The South East from 1000 AD Peter Brandon,Brian Short,2014-07-22 A volume dealing with the regional and local history of South East England this covers the landscape and society of the modern counties of Surrey Kent East and West Sussex and Greater London south of the Thames from late Anglo Saxon times to the present The authors have tried to show the diversity that can be found within the region as well as common characteristics which illustrate the local peculiarities of the area. The works in the series offer a synthesis of both historical and archaeological work in local areas. Each region is covered in two linked but independent volumes: the first covering the period up to AD 1000 and necessarily relying on archaeological data, and the second bringing the story up to modern times. It aims to portray life as it was experienced by the majority of people of South Britain or England as it was to become. The authors look at the major historical events which have an impact on the region: wars, plagues, technological changes, and socio-cultural trends amongst them, but they also stress the underlying continuity of rural and urban life.

Ebony, 2000-01. EBONY is the flagship magazine of Johnson Publishing. Founded in 1945 by John H. Johnson, it still maintains the highest global circulation of any African American focused magazine.

Off the Books J. Peder Zane, 2015-04-06. Head Off the Books in this collection of newspaper columns where J. Peder Zane uses classic and contemporary literature to explore American culture and politics. The book review editor for the Raleigh North Carolina News Observer from 1996 to 2009, Zane demonstrates that good books are essential for understanding ourselves and the world around us. The one hundred and thirty columns gathered in Off the Books find that sweet spot where literature's eternal values meet the day's current events. Together they offer a literary overview of the ideas, issues, and events shaping our culture from 9/11 and the struggle for gay rights to the decline of high culture and the rise of sensationalism and solipsism. As they plumb and draw from the work of leading writers from William Faulkner, Knut Hamsun, and Eudora Welty to Don DeLillo, Lydia Millet, and Philip Roth, these columns make an argument not just about the pleasure of books but about their very necessity in our lives and culture.

The 1920s Tamás Bényei, Shene Boskani, Nick Hubble, 2025-07-24. The particularity of 1920s British fiction has become obscured by an academic focus on modernism. This book takes a fresh approach to the decade by examining both canonical writers such as Virginia Woolf and E. M. Forster as well as less widely studied writers such as A. A. Milne and Naomi Mitchison. From the aftermath of First World War to the Great Depression of 1929 and its political consequences, the 1920s were a decade marked by radical social change. Internationally, there was an ongoing shift of global power, and nationally Britain was adjusting to the aftermath of First World War, no longer being the dominant imperial power in the world, and to the introduction of universal male suffrage and votes for women over thirty, which was extended to those over twenty-one in 1928. This volume relates the British fiction of the decade to these contexts in order to reassess and explain trends of the period such as war books, fantastic romance, literary modernism, and new expressions of gender and sexuality. A major critical re-evaluation of the decade, the book covers such writers as Agatha Christie, E. M. Forster, Ethel Mannin, Somerset Maugham, R. H. Mottram, D. H. Lawrence, Wyndham Lewis, A. A. Milne, Hope Mirrlees, Naomi Mitchison, Dorothy Richardson, and Virginia Woolf, among others, illustrating how their key themes and concerns fit within the social and political circumstances of the decade.
