Politics Of Democratization Changing Authoritarian Regimes In Sub-Saharan Africa:

Politics of Democratization Emeka Nwokedi, 1995 As organized groups took to the streets in a large number of the sub-Saharan states beginning in the late 1980s in protest against both the precarious socioeconomic conditions and the stifling one party state apparatus prevalent in the region this unprecedented mass discontent appeared set to herald the dawn of a new political era by forcing a shift from authoritarianism towards democracy The unfolding events were welcomed and supported by the international donor community eager to further extend the frontiers of liberalism This book focusses on these processes of political reform in a representative group of sub-Saharan states where the democratization process has proved to be innovative mediocre chaotic and highly deceptive as the case may be By capturing these processes as an intra-elitist struggle for political power the book underscores the significance of each strategy of democratization the calculations which underlie the pressures for and the resistance to reform as well as the methods of expressing these as were made evident in the moves by all the major political players Above all the external inputs into this democratization and their conditionality are analyzed in the light of both their underlying interests and the outcomes of this politicized reform process

Democratization in Sub-Saharan Africa Klaas van Walraven, Céline Thiriot, 2002 Transitions to Democracy Lisa Anderson, 1999 Are the factors that initiate democratization the same as those that maintain a democracy already established The scholarly and policy debates over this question have never been more urgent In 1970 Dankwart A Rustow's clairvoyant article Transitions to Democracy Toward a Dynamic Model questioned the conflation of the primary causes and sustaining conditions of democracy and democratization Now this collection of essays by distinguished scholars responds to and extends Rustow's classic work Transitions to Democracy which originated as a special issue of the journal Comparative Politics and contains three new articles written especially for this volume represents much of the current state of the large and growing literature on democratization in American political science The essays simultaneously illustrate the remarkable reach of Rustow's prescient article across the decades and reveal what the intervening years have taught us In light of the enormous opportunities of the post Cold War world for the promotion of democratic government in parts of the world once thought hopelessly lost of authoritarian and totalitarian regimes this timely collection constitutes an important contribution to the debates and efforts to promote the more open responsive and accountable government we associate with democracy wants to get a better and unbiased sense on challenges and opportunities for democracy in Africa By challenging conventional knowledge and presenting fair generalisations whilst highlighting heterogeneity this book contributes to a better understanding of the democratic processes in the continent and encourages scholars and students to deepen their knowledge and to engage in further research on the topic Since I save no effort in helping people to develop a critical thinking and to deconstruct stereotypes that accompany African politics this book will certainly be included in the recommended readings for my students

Ike Udogu, 2010-02-19 Confronting the Challenges and Prospects in the Creation of a Union of African States in the 21st Century frames the discourse around the important issue of African unification against the backdrop of the region's political and economic marginalization Arguably the richest continent in the world in terms of its abundant untapped natural resources and human capital it still lags behind the other regions of the world developmentally Undeniably Africa is at the crossroads in this millennium within the context of the powerful events and effects of the New Globalization One of the central issues that academics and political actors interested in African development must tackle immediately is how to make the region politically and economically relevant in global affairs These objectives could be attained through continental amalgamation Accordingly this book debates and suggests inter alia strategies that might advance Africa's unification effort in order to provide the politico economic clout needed to spur continental development Further it argues that such a Union of African States is critical for promoting the good political life for all Africans

Aftershocks Seva Gunitsky, 2017-03-28 Over the past century democracy spread around the world in turbulent bursts of change sweeping across national borders in dramatic cascades of revolution and reform Aftershocks offers a new global oriented explanation for this wavelike spread and retreat not only of democracy but also of its twentieth century rivals fascism and communism Seva Gunitsky argues that waves of regime change are driven by the aftermath of cataclysmic disruptions to the international system These hegemonic shocks marked by the sudden rise and fall of great powers have been essential and often neglected drivers of domestic transformations Though rare and fleeting they not only repeatedly alter the global hierarchy of powerful states but also create unique and powerful opportunities for sweeping national reforms by triggering military impositions swiftly changing the incentives of domestic actors or transforming the basis of political legitimacy itself As a result the evolution of modern regimes cannot be fully understood without examining the consequences of clashes between great powers which repeatedly and often unsuccessfully sought to cajole inspire and intimidate other states into joining their camps Humor, Silence, and Civil Society in Nigeria Ebenezer Obadare, 2016 This work is an important contribution to the civil society debate in Africa and to the global literature on dissent

Authoritarian Rule Oisín Tansey, 2016-08-18 Autocrats must overcome a range of challenges as they seek to gain and maintain political power including the threat that comes from both rival elites and discontented publics The International Politics of Authoritarian Rule examines the ways in which international forces can encourage and assist autocratic actors in overcoming these challenges Often autocratic incumbents are strengthened in power by events on the international stage and by the active support of international allies The book offers a typology of different international forms of influence on authoritarianism and examines the ways in which external forces shape autocratic rule at the domestic level The typology distinguishes between three broad forms of international influence passive influences unintended consequences and active forms of external autocratic sponsorship The book focuses in particular on the latter category and examines intentional autocratic sponsorship in the post Cold War period A central contribution of the book is to address the question of how international autocratic sponsorship can bolster authoritarian rule It highlights the ways in which international sponsorship can contribute to authoritarian practices in three significant ways by increasing the likelihood that authoritarian regimes will pursue authoritarian practices such as coups repression or election fraud by contributing to the implementation of those practices and finally by shielding autocratic actors from international punishment after such practices are pursued External sponsorship can thus lower the costs of authoritarian behaviour and protect and shield authoritarian regimes from the negative consequences of their actions Oxford Studies in Democratization is a series for scholars and students of comparative politics and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on the comparative study of the democratization process that accompanied the decline and termination of the cold war The geographical focus of the series is primarily Latin America the Caribbean Southern and Eastern Europe and relevant experiences in Africa and Asia The series editor is Laurence Whitehead Senior Research Fellow Nuffield College University of Oxford
