Politics Of Persuasion British Policy And French African Neutrality 1940 1942:

The Politics of Persuasion Desmond Dinan, 1988-06-14 As a case study of foreign policy formation and implementation this text is intended to add to our understanding of the course and conduct of the Second World War and the dynamics of contemporary international relations Most important this book shows wartime Anglo French relations in a new light by analyzing primarily British policy towards the French African Empire between the defeat of France in June 1940 and the Allied invasion of Morocco and Algeria in November 1942 Contents include La Guerre A Outrance Free French Africa Full Circle French North Africa October 1940 March 1941 The Moroccan Question Stemming the Tide The Madagascar Compromise Prelude to Torch The Politics of Persuasion Desmond Dinan, 1985 Churchill's Secret Invasion John Grehan, 2013-09-19 In the spring of 1942 Britain's far flung empire was in the greatest peril North Africa was being overrun by the German Afrika Korps and in south east Asia the forces of Imperial Japan had captured Singapore and were threatening India Only the most urgent reinforcement of both war fronts could prevent disaster But Britain's shipping routes to Egypt and India passed the island of Madagascar If the Japanese Navy operating out of Madagascar could sever Britain's communications with Cairo and Delhi then the whole of North Africa and the Indian sub continent would be at the mercy of the Axis Powers In a desperate race against time and under conditions of the utmost secrecy at Churchill's instigation Britain planned to seize Madagascar the fourth largest island in the world before the Japanese could strike An overwhelming force was assembled and despatched as part of the largest convoy ever to have left Britain's shores Yet the expedition's commanders were faced with not just military but also political obstacles because the forces occupying the island were not those her enemy's but those of her former ally France The Secret Invasion is the first book to examine in detail this crucial campaign which was Britain's largest amphibious assault since the First World War and the first large scale combined air sea and land operation Britain had attempted War of Words Rachel Chin, 2022-07-21 Analyses the imperial clashes in the Franco British relationship during the Second World War Hailey John W. Cell, 2002-08-22 A study of William Hailey's career in the Indian civil Service and as an African expert The British Empire and the Second World War Ashley Jackson, 2006-03-09 In 1939 Hitler went to war not just with Great Britain he also went to war with the whole of the British Empire the greatest empire that there had ever been In the years since 1945 that empire has disappeared and the crucial fact that the British Empire fought together as a whole during the war has been forgotten All the parts of the empire joined the struggle and were involved in it from the beginning undergoing huge changes and sometimes suffering great losses as a result The war in the desert the defence of Malta and the Malayan campaign and the contribution of the empire as a whole in terms of supplies communications and troops all reflect the strategic importance of Britain's imperial status Men and women not only from Australia New Zealand and India but from many parts of Africa and the Middle East all played their part Winston Churchill saw the war throughout in imperial terms The British Empire and the Second World War emphasises a central fact about the Second World War that is often forgotten The Basis and Making of British Grand Strategy, 1940-1943 Brian Padair Farrell, 1998 Vichy in the Tropics Eric T. Jennings, 2001 Winner of the 2001 Alf Andrew Heggoy Prize of the French Colonial Historical Society This book examines the role of the Vichy regime in bringing about profound changes in the French colonial empire It argues that Vichy contributed to postwar decolonization by introducing an ideology based on a new harsher brand of colonization The Academy Journal of Defence Studies, 2005 Traditional Enemies John D. Grainger, 2013-02-19 After the surrender of the French government in May 1940 the British were concerned that the resources of the French Empire and particularly the powerful French fleet would be put at the disposal of the Germans The British dependent upon their naval power and the resources of the Empire and Commonwealth to continue the war sought to neutralize the threat of the French fleet and saw an opportunity to gobble up certain French colonies for themselves Thus even while Britain was locked in a deadly struggle with Nazi Germany she continued the centuries old imperial rivalry with her nearest neighbor and recent allies The British attack on the French Mediterranean fleet at Mers el Kebir is well known but less often remembered are the British operations against Vichy forces in West Africa Syria and Madagascar As the latent threat of the French fleet was the chief source of British concern the conflict was largely a naval one but there were substantial land operations in Syria and Madagascar In Syria and Lebanon Operation Exporter pitted 20 000 British Indian Australian and Free French troops against 35 000 Vichy French who fought with much greater skill and determination than expected Operation Ironclad the invasion of Madagascar saw three brigades of infantry supported by light tanks make the first large scale British amphibious assault since the ill fated Gallipoli landings in WWI John D Grainger narrates and analyses all the British operations by land sea and air against the French up to the Anglo American Torch landings in North Africa He reveals the initial reluctance of the British forces to really get stuck into their erstwhile allies and the reverses that resulted from underestimating the will of the Vichy French to fight The complicating factor of De Gaulle s Free French is another major theme Above all what emerges is that these are fascinating campaigns in their own right that have been unduly neglected U.S. Imprints on Sub-Saharan Africa, 1991 The International Journal of African Historical Studies, 1990
