

The background of the cover is a close-up, artistic photograph of a rolled-up scroll. The scroll is made of a light-colored material, possibly parchment or leather, and is tightly wound. The edges of the scroll are frayed, showing a reddish-brown inner layer. The surface of the scroll is covered in faint, handwritten Hebrew text in dark ink. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows, creating a sense of depth and texture. The overall color palette is warm, dominated by the browns and reds of the scroll.

Independent Bible Study Irving Lester Jensen, 1963 The Meaning of "Make Disciples" in the Broader Context of the Gospel of Matthew Lindsay D. Arthur, 2022-05-09 Students of the Bible are generally comfortable with their understanding of the command make disciples Matt 28 19 Indeed most of them would argue that the Gospel writer Matthew spells out very clearly the meaning of the term in the Great Commission Matt 28 16 20 by utilizing three key words viz go ing baptizing and teaching This point of view is the result of centuries of scholarly opinion that has looked primarily if not solely to these three adjacent participles of make disciples Matt 28 19 and not to the entire Gospel of Matthew for the meaning of the command This book does not suggest that going baptizing and teaching are not to be considered in determining the essence of Christian disciple making Rather it contends that the three terms should not be our only source of meaning This problem is tackled herein by demonstrating that Matthew establishes a framework within the Great Commission itself that points to a fuller meaning of make disciples in the broader context of his Gospel and that the Gospel writer expects his reader to draw on his entire Gospel to grasp the full meaning of this important command

Applying the Bible Jack Kuhatschek, 2010-08-10 Many Christians open the Bible eagerly but close it discouraged and frustrated After all is there really value in the pots and pans sections of Leviticus Why does the New Testament include an entire book on the dangers of circumcision Which commands should we obey today and which are no longer binding While dozens of books tell us how to study the Bible they give little help with the most important part of Bible study application Jack Kuhatschek provides a clear and reliable method for applying the Bible Using numerous illustrations and examples he explains how to uncover the timeless principles of Scripture even in those passages that seem meaningless today He also shows how to relate those principles to the timely needs we face each day

Circles in the Stream Paul E. Koptak, 2022-04-28 Maybe we should read Genesis 37 50 as the story of Joseph and Judah Both kept their families alive and received major blessings from their father Jacob Like his brother Joseph Judah knew how to use words to lead and persuade primarily by appealing to common experience His speeches model Kenneth Burke's rhetoric of identification inducing cooperation by showing his listeners how they are consubstantial that is where they stand together Preachers hope to do the same making gospel connections between ancient texts and life today Circles in the Stream shows that the connections are there in the Scripture text freeing preachers from the pressure to find contemporary illustrations Adapting Burke's literary rhetorical approach to reading Paul Koptak offers ever widening circles of reading to that end Indexing a passage and looking for identification there lead to the transformative purpose and life issue Intertextual study a combination of both discovers these connections in the wider two testament canon Circles in the Stream offers both a distinct perspective for reading Scripture and practical steps for in depth study Its method can make sermon preparation more efficient and effective More importantly it leads to the life issues that listeners want their preachers to address
