the church to faithfully uphold its missional calling In this in depth study of Chinese Christians living in Sabah Malaysia Dr Khee Vun Lin engages missiology and political theology to address the practical implications of incarnational mission in contexts where national identity exclude Christians from the public discourse Examining the political and religious history of Malaysia including the impact of colonialism nationalism and Islamization Dr Lin provides a powerful explication of the theological and practical foundations for utilizing social engagement as a tool of incarnational mission Whether living under oppressive hegemonic control or the shadow of secular governments turned hostile to Christian values it is through embracing incarnational identity that Christians can authentically engage both nation building and evangelism to the good of their neighbor and the glory of God Southeast Asian Responses to Globalization Francis Loh Kok Wah, Joakim Öjendal, 2005 It is now apparent especially in the aftermath of the regional financial crisis of 1997 that globalization has been impacting upon the Southeast Asian economies and societies in new and harrowing ways a theme of many recent studies Inadvertently these studies of globalization have also highlighted that the 1980s and 1990s debate on democratization in the region which focused on the emergence of the middle classes the roles of new social movements NGOs and the changing relations between state and civil society might have been overly one dimensional This volume revisits the theme of democratization via the lenses of globalization understood economically politically and culturally Although globalization increasingly frames the processes of democracy and development nonetheless the governments and peoples of Southeast Asia have been able to determine the pace and character even the direction of these processes to a considerable extent This collection of essays by some distinguished senior scholars and other equally perceptive younger ones focuses on this globalization democratization nexus and shows empirically and analytically how governance is being restructured and democracy sometimes deepened in this new global era A historical review introduces the volume while an analytical assessment of the ten case studies concludes it Government and Politics of Malaysia Zakaria bin Haji Ahmad, 1987 Eight essays by experts in their respective fields explore Malaysian politics and administration political parties foreign policy and the relationship between politics and the Police Coalitions in Collision Johan Saravanamuttu, 2016-05-13 After the watershed 2008 election when the ruling Barisan Nasional BN coalition lost its customary two thirds control of parliamentary seats there was the not unreasonable expectation that BN would slip even further in the much anticipated Thirteenth General Election of 2013 which is the subject of this book In the event the BN lost the popular vote to the Pakatan Rakyat PR but still retained the reins of government In this book prominent Malaysian specialists and experts will provide the reader with fresh insights into the evolving character of electoral politics by delving into its failing model of consociationalism the extent of malapportionment in the electoral system and its effects on outcomes how the new politics continue to meet the resistance of old modes of political behaviour the path dependence analysis of twin coalition politics the significance of the FELDA vote bank the issues animating electoral politics in Sabah Sarawak Terengganu and Johor why the PR continues to command urban support the role of the biased mainstream media and details of the campaign strategies of both coalitions In this new study of Malaysia's electoral politics it is evident that the ruling coalition has lost its first mover advantage and is only able to hold on to power due to the first past the post FPTP single member plurality electoral system This sort of system has given rise in the parlance of electoral studies to the manufactured majorities that is electoral outcomes that confer a majority of seats simple or large to a single party or a coalition of parties without commanding a majority of the popular vote Malaysia's FPTP system imbued as it is with a generous proportion of rural weightage continues to favour the BN oftentimes generating large manufactured parliamentary majorities While some may argue that electoral politics have reached an impasse after two general elections Malaysia's twin coalition system seems to have gained some traction and thanks to its federalism with the PR having considerable control of state governments in the Malay heartland and of the more urbanized states of Selangor and Penang
