Politics Of The School Curriculum:

The Politics of the School Curriculum Denis Lawton, 2012 If the curriculum can be defined as a selection from the culture of society the central question then becomes who selects This volume answers this question reviewing various aspects of the curriculum and its planning For many years the control of the curriculum was uncontroversial In the 1970s this situation changed teachers were increasingly criticised for having too much power the Department of Education was suspected of wanting more control and local education authorities felt they should be more involved in curriculum planning In reviewing some of the reasons for these conflicting pressures two central themes emerge first the change from a partnership model of control to a complex system of accountability and second the fact that these and many other changes which occur tend to be brought about as a result of secret decisions and central manipulation rather than through open negotiation Among the areas covered are the changing position of teachers and the Department of Education the influence of examinations on the curriculum and some political aspects of curriculum evaluation and the different models used The Politics of the School Curriculum Bernard S. M. Gatawa, 1990 The Curriculum Landon E. Beyer, Michael W. Apple, 1998-04-09 This new edition of the classic text extends the scope of critically oriented work in curriculum studies

Understanding the School Curriculum Alex Moore, 2014-08-13 At a time of rapid social change and numerous policy initiatives there is a need to question the nature and function of school curricula and the purposes of formal public education Comparing curriculum developments around the globe Understanding the School Curriculum draws on a range of educational philosophical and sociological theories to examine the question What is a curriculum for In considering different answers to this fundamental question it explores a range of topical issues and debates including tensions and dynamics within curriculum policy The implications of uncertainty and rapid social change for curriculum development the positive and negative influence of free market ideologies on public education the impact of globalization and digital technologies arguments for and against common core curricula and state control It examines the possibility of a school curriculum that is not shaped and monitored by dominant interests but that has as its founding principles the promotion of responsibility responsiveness a love of learning and a sense of wonder and respect for the natural and social world Understanding the School Curriculum is for all students following undergraduate and Masters courses in curriculum public policy and education related subjects It is also for all training and practising teachers who wish to combine a deeper understanding of major curriculum issues with a critical understanding of the ways in which ideologies impact on formal state education and to consider ways of producing school curricula that are appropriate to the times we live in The Politics of the School Curriculum by Dennis Lawton John Race Godfrey Tomlinson (C.B.E.), 1980 The 1980 Routledge and Kegan Paul publication The politics of the school curriculum is also held as part of the John Tomlinson Collection Schools and the politics of religion and diversity in the Republic of Ireland Karin Fischer, 2016-09-01 Offers an in depth analysis of the historical political and ideological backdrop to the denominational education system in the Republic of Ireland

School Leadership, Citizenship Education and Politics in China Shuqin Xu, 2016-08-23 This book examines and theorizes the dynamics and complexities of leadership in citizenship education in junior secondary schools in Shanghai China Specifically it examines from a macro and micro political theoretical perspective the interactions between principals and school party secretaries SPSs and how they respond to the demands of macro and micro political actors This qualitative empirical research found four major school leadership citizenship education scenarios in which principals and SPSs addressed the interests of different macro and micro political actors Moreover principals and SPSs enjoyed a complicated working relationship at the micro political school level in which they collaborated to fulfill their responsibilities and respond to school macro and micro political actors while competing for power over leadership in citizenship education Principals and SPSs leadership in citizenship education was shaped by inter related factors including diverse influences in a multi leveled world the integration of politics and education the demands of macro and micro political actors and personal factors To interpret these findings this study proposes a theoretical framework for understanding leadership in citizenship education in China as a political exercise This theoretical framework is useful for understanding the complexity of school and citizenship education leadership the micro political relationship between Chinese principals and SPSs and their dynamic and complex interactions with macro and micro political actors

The Politics of Early Childhood Education Lourdes Diaz Soto, 2000 As the conservative political mood of our nation eliminates programs for the increasing numbers of bilingual children educators are nevertheless expected to teach linguistically and culturally diverse learners with limited background knowledge and resources This edited volume challenges mainstream educators to critically examine how to best meet the needs of bilingual bicultural children in contemporary America      Conflict of Interests Joel H. Spring,1988 Providing a critical understanding of the political and social forces shaping educational politics in the United States this concise text describes and analyzes how policy is made for American schools and its effect on all of our lives and thinking Joel Spring argues that the politics of Education is driven by a complex interrelationship between politicians private foundations and think tanks teachers unions special interest groups educational politicians school administrators boards of education courts and the knowledge industry The text uses many current examples to illustrate conflicts over educational policies

Handbook of Education Policy Research Lora Cohen-Vogel,Peter Youngs,Janelle Scott,2025-07-17 The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research the largest volume published in AERA s history addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood K 12 and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects methods theories and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive and the authors represent a diversity of racial ethnic and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations Most chapters come from multiple authors reflecting the multi sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past present and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students researchers policy makers and practitioners      The Strong State and Curriculum Reform Leonel Lim,Michael W. Apple,2016-04-20

As Asian education systems increasingly take on a stronger presence on the global educational landscape of special interest is an understanding of the ways in which many of these states direct their schools towards higher achievement What is missing however are accounts that take seriously the particular construction of the strong developmental state witnessed across many Asian societies and that seek to understand the politics and possibilities of curriculum change vis a vis precisely the dominance of such a state By engaging in analyses based on some of the best current social and cultural theories and by illuminating the interactions among various state and non state pedagogic agents the chapters in this volume account for the complex post colonial historical and cultural consciousnesses that many Asian states and societies experience At a time when much of the educational politics in Asia remains in a state of transition and as many of these states seek out through the curriculum new forms of social control and novel bases of political legitimacy such a volume offers enduring insights into the real if not also always relative autonomy that schools and communities maintain in countering the hegemonic presence of strong states      Political Agenda of Education Krishna Kumar,2005-04-07 When it was first published in 1991 Political

Agenda of Education was hailed as an outstanding contribution to educational theory This thoroughly revised edition sharpens the focus and explanatory range of the original framework In particular the author has incorporated the complex terrain of gender and girls education while bringing in a more nuanced discussion of caste as a factor of equality in educational opportunity The book is divided into two parts Part I analyzes the circumstances surrounding the establishment of a colonial system of educational administration and the implications it had for both teaching and curriculum Part II locates educational reform within the dynamics of the three major quests of the freedom struggle the demand for equal participation in education by the lower castes the quest for self identity and the idea of progress Krishna Kumar uses the history of ideas to develop insights which are highly relevant for the challenges facing the system of education in India and the rest of South Asia today

The Politics of Curriculum Decision-Making M. Frances Klein, 1991-01-01 Recent proposals for school reform have involved a significant shift in how curriculum decisions are made particularly at the state level In response to these proposals actions taken by educators have underscored the critical nature of the issue regarding who makes curriculum decisions This book examines the issues involved in how this pivotal concern has been addressed in the past and how it is being handled now Each chapter contributes to a more complete understanding of the complexities involved in the recent trend toward the centralization of curriculum decision making The book will assist both researchers and practitioners in better understanding the issues involved as well as the impact of the movement Schoolhouse Politics Peter B. Dow, 1991 Schoolhouse Politics tells the story of an experiment in curriculum design that was developed in the 1960s and called Man A Course of Study MACOS In an attempt to teach anthropology to ten year olds Jerome Bruner and his colleagues designed an elementary school course that combined fieldwork on the social behaviour of baboons a film based ethnographic study of an Eskimo tribe and hands on classroom materials MACOS was hailed as an original and exciting way to promote science literacy and to teach young people how to think like social scientists Teachers and students alike expressed enthusiasm for the course and it achieved nationwide distribution and widespread recognition as one of the outstanding social science curriculum projects of the period Yet by 1975 MACOS had been driven from the schools a casualty of a small but vocal group of conservatives critical of its content and methodology
