People, Land, and Water Guy Bessette, 2006 In natural resource management research best practice implies the participation of community members research or development teams and other stakeholders to jointly identify research and development parameters and contribute to decision making Ideally the research or development process itself generates a situation of empowerment in which participants transform their vision and become able to take effective action Used increasingly widely in resource management this process is known as Participatory Development Communication PDC This book presents conceptual and methodological issues r

Handbook on Building Cultures of Peace Joseph de Rivera, 2008-11-28 Mediation and negotiation personal transformation non violent struggle in the community and the world these behaviors and their underlying values underpin the United Nations definition of a culture of peace and are crucial to the creation of such a culture The Handbook on Building Cultures of Peace addresses this complex and daunting task by presenting an accessible blueprint for this development Its perspectives are international and interdisciplinary involving the developing as well as the developed world with illustrations of states and citizens using peace based values to create progress on the individual community national and global levels The result is both realistic and visionary a prescription for a secure future

Bound to the Hearth by the Shortest Tether Paul Chandler, 2006-01-23 Bound to the Hearth by the Shortest Tether is a story of original research in China and Brazil as well as the circumstances that made that work possible Applied anthropology rural economics agroforestry natural and social history and world travel are combined to create an engaging account of the effort to better the circumstances of the developing world s rural poor The first part of the book focuses on rural China and the indigenous knowledge of the processes at work within the world s oldest system of timber management and how that knowledge is being displaced by inferior scientific systems of forest management The critical role of rights to private property in the conservation of rural resources a unique method to elicit ecological knowledge the difficulties of field access in China and the varied challenges to living and working in a poor mountain village are all recounted The second part addresses the tradition bound bush zone of Brazil documenting the unexpected reasons for the region s continuing poverty and a dramatic social transformation that may free the rural poor from dependency and perhaps poverty itself After the failure of current participatory approaches in rural development work new methods were again needed to identify non participants in a rural assistance program and their reasons for not making use of an easy opportunity to better their lives and the lives of their families Disturbing obstacles to self reliance among the rural poor created by academics bureaucrats environmentalists and the poor themselves are detailed The author argues why preservation of the world s rural villages is important and why such often frustrating work is rewarding and worth the considerable effort The
