Politics Of Reducing Vehicle Emissions I:

The Politics of Reducing Vehicle Emissions in Britain and Germany Sonja Boehmer-Christiansen, Helmut Weidner, 1995 This work provides a comparative analysis of environmental policy in Germany and Britain with reference to vehicle emissions of passenger cars The authors analyze and compare national policies on the reduction of vehicle emissions in the two countries and examine the interaction of their policies for the vehicle industry The Politics of Agenda Setting Nick Robinson, 2019-07-18 This title was first published in 2000 A timely look at the politics of agenda setting in relation to the car under both the Conservative and Labour governments since the late 1980s Political Machines Andrew Barry, 2001-07-23 Technology assumes a remarkable importance in contemporary political life Today politicians and intellectuals extol the virtues of networking interactivity and feedback and stress the importance of new media and biotechnologies for economic development and political innovation Measures of intellectual productivity and property play an increasingly critical part in assessments of the competitiveness of firms universities and nation states At the same time contemporary radical politics has come to raise questions about the political preoccupation with technical progress while also developing a certain degree of technical sophistication itself In a series of in depth analyses of topics ranging from environmental protest to intellectual property law and from interactive science centres to the European Union this book interrogates the politics of the technological society Critical of the form and intensity of the contemporary preoccupation with new technology Political Machines opens up a space for thinking the relation between technical innovation and political Political Opportunities for Climate Policy Roger Karapin, 2016-04-15 Analysis of climate change inventiveness policies focuses mainly on the prospects for international agreements or how climate policies should be designed Yet effective domestic climate policies are essential to any global solution and we know too little about how and why such policies are adopted Political Opportunities for Climate Policy examines in depth the causes of effective climate policies in the United States using a statistical analysis of all fifty states and long term case studies of California New York and the federal government Roger Karapin analyzes twenty two episodes in which policies were adopted blocked or reversed He shows that actors and events have positively affected climate policy making despite the constraints presented by political institutions and powerful fossil fuel industries Climate policy advocates have succeeded when they mobilized vigorously and astutely during windows of opportunity which opened when events converged to raise both problem awareness and the political commitment to address them Implementation of the Clean Air and Water Act Amendments of 1970, Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution ..., 92-2,...
