From Shock to Therapy Grzegorz W. Kolodko, 2000-04-20 The great transformation undertaken by the countries of the former communist bloc exhibits immense diversity in terms of initial conditions, shifting target models, consistency, paths, speed, progress to date and economic performance. This is the first comprehensive study of the economics and politics of postsocialism to be written by an author so deeply and so successfully involved in the reform process. Many people writing on the reform process offer advice that is not really credible as a member of the Polish government and architect of the successful Polish reform. Grzegorz Kolodko actually solved many of the difficulties of transition, which allows him to come forward here with policy proposals and long term forecasts. The treatment of the transition from plan to market as a historical process is an important feature of the book. The author claims that there is no historical fatality; that sound policies in the present are more determining than the favourable or unfavourable legacies of the past. The aim is to create and maintain the conditions for sustainable growth and durable development.

Practical and Political Approaches to Recontextualizing Social Work Boulet, Jacques, Hawkins, Linette, 2021-02-19 Currently there is an enduring and changing meaning of social work in a world where new crises are being confronted and new opportunities are arriving in the evolving context of social work and the related disciplines. Depth Psychology and Climate Change Dale Mathers, 2020-11-29. Depth Psychology and Climate Change offers a sensitive and insightful look at how ideas from depth psychology can move us beyond psychological overwhelm when facing the ecological disaster of climate change and its denial. Integrating ideas from disciplines including anthropology, politics, spirituality, mythology and philosophy, contributors consider how climate change affects psychological well-being and how we can place hope and radical uncertainty alongside rage and despair. The book explores symbols of transformation, myths and futures and is structured to encourage regular reflection. Each contributor brings their own perspective on green politics, change and loss, climate change denial, consumerism and our connection to nature, suggesting responses to mental suffering arising from an unstable and uncertain international outlook. They examine how subsequent changes in consciousness can develop. This book will be essential reading for analytical psychologists, Jungian analysts and psychotherapists as well as academics and students of Jungian and post-Jungian studies. It will also be of great interest to academics and students of the politics and policy of climate change, anthropology, myth and symbolism and ecopsychology and to anyone seeking a new perspective on the climate emergency.
