Politics And The Past On Repairing Historical Injustices:

Politics and the Past John C. Torpey, John Torpey, 2003 Politics and the Past offers an original multidisciplinary exploration of the growing public controversy over reparations for historical injustices Demonstrating that reparations politics has become one of the most important features of international politics in recent years the authors analyze why this is the case and show that reparations politics can be expected to be a major aspect of international affairs in coming years In addition to broad theoretical and philosophical reflection the book includes discussions of the politics of reparations in specific countries and regions including the United States France Latin America Japan Canada and Rwanda The volume presents a nuanced historically grounded and critical perspective on the many campaigns for reparations currently afoot in a variety of contexts around the world All readers working or teaching in the fields of transitional justice the politics of memory and social movements will find this book a rich and provocative contribution to this complex debate

Restitution and the Politics of Repair Magdalena Zolkos, 2020-09-21 Analyses the social imaginary of undoing repair and return underpinning the international norm of restitution making Approaches restitution not just as a legal norm of property return but as a social imaginary and a cultural psychoanalytic scene of undoing repair and return Brings together philosophic political socio legal and cultural psychoanalytic approaches to the study of restitution Outlines a heterogeneous and multifaceted idea of restitution emergent in modernity and looks at the peripheries of the modern restitutive tradition in the search for alternatives and counter traditions This book takes a unique approach grounded in political and cultural discourse to develop a political theory of restitution Challenging assumptions about restitution in the Western legal and political tradition where it has become nearly synonymous with reacquisition and where legal studies focus on material objects and claims to their ownership Zolkos argues that the development of restitutive norms has been auxiliary to the emergence of modern state sovereignty and excavates the restitutive tradition's mythical religious substrate Bringing together texts from within and outwith the Western canon of political theory and philosophy including the writings of Grotius Durkheim Freud and Klein as well as Mary Shelley's Frankenstein the book undertakes a dual task reading literary texts as a political theorising of restitution and reading political or sociological texts as literary narratives with distinctive restitutive tropes of repair undoing and return

Playing Politics with History Andrew Beattie, 2008 The ensuing debates and disagreements over the recent past examined by the author open up a window into the wider development of German memory identity and politics after the end of the Cold War

Reparations to Africa Rhoda E. Howard-Hassmann, 2018-04-13 What is the just measure of Western obligations to Africa As Africans and their supporters mark the 200th anniversary of the abolition of the slave trade in the United States and Great Britain the question becomes increasingly salient Calls for reparations for the evils of slavery as well as for past colonial and current economic and political abuses can be heard across Africa and the African diaspora Human rights scholar Rhoda E Howard Hassmann examines these calls for redress in Reparations to Africa Her study analyzes the reparations movement from the perspectives of law philosophy political science and sociology While acknowledging the brutal background of the slave trade and colonialism and the mistreatment of the peoples of Africa Howard Hassmann finds that the complexity of this history along with facts of the contemporary situation weakens the case for financial compensation although she does recommend acknowledgment of and apologies for some actions The book not only provides a bold reckoning of the root causes both internal and external of African underdevelopment and unrest but also suggests alternative means for restorative justice and examines the role that institutions such as the International Criminal Court can play By including the voices of 74 African academics diplomats and activists interviewed by Howard Hassmann and Anthony P Lombardo Reparations to Africa makes a valuable contribution to the reparations debate In an emotionally and politically charged postcolonial environment this book serves as a judicious guide to the search for economic justice for Africans today and into the future

Memory in a Global Age A. Assmann, S. Conrad, 2010-07-21 A significant contribution to memory studies and part of an emergent strand of work on global memory This book offers important insights on topics relating to memory globalization international politics international relations Holocaust studies and media and communication studies

In the House of the Hangman Jeffrey K. Olick, 2005-09 The central question for both the victors and the vanquished of World War II was just how widely the stain of guilt would spread over Germany Political leaders and intellectuals on both sides of the conflict debated whether support for National Socialism tainted Germany's entire population and thus discredited the nation's history and culture The tremendous challenge that Allied officials and German thinkers faced as the war closed then was how to limn a postwar German identity that accounted for National Socialism without irrevocably damning the idea and character of Germany as a whole In In the House of the Hangman chronicles this delicate process exploring key debates about the Nazi past and German future during the later years of World War II and its aftermath What did British and American leaders think had given rise to National Socialism and how did these beliefs shape their intentions for occupation What rhetorical and symbolic tools did Germans develop for handling the insidious legacy of Nazism Considering these and other questions Jeffrey K Olick explores the processes of accommodation and rejection that Allied plans for a new German state inspired among the German intelligentsia He also examines heated struggles over the value of Germany's institutional and political heritage Along the way he demonstrates how the moral and political vocabulary for coming to terms with National Socialism in Germany has been of enduring significance as a crucible not only of German identity but also of contemporary thinking about memory and social justice more generally Given the current war in Iraq the issues contested during Germany's abjection and reinvention how to treat a defeated enemy how to place episodes within wider historical trajectories how to distinguish varieties of victimhood are as urgent today as they were sixty years ago and In the House of the Hangman offers readers an invaluable historical perspective on these critical questions were created to confront discuss and document the genocide of the Holocaust and to address some of its unresolved injustices Amending the Past offers the first in depth account of these commissions examining the complexities of reckoning with past atrocities and large scale human rights violations Alexander Karn analyzes more than a dozen Holocaust commissions in Germany Switzerland France Poland Austria Latvia Lithuania and elsewhere in a comparative framework situating each in the context of past and present politics to evaluate their potential for promoting justice and their capacity for bringing the perspectives of rival groups more closely together Karn also evaluates the media coverage these commissions received and probes their public reception from multiple angles Arguing that historical commissions have been underused as a tool for conflict management Karn develops a program for historical mediation and moral reparation that can deepen democratic commitment and strengthen human rights in both transitional regimes and existing liberal states

Amending the Past Alexander Karn, 2015-09-29 During the 1990s and early 2000s in Europe more than fifty historical commissions

Narrating and Teaching the Nation Denise Bantato,2016-02-15 The book investigates the politics of education in pre and post genocide Rwanda examining the actors interests and discourses that have historically influenced educational policy and practice and in particular the production and revision of history curricula and textbooks This study combines a systematic historical and comparative analysis of curricula and textbooks in Rwanda stakeholder interviews classroom observations and a large scale investigation of pupils understandings of the country s history Written at a crucial time of transition in Rwanda it illuminates the role of education as a powerful means of socialisation through which dominant discourses and related belief systems have been transmitted to the younger generations thus moulding the nation It outlines emergent challenges and possibilities urging a move away from the use of history teaching to disseminate a conveniently selective official history towards practices that promote critical thinking and reflect the heterogeneity characteristic of Rwanda s post genocide society

The Penitent State Paul Muldoon,2023 This book asks a deceptively simple question what are states actually doing when they do penance for past injustices Why are these penitential gestures especially the gesture of apology becoming so ubiquitous and what implications do they carry for the way power is exercised Drawing on the work of Schmitt Foucault and Agamben the book argues that there is more at stake in sovereign acts of repentance and redress than either the recognition of the victims or the legitimacy of the state Driven it suggests by an interest in healing such acts testify to a new biopolitical raison d tat in which the management of trauma emerges as a critical expression of attempts to regulate the life of the population The Penitent State seeks to show that the key issue created by the age of apology is not whether sovereign acts of repentance and redress are sincere or insincere but whether the political measures licensed in the name of healing deserve to be regarded as either restorative or just

Law and the Politics of Memory Stiina Loytomaki,2014-06-05 Law and the Politics of Memory Confronting the Past examines law s role as a tool of memory politics in the efforts of contemporary societies to work through the traumas of their past Using the examples of French colonialism and Vichy as well as addressing the politics of memory surrounding the Holocaust communism and colonialism

this book provides a critical exploration of law's role in belated transitional justice contexts. The book examines how and why law has become so central in processes in which the past is constituted as a series of injustices that need to be rectified and can allegedly be repaired. As such it explores different legal modalities in processes of working through the past addressing the implications of regulating history and memory through legal categories and legislative acts whilst exploring how trials, restitution cases and memory laws manage to fulfil such varied expectations as clarifying truth, rendering homage to memory and reconciling societies. Legal scholars, historians and political scientists, especially those working with transitional justice history and memory politics in particular, will find this book a stimulating exploration of the specificity of law as an instrument and forum of the politics of memory. The Politics of Reparations and Apologies Stephanie Wolfe, 2013-11-21

The Politics of Reparations and Apologies examines the evolution and dynamics of reparation politics and justice. The volume introduces the key concepts, theories and terms associated with social movements and, in particular, the redress and reparation movement (RRM). Drawing from RRM cases that have their foundation in World War II, the German genocides, the United States internments and the Japanese comfort women system, the volume explores each case study's relative success or failure in achieving its goals and argues that there are overarching trends that can explain success and failure more generally in the RRM movement. Using the backdrop of international criminal law and normative concepts of reparations, the volume establishes and analyzes the roles of reparations and apologies in obtaining transitional justice. In each case study, there is a detailed rundown of the political actions that were attempted to obtain redress and reparation for the victims, of how successful the attempts were and of the crucial factors which influenced the relative success or failure. Crucially, the volume offers a comparative framework of the actions that contribute to a successful outcome for transitional justice. With the increasing normative expectation of justice in post-conflict situations, this volume is a valuable resource for researchers in international affairs, human rights, political science and conflict studies. Memory and the Future Yifat Gutman, Adam D. Brown, Amy Sodaro, 2010-10-06

For those who study memory, there is a nagging concern that memory studies are inherently backward-looking and that memory itself hinders efforts to move forward. Unhinging memory from the past, this book brings together an interdisciplinary group of prominent scholars who bring the future into the study of memory. Remembering the Samsui Women Kelvin E. Y. Low, 2014-03-15

Remembering the Samsui Women tells the story of women from the Samsui area of Guangdong, China, who migrated to Singapore during a period of economic and natural calamity, leaving their families behind. In their new country, many found work in the construction industry while others worked in households or factories where they were called hong tou jin, translated literally as red head scarf, after the headgear that protected them from the sun. Contributing to current debates in the fields of social memory and migration studies, this is the first book to examine how the Samsui women remember their own migratory experiences and how they in turn are remembered as pioneering figures in both Singapore and China. Post-Conflict Justice M. Cherif Bassiouni, 2021-10-01

Victim Organisations and the Politics of Reparation Heidy Rombouts,2004
Reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations is a contemporary issue gaining increased attention in both national and international politics Post conflict societies have to face the legacies of the dark past and dealing with a large group of victims is one of them Transitional justice mechanisms trying to cope with the past should not overlook the issue of reparation This research demonstrates how reparation for victims of gross and systematic human rights violations differs from reparation for isolated violations The Rwandan case study unveils the role of victim organisations in and the competition and politicisation of the reparation debate Although reparation for victims is a crucial element in transitional justice it becomes clear that the way in which the reparation debate unfolds does not necessarily contribute to the peaceful future of a post conflict society This study argues that remedying the process and debate of the search for reparation will lead to an improved and more constructive reparation policy

Heidy Rombouts is a legal and social scientist 1997 Master of Laws 1999 Master in Social and Political Sciences Catholic University of Leuven In 2004 she obtained a PhD degree in Social and Political Sciences at the University of Antwerp for her research on victim organisations and the politics of reparation For several years she has been conducting research on transitional justice human rights and post conflict situations including extensive field research in South Africa and Rwanda
